What Chicago Thinks of War

Thoughts As Varied As Its Nationalities

German Element Influential

Editor of One Big Paper Attacks the Germans Both by Pen and in Person—Hearst's Papers and Their Methods

Chicago, Feb. 20.—"What does Chicago think about the war?" The writer is prepared for this question and welcomes it. What Chicago thinks about the war is ascertained by means of a simple arithmetical calculation. There are about 3,000,000 people in Chicago. Some 800,000 are Germans, another half million are Poles. There are half a million Jews, 200,000 Greeks and Roumanians, as many more Italians, and great numbers of Canadians. So if we know what Berlin, Vienna, Warsaw, Vienne, Bucharest, London, Jerusalem, Athens and Ottawa think about the war, the result will be the answer to the original question. If a trifling allowance is made for what Scandinavia, Japan and China think all possibility of error in the total is eliminated. Chicago does not deal in American mental coinage. Her citizens are invariably translating the dollar into marks, francs, roubles, yen, taels and kopecks.

Foreign Language Papers.

One reason for this is the number of foreign language newspapers published

The Tribune's modest boast is that it is the greatest newspaper in the world. It grew to national importance under James C. Beck, a Barnardo boy, who now conducts the Herald. The Tribune rarely offends the Germans, although it is pro-German. If it is not pro-British, it is not pro-German. The Herald is about in the same class. The Herald is the Kaiser's. The American and Examiner are Hearst papers, one evening and the other a morning publication. The latter and the Herald are probably the last cry of newspaper enterprise. They are morning papers, which are on sale at 10 o'clock on the previous night. Any competent newspaper man can get out the Herald on the streets before the morning is half over. CANADIAN GOOD ROADS CONGRESS

The Fourth Canadian and International Good Roads Congress will be held in Ottawa on Tuesday, April 10. The object of the congress is to call on the Dominion Good Roads Association, and will continue in session until the 15th of the month. There will be an exhibition of road machinery, materials and accessories, held in conjunction with the congress. Invitations are being sent to automobile clubs, road associations, engineering societies, manufacturing and steamship companies. Among topics which will be discussed by road experts from both Canada and the United States, will be finance, legislation, drainage, foundation, wearing surface, maintenance and permanent types of construction. In addition there will be special papers on gravel roads, county organization and the defining of the regulations under which municipalities may avail themselves of the road legislation put in force by the various provinces of Canada. In addition to the $10,000,000 which the Dominion government is understood to intend voting for highway improvement, it is expected that there will be an appropriation for a preliminary survey for a transcontinental highway, whose construction after the war has been practically accepted in principle by the cabinet, as a means of providing employment for the returning soldiers, and an aid to the development of Canada and its resources.

The Stoker's Battle Photograph

Filson Young told the members of the Camera Club in London the tragedy of the pictures he did not take from H. S. Lion at the time of the Dogger Bank action. He had with him, we say, an expensive reflex camera, selected his position beforehand with great care and took every conceivable precaution. It was impossible to photograph during the action, but immediately afterwards, from his vantage point on the foremast of the line, he fired off twelve films. Not daring to trust himself to develop them, he sent them to the makers of the films, stating that they were unique exposures, and to his horror received a reply stating that there was no image on any of them owing to some defect in the film material. On the other hand, a stoker, with a fire-shilling camera, took a fine picture.

WANT RUTHLESS WAR ON LIQUOR STOPPED

Bangor Folks Do Not Like Posting of Names

Sheriff Seizes All Shipments Without Discrimination—Quite a Stir in the Maine City About It

Bangor, says a despatch from that Maine city, has been under something of "bombardment" since Sheriff White began his ruthless warfare on freight and express shipments of liquor on Jan. 1.

The sheriff's deputies have orders to torpedo everything in the way of liquor that comes into the city by any transportation company, and that has started rumblings which threaten to break out into an explosion under the eyes of the state.

Under the Maine law liquor seized is labeled, which means the posting of a legal notice in two places, describing the business, alcohol for bathing purposes, a few bottles of choice wine for an invalid, a birthday present from a friend, no matter what or to whom addressed, have been seized and labeled. Highly respected residents do not like to have their names branded on a bulletin board or be obliged to wait ten days before they can claim a little wine or alcohol, as if they were in the same category as the hardened ginnel keeper, many who have ordered liquor for their own use have notified the sheriff that it was coming, for what use it was intended, that it was not for sale, that they had never sold a drop of liquor in their lives, and would the sheriff be kind enough to let the expressions deliver it as soon as it comes and not seize and label it. But the sheriff has been told that he would promise nothing if the package came it was "sunk" with the rest and the consignee had to wait.

May Raise Legal Question

It is said that some of the citizens who have been particularly annoyed are evolving a plan to get the sheriff to modify his ruthless warfare on strictly neutral liquor. It has been pointed out that the law regarding the seizure of liquor stipulates that the officer making the seizure must believe that the liquor is intended for illegal sale. It is said that there is a question as to the legality of seizing a package consigned to John Jones, a deacon of the church, a man who is independent means, who never had the remotest idea of selling liquor, who has notified the sheriff that the package is expected for sale, while others are of the opinion that about all that can be done is to get an injunction restraining the sheriff, which perhaps might be somewhat difficult. In the meantime there are many very much

DECLARE THAT VILLA IS NOW ELIMINATED

Washington, March 4.—Practical elimination of Francisco Villa as a factor in the Mexican situation is reported to the state department from two sources.

An American consul, who says he could not be given, was authority for the statement that Villa is practically eliminated because of his physical condition. Gen. Murguia, Carranza commander, was quoted by another American official to the same effect.

Officials here say there is no indication that Villa forces have moved in northern Mexico. Pershing's troops occupied the abandoned territory. The belief is expressed, on the other hand, that they have been pretty well dispersed.

Was Anaemic For Over a Year

Anemia, or blood turning to water, is caused by the heart becoming weakened. If the heart becomes weakened, it cannot pump the blood as it should. As a result the blood becomes impoverished, and it loses its nourishing qualities. The face becomes pale and thin, and the lips bluish.

When those suffering from this condition take taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they can see a change from the outset.

Every good introduction into the blood those vital elements necessary to make it rich and red. The pale cheeks take on the ruddy hue, the weight increases, and the whole being bristles with a new life.

Mrs. R. J. Grey, Fredericton, N. B. writes: "When I was a girl working at general house work I overtaxed my strength and became completely run down. For over a year I was very bad with anemia. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I got a box and when it was done I felt and looked so much better I decided to get six more. When I had taken them I had gained not only in strength, but in flesh and color, and best of all was good health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box; three boxes for $1.50 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
