ABE GRUBER WAS TOUCHED.

Col. Abe Gruber, of New York, the poet, politician and philosopher, has branched out as a philanthropist. At least that is what they say in Albany.
It seems that when Col. Gruber was sitting with Gov. Odell on a sofa in the "amen" corner at the Fifth Avenue Hotel the other day, a dilapidated looking person shuffled over and said to Col. Gruber:

"Abe, gimme a dollar. I'm hungry.
I want somethin' 'eat."
"My friend," compassionately replied Col. Gruber as he produced a "greenback," "I'm touched by what you say." The governor is said to have been so much affected by this scene that he immediately invited Col. Gruber to go up to Albany and dine at the executive mansion.

Rubber tired vehicles are evidently coming into vogue. One concave hard rubber tires on wagons, and is now making a light road wagon to be furnished with pneumatic tires.

The devotees of golf are happy. That gay young golfer, J. de Wolfe Spurr, with Miss Grace Skinner, played over the good condition, and a great reason is confidently anticipated.

A rowboat crossing from Indiantown to Pleasant Point this morning became caught in drift ice and was in some danger. The tug Captain went to the help of the rowboat and towed it safely through.

The wooden sidewalk on upper Met-ago and ashes were dumped to form a new walk. Since then teams have changed from the street to the sidewalk, and the last stage of the Metcalf street pedestrian is worse than the

About two o'clock this morning the police discovered that a large pane of glass in the American Dry works on King square had been broken. They searched the place, but found nothing to indicate that anyone had entered.
The window was secured by Sergeant Kilpatrick, Scott and Collins.

The police department is rather short handed just at present. Officer Greer has gone to the hospital; Finley is incapacitated through sickness; Crawford has a sore hand, the result of the Young-Stanand encounter; and Ames is suspended. This makes the work much harder for the men on duty, and also lessens the already insufficient street patrol.

An enormous quantity of ice loaded down into the harbor this morning and on one of her trips the ferry steamer damaged a paddle wheel to a considerable extent. For fear another collision would disable her altogether she was taken off the route and the tug Neptune was put on in her place. This made teams go around by the suspension bridge, as the tug can only carry foot passengers.

POLICE COURT.

Contributions to the Revenue by Bibulous Citizens.

A man from the Land of Evangeline came to grief last night in the usual way. He had just arrived from his home in Nova Scotia, and about one o'clock this morning was found tracking down Water street in a great hurry as tanglefoot would permit. On being accosted by the police the Flying Bluenose came to a stop, and in answer to the officer's enquiry stated that he was going right on to St. Stephen and was sure he was on the right road. He was much surprised on being told that a few minutes more would take him out to sea. This morning, as it was his first offence, the ordinary cost of a spree was cut down to half-price, but he had only a dollar and fifty cents. Bargain day does not come very often at the police court, but the favor was granted in the present case, as the prisoner pleaded very hard for a chance. He promised to sign the pledge—two of them if necessary—and would go to work at once. The judge fined him two dollars or four days, and the sergeant said "Sit down."

Another man, who has been there before, was firmly convinced that Officer Totten was astray in stating that he was sitting contentedly off on the car-track between twelve and one this morning. He said he was only three doors from his home on British street and felt sure that if he had been left alone he could meander his way home.

Richard Gallery failed to notice a pane of glass in John Hopkins' window on Union street, and used force when opposed by a substance which to him was invisible. He offered to pay for the glass, and in addition was fined four dollars or ten days. Another drunk, William Livingstone, was found on Union street in a state somewhat resembling Prof. McEwen's living statue. This morning he pleaded guilty and appeared satisfied when he was fined "the usual."

An abusive language case between a Syrian named Richard Jordan, and James Tait of City road was also heard. It arose over the storage of a wagon during the winter, but as Mr.
Tait did not expect so much trouble in having the case settled he failed to bring witnesses. On this account the matter was adjourned until Monday.

