

THE COURIER.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1851.

It appears that Earl Grey has written a Dispatch to Lord Elgin, in which he proposes that all the troops shall be withdrawn from Canada, except the Garrison of Quebec and Kingston, and that if the Canadian Government desires to retain troops at any other Station, they may do so by paying the expense of their maintenance. It is probable that Earl Grey has asked for Lord Elgin's opinion on this matter; now, we should much like to know what advice his Lordship will give to the Colonial Secretary. It is probable that Upper Canada might be safely left without troops; the population there is homogeneous to a very great degree; and any rule there are not the national antipathies that unfortunately prevail in Montreal, and which, on occasions, in this city, so exasperate the popular passions as to override all respect for civil authority. We venture to say that no General Election could take place in Montreal were the Garrison withdrawn, that would not be in a general pitched battle in the streets, involving the loss of hundreds of lives, and perhaps the destruction of great part of the City. Neither must it be forgotten that, from peculiar circumstances, a party political conflict in Montreal would speedily assume a religious character, for it happens that nearly all the Liberals are Roman Catholics, and their opponents Protestants. Every one who has courage enough to speak the truth, will acknowledge that nothing but the presence of a powerful military force has, on several occasions within the last five years, prevented the two factions from flying at one another's throats. Were the Garrison withdrawn, we must own that we should look on the peace of the city as safe no longer than the want of a decent pretext for a mutual onslaught. It has been said that a portion of the Militia may be organized, drilled, and armed, somewhat after the fashion of the Volunteer corps in the cities of the United States, who have often done good service in preventing popular outbreaks. We fear that this would be the very worst step that could be taken. Party spirit, and national antipathies, run so high here, that you could hardly get men of both parties and races to serve together in the same corps. If you had British corps and French corps, according to the present organization of the Regiment of Montreal Militia, the first fight would probably be between themselves. A large Police force would be equally impracticable, for the same reason, and besides that force would be considered as the mere tool of whatever Government happened to be in power, and would consequently be obnoxious to the opposition. The Fortin troop of Horse-Police is a case in point. If the Government desired to bring the long-cherished national prejudices and party hatred of the population of Montreal to a bloody armistice, they could take no surer plan to accomplish than to withdraw the only perfectly neutral armed body that has the strength and will to maintain order. Take away the troops, and both parties will immediately begin to arm and organize themselves, for what they call mutual protection against the other, and then, on the very first occasion that presents itself, they will fight out their ancient quarrel. We trust Lord Elgin will have the discretion not to recommend the withdrawal of troops from Montreal at any rate, whatever he may do in the rest of the Province.

We were much pleased to find, a few days since, that some gentlemen of this city, the well known patrons of athletic exercises, had formed a Club for the purpose of establishing a good old-fashioned English Bowling Green. A beautiful piece of ground has been procured near Sherbrooke Street, a part of the same field which is used by the Queen Club, and the "green" will be prepared as handsomely as possible. For the information of our readers, who may not know what "Bowls" is, we would say that it is a healthy out-of-door game, requiring no great bodily exertion, but a vast deal of skill and judgment, more in fact than any game with which we are acquainted, except billiards; indeed we do not think any one could ever be a first-rate "Bowler," unless he practically understood the laws of force. The Bowling Green is thirty yards square, surrounded with a ditch to carry off water, and with a bank to prevent the Bowls from running too far. The Bowls are spheres somewhat shaped from lignum-vitæ, each Bowl having inserted into it, in a certain place, a piece of lead, which is technically called the "Bowling stone," and which causes the Bowl to describe a curve when delivered from the hand. The Bowls are frequently ornamented with silver plates, bearing the initials or arms of the gentleman who owns it. The Green must be set to level to a millstone table, and the turf shall, under water until it grows so thick, and fine as the grass on a Turkey carpet. The game is played in a covered alley, according to the rules of the game, but various customs, offering a temptation to gamble, are ever with the far more English game of skittles, for that is commonly played in the open air. Those who join the Bowling Club will find it a delightful out-of-door amusement for the Summer evening, and it gives us much pleasure to find that a Club has been started, for Montreal has a sad lack of cheap, innocent amusements, combining pleasure with healthy exercise. By late advices from Bermuda and Antigua, we learn that the Puseyite practice of preaching in the surplice from the Pulpit has been introduced into both Islands by certain Clergymen, and that great excitement was manifested by the Congregations. In one Church in Antigua the Congregation had unanimously elected an Anti-Puseyite Vestry, and compelled the Rector to re-assume the gown in preaching.

