DIXON, ILL., May 5.
ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST AT THE FALLS OF THE MISSOURI RIVER.
A terrible accident, involving a fearful loss of life, occurred here yesterday afternoon. The steamer "Hesperus" was dismasted to a number of recent converts to one of the Baptist churches here at a point in Rock River just below the falls on bridge, and about two hundred persons, including many ladies and a number of children, had gathered on the bridge to witness the ceremony. Suddenly, without warning, the steamer, which followed the river, rolled over its side, and precipitated its living freight into the stream below. The scene which followed was indeed a terrible one, as the struggling victims vainly endeavored to free themselves from the ruins of the bridge and from each other. Large crowds of people on the banks rushed wildly to and fro, and many of them were attracted to the river as they were unable to render any assistance—others were self-preserved and specially brought ropes, planks and boats, and went nobly to work to rescue the living and recover the dead. Some of these were on the bridge when it fell—some near the edge that they were able to reach land without assistance, while others were fortunately in reach of those on shore, but up to 100 p. m. thirty-two dead bodies had been taken from the river, and it is almost certain that there are others still in the water.

LATER.—No other bodies of the victims of the bridge disaster were recovered up to the present hour, but several bodies were picked up at Sterling, 6 miles below, and doubtless the swift current has brought others down. A general estimate of the loss is from 90 to 100 souls. Five bodies floated past the men at work at the bridge, and the bodies have not been found. It is supposed that at least 50 bodies are still in the water. Most of them are supposed under the wreck of the bridge. The bridge was of iron, trestle pattern, of 6 spans, elevated about 25 feet above the river, which is from 15 to 25 feet deep. Only the two end spans fell. The middle spans and end spans are standing, but in such a condition that it is thought they will fall when the wrecked spans are removed. Workmen are busy to-night putting up a derrick in order to clear the wreck, and hanging the remains to secure the bodies beneath. It is now stated that there were 300 persons on the bridge at the time of the accident, and a greater number escaped than at first supposed. When the bridge gave way most of the people gathered at either end. A large number were near the center, and some of the later remains were taken off in boats. Several persons jumped from their precarious places and swam ashore. Two horses attached to a buggy on the middle span when the crash came and remain there still as there is no way of getting them off.

There were a number of remarkable escapes of children of whom there were not less than fifty on the bridge. One little fellow, aged 15, was caught by both feet in the rigging of one of the spans and held a key broken, but he managed by sheer strength to pull one of his boots off and then coolly took out his knife and ripped the other boot from the crippled leg and swam ashore. Two little girls, sisters, standing side by side, went down together. The older caught the other by the dress with one hand and with the other maintained their heads above water.

No additional names of the killed are known. During the night the work was accomplished hardly anything further can be done. There are crowds of people on the banks of the river this morning viewing the scene of the disaster, the majority of whom are looking for missing friends.

The telegraph is kept constantly in use with messages from all parts of the United States. Every house in the city is in mourning. Mrs. P. M. Alexander and Mrs. Vann died this forenoon from the effects of their injuries.

Another Midnight Victory for the Government.
Ottawa, May 5.

Ottawa was not the Dominion. Mr. Blake's resolution was out of date, the question having been settled. The resolution was a censure on the British Government in part, and this proponder would be unbecomingly and would create the impression in the States that we were dissatisfied with our position.

Such an impression would lessen our chances for reciprocity and increase in the States the hope of annexation. It is hoped that the Ministry of the Opposition would soon be satisfied with unbecomingly resolutions, and then allow the business of the country to go on.