In the Burke-Donovans affair, subpoenas were issued to witnesses who refused to appear in court when asked by the prisoners.

The number of interested spectators in court today was very small, and those who did attend failed to hear anything of importance. One of the men went out thoroughly disgusted, with the remark that the "police court is going down. It is nothing to what it was some years ago."

DIGGING POTATOES IN APRIL.

Thomas Cosgrove, who lives at the corner of Sheffield and Sydney streets, and whose vegetable garden is an object lesson every year to the farmers who go down that way to the exhibition grounds, showed the Star this morning samples of some kidney potatoes of remarkably fine quality which he had dug out of the garden. Some of them were only two or three inches under ground; others a little deeper.
They had been overlooked in his digging last year. The potatoes had not been frozen and were perfectly sound, in fact of much better quality than if they had been taken out of the ground last fall and stored. Mr. Cosgrove remarks that there may be a hint in this of some value to farmers. His display of vegetables at the exhibition last fall attracted great attention.

AMHERST SHOOTING AFFRAY.

At the preliminary examination of Camillo Fisher, arrested in Amherst yesterday for shooting Murdoch Cutcliffe and Leon Rockwell, he was committed for trial. It was stated in the evidence that the prisoner remarked he was sorry he did not take better aim. The revolver was a .22 calibre, with five chambers, two of which contained exploded cartridges. He was admitted to bail for the sum of sixteen hundred dollars. Counselors Job Seaman of Barronsfield and Ephraim Howard of Middleboro going security.

Fisher is a son of Rev. J. M. Fisher, a Methodist clergyman at Ritey's Cove, Lunenburg county. The father is a native of Wallace River, Cumberland county. He has been a good workman, and has risen to be a sub-foreman in the Robb foundry.

west Mounted Police, who went to Af-

A PRESENTATION.

James McCullum, who has been employed with the Globe Laundry Co. for four years, severed his connection today and will return to his home in Wetford. Mr. McCullum has during his stay here become very popular with his fellow employees and with the many patrons of the laundry and he leaves with the best wishes of all. Today he was called into the office, and presented by Charles Wall, on behalf of the proprietors and employees of the concern, with a meerscaum pipe and a handsome gold emblematic pin. Mr.
McCullum replied, thanking the donors for their kind wishes and the substantial tokens of the same.

WAR IN SIMONDS.

Robert Moore Out on the Trail of a Family Compact.

Robert Moore of Simonds is on the trail of a family compact. Mr. Moore is a candidate for election to the municipal council.

Twenty-six years ago, said Mr. Moore to the Star this morning, Lee, Horgan and Scovell were elected in Simonds.
The next year Scovell dropped out, and it became Lee, Horgan and McLeod.
And it has been Lee, Horgan and Mc-Leod ever since. There have been James Lee and Joseph Lee, Cornelius Horgan and Daniel Horgan and John McLeod, Peter McLeod and Robert McLeod. The Lees and Horgans and McLeods, said Mr. Moore, have been councillors—revelers, assessors and commissioners. The three families have the fifteen municipal offices there would have to be more offices.
At first the councillors were going to serve for nothing, but they soon got $100 each allowed them, and the $40 each as revelers too.

"I'll smash that ring," said Mr.
Moore, "or I'll bend the hoop." Mr. Moore affirmed that if an opportunity were afforded him on election day he would deliver an oration that would convince the electors of the justice of his claims.

"With I say behind their backs," said Mr. Moore, "I will say to their faces, every one of them."

ONLY A POOR OLD WOMAN.

