LUMBER SHIPPERS MEET WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Slump in the English Market Seriously Felt.

It is Stated That One Man Has Already Lost Not Less Than $60,000 and the End is Not Yet

The lumber industry in New Brunswick is now experiencing the best manufacturing and worst selling season in a number of years. Conditions have arisen during the past few months which have resulted in heavy losses to some of the largest shippers, and from present indications the depression will continue during the remainder of the summer at least. The English market has dropped two dollars and a half per thousand feet and as a result it is estimated that one shipper has lost not less than $60,000 this season, another in the vicinity of $20,060, while the rest stand to drop all the profits made on early cargoes or lish situation improves.

Freights are neither high nor low, the last reported being at thirty-five shillings, which is very reasonable. It has been figured that on the last big has been figured that on the last big cargo sent to Liverpool the shipper, a St. John man, lost at least $7,500, and that he, in common with others having purchased deals early in the season at the high price stands to lose not less than $100,000 before the summer's cut is cleaned up. The cautious ones who invested only in small quantities are rejoicing over their good judgment.

SHIP STOPPED BY BATTLING WHALES

Four Monsters Attacked by Two Sharks, Force the Amelia to Alter

NEW YORK, Aug. 6-Obliged to alter the course of his craft at least six times because of a mighty battle al-ways ahead of the vessel between four gigantic whales and two sharks, Cap-tain Jameson, of the fruit steamship Amelia, of the Donaldson Company, brought the best fish story so far told this season, when the Amelia tied up this season, when the Amelia tied up to Pier 9 East River, yesterday.

The story, only one-third fish, because the whales were not fish, was told by Thomas L. Jones, treasurer of the steamship line, and there was no gain-saying Mr. Jones, as he is a most assaying Mr. Jones, as he is a most astimable young man.

When two days out from Port Antonio, at about six o'clock in the evening, the lookout reported a strange disturbance dead ahead, and as the Amelia approached four whales, about forty feet each in length, and two man eating sharks, each at least fifteen feet long, were discovered in mortal combat.

There was a terrific lashing of the water by the flukes of the whales and the tails of the sharks, and the marine fight spread for hundreds of feet across the path of the fruiter. Captain across the path of the fruiter. Captain Jameson saw an opening in the whirling, diving, plunging mass and ordered full speed ahead, when suddenly the contestants turned and came together just ahead of the steamship.

Fearing the Appella would me together Fearing the Amelia would cut a gory path should the vessel steam ahead, Captain Jameson was obliged to pro-ceed slowly and at least six times brought the ship to a stop to avoid triking the moisters, who paid no atention to the Amelia. According to Mr. Jones, the fighting whale would jump out of the water, followed by the sharks, raising such waves that they rocked the ship. For hundreds of yards the sea was a white foam, tinged with red. One whale was and some of the deals are resold. Deals at the beginning of this season were purchased at from $14.50 to $15.00, and several shippers following their usual plan, secured large contracts. They made their charters, and now when the English market is away down, are practically compelled to ship, even at a direct loss. A few shippers, however, who felt suspicious of the market limited their purchases and now count themselves extremely lucky. Yet in spite of this precaution the whole output of New Brunswick mills has been contracted for, and up to date about fifty per cept. has gone forward. There are very few deals now on the local market, some small quantities being held by independent operators who, however, will not ship until the English situation improves.

Freights are neither high nor low, the local represent rain continues, will be flooded. Thatch Island, which is on the main river about three miles from Jemsey is already partially submerged, and eight inches of water will put the whole island out of sight. The island is one of the best hay growing pieces of iand in the district, and the standing crop was bought in this year for the argest price on record. Farmers bid in this hay and their prices regulate the general price to a certain extent. On this island and on the Queens county intervales it is estimated that fully three thousand tons of hay are in danger. If, however, the flood should extend along river as far as Maugerville the loss will be immensely greater, and scores of farmers will be ruined, for they will be unable to get any hay elsewhere. As a rule the farmers are through with their haying by this time elsewhere. As a rule the farmers are through with their haying by this time of year but in the present season the hay is later than usual and recent growth of all products has been so rapid that now other crops are ready for cutting and something must be neglected. Everything is coming at once, and heavy losses will be the result.

More than this, the continued wet weather is ruining the oats and potatoes. Rust and rot have appeared in all sections and unless brighter weather soon comes the crops will be practically destroyed. There is as yet no indication that the rain is over, and the river tion that the rain is over, and the river continues to rise. Briefly, conditions in the St. John valley, the most fertile section of New Brunswick, are extremely grave.
