ASSUMPTION COLLEGE, SAND

Among the popular and progressive educational institutions of the province none stands better or enjoys a more esteemed patronage than Assumption college at Sandwich. The school enjoys an international reputation, and the attendance, which has been unusually large this year, has been drawn from distant parts of the States, as well as Canada.

The twenty-tourth annual distribution of prizes took place on June 22, the interesting proceedings opening at 9 o'clock with a choice programme of musical and literary selections presented by the pupils as follows:

Overture, "Beggar Students," college orchestra; chorus, senior singing class; introductory by Frank Foster; plano duet, Denis Hays and H Ruciot; discussion, "What Next," by the rhetoric class; composed as follows: Jas Kelly, chairman; J Abel, S Cappe, M J Crawley, D F Egan, F Forster, C Hennigen, F Hewlett, J Keho, J R Command, T Luby, F J A McDonnell, J J McCabe, J Marx, D Murphy, P O'Connell, F Sullivan, P J Troy, D Sweeney, J J Weadock, J Leo; quartete, "Beautitud Bells," by Thos. Conlin, Jno. Kehoe, M Casey, Jos. Brokaw; piano duet, "The Devil's March," F McIntyre and H Raciot; waltz, "Tecumseh," by college orchestra; "Hunting Clorus," by junior class; gallop, by orchestra. The distribution of prizes made the tenth item on the programme.

seh," by coolege orchestra; "Hunting Clorus," by junior class; gallop, by orchestra. The distribution of prizes made the tenth item on the programme.

The various numbers were cleverly presented and the interest well sustained throughout. Probably the chief interest centered in the discussion, "What Next," by the rhetoric class, on the best means of utilization that the future by those just starting out in life. The motives to exertion, the usefulness of proper choice of work, the value of a lofty ideal perseveringly followed, and many other appropriate topics were dwelt upon and exhibited in language always correct and often rising to respectable eloquence. Space forbids a particular criticism, but the hearty applause and frequently expressed commendation were a flattering index of appreciation on the part of the hearers.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY, TORONTO.

For the CATHOLIC RECORD.

For the CATHOLIC RECORD.

The closing exercises at St. Joseph's Academy wereheld Friday, June 22. At 8:30 a.m. solemn High Mass was sung by Rev. J. R. Teefy, M. A., assisted by Rev. E. F. Murray, C. S. B., deacon, and Rev. F. Martin, C. S. B., sub-deacon.

The "Grand Entrance March" by Newell, arranged for organ, harp and violin, was executed in a masterly manner by the following young ladies: Miss Green, organist; Misses Kenny, Lysaght and Johnston, violinists; Misses Kiely and Roach harpists.

The pupils of the Academy gave an exquisite rendering of Fowler's Mass of the Blessed Virgin. Miss Doran sang the "Qui Tollis" very effectively. The duet "Gratias Agimus" by Misses Kenny and Kennedy, and the quartette by Misses Roach, Powell, Cavanagh and McCarthy received much praise. The Offertory piece, Lambilotte's "Memorare," was reudered very tastefully. Miss Kenny, the soloist, has a soprano voice of fine quality.

Why Hooply's Pagansa H. Ale School. It was ever understood that it was so given. On any other conditions it would be worthless. Is not the Government, therefore, bound in justice, and to save its claim to consistency, to adopt some measure by which the park may be made over, freely and fully, with all its natural treasures, as was intended when the gift was given to the public? It is, indeed, extraordinary that the Government should have set apart the Algonquin Park burdened with conditions that would

OUR LADY AS A DAUGHTER OF JUDEA.

It is a little strange that there is no more advertence to the human excel-lence of the stock from which the Blessed Mary sprang; or to the grand-eur of the feminine ideal, which was part of her national inheritance. The expectation of the Messiah, the realiz ation of the providential mission of their race, made these Hebrew women what they were-superb in body and spirit, strong, sane, and sweet. The first thought of the little Hebrew maiden was of Him who would come first lesson was to make herself worthy to be a link in the chain of His ancestry. As the time for the fulfilment of the prophecies drew nigh, every one of the beautiful girls in the Temple had a beautiful hope in her heart. They meditated on the great examples of the brave women saints of Judea, whose hearts had been like harps, whereof the twin strings of God and country vibrated to a single touch. They had Miriam, poet and prophetess; Debbora, who judged Israel and, with another woman, won its battles in a day when the hearts of men were faint; Judith, the fair and valiant, who forsook the prayful retirement of her widowhood just long enough to save her people from the besieging Assyrian; and the young Hebrew exile, Esther, who kept the feasts and fasts of Israel in the court of Ahasuerus, and valued the power that came to her from her marriage to the Pagan king only as she could use it for the benefit of her oppressed nation. As single-hearted was that earlier but unnamed Hebrew heroine, who turned from her new-born son and passed into the Valley of the glory gone from Israel than for slain husband and kinsmen. Nor can we think, though the books of the Machabees were not received as Scripture by the Jews, that the Jewish maidens heard not of that seven-times martyred mother, the mother of the Machabees, of whom it is written that she joined "a man's heart to a woman's thought," exhorting her sons to be faithful unto death in resisting the commands of King Antiochus to violate the Mosaic ordinances. "She was to be admired above measure," saith the chronicler, "and worthy to be remembered by good men, who beheld her seven sons slain in the space of one day, and bore it with a good courage (as well as her own subsequent martyr dom), for the hope she had in God.

And the dark eyes of the royal virgins were often dimmed by the sad but glorious story of the one virgin saint of the Hebrew calendar, the daughter of Jephti, the Galaadite, who died to save her father's vow. "My father," said the God-fearing soldier's daughter, lamenting less her life cut down in its blossom than her her part denied in the ancestry of the Messiah, "If thou hast opened thy mouth to the Lord, do unto me what thou hast promised, since the victory has been granted thee and the revenge

And God Himself had limned for a model to the daughters of Israel the portrait of the Valiant Woman, who put out her hand to strong things, evil? Surely our lumber merchants and opened her hand to the needy, in who, for the most part, are large whom the heart of her husband trusted, whose children rose up and called her blessed.—Katherine E. Conway, in "The Blessed Among Women.

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY The Catholic Record for One Year FOR $4.00.

By special arrangement with the publishers, we are able to obtain a number of the above books, and propose to furnish a copy to each of our subscribers.

The dictionary is a necessity in every nome, school and business house. It fills a vacancy, and furnishes knowledge which no one hundred other volumes of the choicest books could supply. Young and O'd, Educated and Ignorant, Rich and Poor, should have it within reach, and refer to its contents every day in the year.

As some have asked if this is really the Original Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, we are able to state that we have learned direct from the publishers the fact that this is the very work complete, on which about 40 of the best years of the author's life were so well employed in writing. It contains the entire vocabulary of about 100,000 words, including the correct spelling, derivation and definition of same, and is the regular standard size, containing about 300,000 square inches of printed surface, and is bound in cloth.