She was only a poor old woman.
Her hat and dress may have been old fashioned and her jacket worn in places, but that was no reason why people should laugh at her. In spite of her ragged she had a mother's look and the large, sad eyes, pathetically appealed for protection. What, if her brain was slightly weak? It may have become so through years of trouble and misery. Perchance wayward children had brought her to this state. In her hand she carried a basket, and the boys on the street, who seemed to forget that she might be a mother like their own, were attempting to take it from her. As the car stopped she climbered on board and dropped into a seat, looking only—

"I don't mind—the boys—very much —but it don't seem—just right—for them to tease me so. I never—trouble them. But they think—it is fun—to push me about—and pull my dress." A tear stole down the poor worn face, but she brushed it away and in a voice that struggled bravely to make itself heard through the sobs that would keep rising in her throat, continued: "I am so lonely—since Tom went away, and it is so hard to get along. People think I am silly, but I will do any kind of work, if they will only let me. God knows what a hard life I've led. And He will make it up to me—afterwards."

The passengers in the car tried to smile, and couldn't. They looked toward the conductor, thinking that he would be hardened to such scenes.
But the conductor had turned to look out of the back window and was swallowing something that seemed to stick in his throat.

THE LATE HON. T. R. JONES.

As a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Thomas R. Jones a large number of friends today accompanied his body to its last resting place in Fernhill cemetery. Service was held at his late residence 28 Pitt Row at half past two o'clock. The body was then taken to St. Paul's church, of which the deceased was for many years an honored and respected member, and a very impressive service was held by the Rev. A. G. H. Dicker.
The members of the Board of Trade, Albion Lodge A. F. and A. M., and St. George's Society attended. Among the many beautiful floral offerings with which the casket was literally covered, were a massive head piece from the family, with the word "Father" worked in purple in the centre, also a magnificent wreath of roses and lilies.
Friends in Fredericton sent a beautiful cross and crown formed of Easter and calla lilies and lilies of the valley, intermingled with leaves and maid'nhair fern.

The pall-bearers were Judge Ritchie, Sherrill Burdette, Sidney Smith, Howard McLeod, John H. Parks, and Charles A. Everett. The body was interred in Fernhill cemetery.

AUCTION SALES.

At Chubb's Corner, today, a freehold property on Elliott Row, was withdrawn at $800. The $500 New Brunswick bonds, 4 per cent, due in 1910, sold to J. M. Robinson for 15 premium; eight shares of the schooner Jennie C.
57 tons, were bought by J. W. McAlary for $170. Mining stock was again at a discount; 2,500 shares of Big Five was offered and no bid was received.
One thousand two hundred shares of Gold King, upon which there was a standing price of 22 were withdrawn, there being no higher bid.

CONGREGATIONAL REUNION.

A congregational reunion was held in the Douglas Avenue Christian church last night. The pastor, Rev. J. C. B.
Appel presided, and reports were received from the different branches of the church. They were all of an encouraging nature. At the close of the business the remainder of the time was spent socially and refreshments were served by the ladies.

WONDERFUL McEWN.
His Living But Hypnotised Statuary
the Talk of the Town.

McEwen, the hypnotist had over a dozen subjects on the Mechanics' Institute platform last evening, and the audience was treated to a wonderful display of hypnotic power. The statuary work, where the subjects are, as it were, turned to stone in an instant, and remain motionless in whatever position, whether standing, sitting, or sleeping is simply marvellous. The moment they are called out of that state they go on with whatever they were doing or saying, just as if there had been no interruption.

Prof. McEwen's discourse each evening on the science of hypnotism is intensely interesting, and the illustrations very effective. Several times last evening most of the audience in the body of the hall were on their feet, so intense was the eagerness to witness the experiments.

McEwen still has difficulty to get as large a class of subjects as he desires.
That is not his fault, for he extends his invitation over and over again every evening, and invites the citizens to go up. He has a matinee this afternoon, and should have a large house tonight. Many prominent citizens were present last evening.

UNCLE SAM'S RECRUITS DESERT.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 12.—A special to the Tribune from Leavenworth, Kas., says:—Over a hundred and fifty newly enlisted soldiers of the 14th Cavalry regiment, recruiting here, have deserted. The missing soldiers are nearly all young recruits and were from all companies of the new regiment. Yesterday was their first pay day. A detachment of regulars has been sent out to bring them back.
