12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1909. Dear Mrs. Currah.—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Bolteridge.

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address. Enclose 3 stamps and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

skating, in lots of respects, but not in the way Josephus is trying to explain himself. He tells us dancing is not a wholesome recreation, and charges of impurity, immodesty and worldliness is laid against the party or person who dances. Now, I judge from this letter of the January number of the W.H.M. that Josephus has a lot to learn before he can criticize dancing. I think, in the first place, it would be a good idea for him to study the ball room etiquette, and after he has done that, he may learn to dance too, and probably he would be able to talk about something which he knew a little about. He would also find out that the modern dances which he refers to are danced but very little. I think I can venture to say that there is not one person (who is a dancer) out of every five hundred in this country that dances the ripple. And, again, Mr. Josephus, I will give you another little pointer which you appear to be ignorant of, and that is a young lady does not have to dance with any Tom, Dick or Harry, as you seem to think they do. A young lady can pick her company at a dance, as well as she can at church, or any other social gathering. It is all right for people with evil minds and jealous feelings to bar such enjoyment, but on the other hand I think it is good pastime and sport for the person who has a clear conscience and bright and noble career to put in the lonely winter months on the desolate prairie. Another thing, a lady and gentleman can get in any attitude they prefer while dancing, and I would like Mr. Josephus to point out to me the improper attitudes of the modern dances, such as the valeta waltz, an improvement on the ancient plain waltz, both in attitude and skill; also the new style of these other dances I am about to mention: the German schottische, Military schottische and Jersey, which are danced in a different way to that of ancient. I can also go on to tell him that a young couple sitting in church or driving in a buggy or auto, or even sitting in the parlor of their parents or friends, can take any attitude preferable to them, as that of dancing, and tell me, sir, is our rising generation of today wild or uncivilized, seeing so many indulge in dancing? And, comparing them with the statement you gave, they act more like beasts and outlaws than anything else. Now there is another point of yours, which I can squash very quickly. You are comparing that of the ripple with about twenty other different dances, like comparing a game of poker with that of a game of old maid or dominoes, or any other card game which is known to be indulged in in the home of good living people. It will take up too much room in your valuable paper to point out to the criticizer where the most of his points are wrong and ideas lead widely astray. When you talk about a man that, seeing a round dance for the first time, saying he would horse whip a man if he caught him dancing with his wife, should have two wives, and instead of him getting jealous of someone else, he would get some one else jealous of him, and I would advise any young lady to slight the young gentleman with such an evil and jealous disposition, because if matrimony was ever their luck with such a case as this, I am sure it would be a failure as regards happiness. I myself have attended somewhere about twenty dances this winter, and I have never met one of those individuals that wanted to be hugged. I am proud to say that I, like all the rest of our prairie boys and girls, pick our company, and do not want to belong to the gyratory hugging society. I am also proud to live in a country like ours where dancing is the chief amusement of the day, and you will find less abandoned girls than you will in the older countries. There you will find there is not ten per cent. of the working class that knows how to dance, and I am safe to say that is where you can find the majority of these abandoned characters. If those people had visited some assemblies instead of street walking, they would not be where they are today. I do not think it necessary for a minister, or bishop, or priest, or any leader of any denomination to warn their people against any amusements which they prefer to indulge in, for as a rule the party, he or she which ever it may be that belongs to a church has enough good in them to conduct themselves in any company, and may be the means of enlightening some poor neglected girl of her ignorance, and do good where a minister might not have a chance to be present. Now, Josephus, you have to show me and our prairie girls and boys, who, I know, will support me in my argument, where the harm is in a sociable dance among neighbors. Perhaps, Josephus will say: They do not have to dance for amusement; why not play games? I say, there can be far more harm taken out of games than there is out of dancing. Yours truly, Sod Buster.

One of Five.

Ontario, April, 1912.

Dear Editor,—I have been a reader of your paper for a number of years and would now feel lost without it. I enjoy reading the letters each month and thought I would write and get a few correspondents if they would care to write to me. I am a farmer's daughter living on a large farm of two hundred and fifty acres, am quite tall, have dark hair and blue eyes and am the middle one of five so have hard scratching for fair play. I like to hear about the great West and hope, if possible, to see it some day and meet some of those Western bachelors who give such glowing accounts of their work up there. Maxine.

Will Exchange Post Cards.

Manitoba, 1912.

Hello all! How's everybody? Have been a silent reader of the correspondence column for quite a long time, but I just can't keep still any longer. I have been a reader of the Western Home Monthly for some time and like it better than any other Canadian magazine I have come across. It is full of good reading matter from cover to cover and I read every bit of it too. One of the best features is the "correspondence" I think. Many good letters are to be found here, while others are, to be very mild, exceedingly foolish. Well never mind, there's some good in every one. I think it is a fine scheme to form a lot of acquaintances. I am a young chap between 20 and 24; have black hair and brown eyes. Am very fond of music and an occasional dance. Would be glad to get some correspondence just to pass the time. Shall be exceedingly pleased to exchange post cards and will answer all that may be sent. My address is with the editor. Will sign myself, Dynamite Joe.

Contains Good Reading.

Saskatchewan, 1912.

Dear Editor,—Although I am only a recent subscriber to your valuable paper, I have read several copies before and when I take up the W. H. M. I feel that I am going to read something worth reading. It contains just the subjects you are looking for that other papers leave out. Old and young alike can find good, instructive reading in the W. H. M. I read with interest the correspondence column and would certainly like to join the circle. I am one of the great army of bachelors who inhabit the plains of Western Canada. I see a lot of the girls disapprove of the use of the weed in any way. I do not drink whisky or chew tobacco but I can do justice to a pipe of tobacco or a good cigar. I think the girls who disapprove of a fellow taking an odd smoke must be the cross kind. I know fellows who don't smoke, but then they are not nearly so contented as those who do. A fellow has no right to smoke where there are ladies present but I think it a great help to the lonely bachelor in passing the dreary winter months away. I live on a half section of land in a well settled country and would like to correspond with any girls who would care to write. Will answer all letters. I will sign myself The Candy Kid.