From most of the British West Indian Sugar Islands there are good accounts of the crops. In Trinidad it was expected that the crop would exceed that of 1850 by 35,000 hogsheads. In Demerara the Treasury has a surplus of $200,000, consequently, the Governor has recommended a reduction of import and other duties and taxes. The financial affairs of Bermuda are also in a flourishing state.

We understand that Mr. George Thompson, M. P., the anti-slavery lecturer, will visit this city, and deliver his lectures on India, after attending a Convention at Syracuse.

The Presbytery of Montreal, in connection with the Presbyterian Church of Canada, will meet (D.V.) in the Session House of Cote St. Charles, in this city, on Wednesday, the 7th May, at noon. The Reverend Thomas Henry, of Lachine, Moderator, will preach in the evening in Saint Gabriel Street Church, at half-past 7 o'clock.

Martha Farquhar Tupper, the well-known and popular Poet, was in Montreal on Monday, and left in the evening for Quebec. On his return he will proceed on a short tour to the South, previous to quitting the shores of America for England.

The two lines of Steamers between Montreal and Kingston are now in operation—the Mail Line leaving at noon, and the other at 6, P.M. The travelling public will find in these boats all the comforts and luxuries which they can possibly desire.

COMPAIN'S RESTAURANT, PLACE D'ARMEES.—We understand that the above establishment will be re-opened on or about the 1st May, by Mr. J. O'Meara, late of Dolly's Chop House.

"St. Lawrence Hall" will be opened for business on to-morrow. Messieurs Compain, Hogan & Vardon invite their friends generally to visit them, this evening, at 9 o'clock, and hope that a large number of visitors will be present.

We have received, and thank Mr. J. H. Daley, of the Vermont Central Railroad, for a copy of the Boston Daily Times of the 28th instant.

We are requested to remind our readers of the Sale of Fruit and ornamental Trees at Mr. Leeming's office to-morrow morning, at eleven o'clock. The Trees have arrived in fine order.—See advertisement.

We request attention to the advertisement of the Sale of the Turnpike Tolls, by John M. Tobin, Esquire, an alteration having been made therein, rendered necessary by difficulties that have more than once occurred after tolls have been adjudged.

Loss of the Steamer "COMET."—We deeply regret to hear of the melancholy catastrophe, that has befallen this steamer. It appears that as she was leaving the harbour of Oswego, on the 21st instant, with a full head of steam, her boilers burst. She sank in five minutes, after, in 9 feet of water, where she now lies, a perfect wreck. We annex the following particulars relative to this loss of life, from the Oswego Commercial Advertiser.

The vessel of the dead one, Lord Davis, late of the Commodore, was on the 21st instant, at Oswego, when she was struck by a Comet, a vessel of 17 years of age—James Church, water, about 16, and Thomas Quigley, mate.

but the explosion was caused by the want of a sufficient quantity of water when the boiler was heated up, and that the chains of piston which the boiler was swinging were brought to rest in such a manner as to prevent the piston from rising. We learn from the report of the Committee, that the boiler of the Comet was thoroughly overhauled and tested this spring by the best and most experienced Engineer in Canada, who pronounced them sound.

It is not believed that any fault can be ascribed to the officers of the boat. The steamer was owned by Messrs. McPherson & Crane. The above verdict of a foreign jury must be satisfactory to them, as to the soundness of the boiler. We learn from the Whig that these were not new, but had been recently specially examined by Mr. Roberts, a well informed and scientific Engineer, of Toronto, and by him pronounced to be in the best condition. It is easy to believe that the circumstances above narrated in the account we have cited should have caused the explosion of any boiler.

The Rev. Thomas Osgood has returned to this city after a winter sojourn in the Southern States, during which he has been employed, as usual, in promoting Temperance, visiting Schools, and soliciting for the "Sons and Daughters of Freedom Society." He travelled through the States, and was generally successful in his efforts to regard to his benevolent objects. He has received a considerable number of letters, and 300 dollars in cash.

Mr. Osgood remains in excellent health, and will immediately resume his usual labors. We trust that the annoyances to which he was frequently subjected last year will not be repeated.—Pilot.

ROBBERY.—Late on Saturday night, or early on Sunday morning, the stores of Messrs. D. & W. Smith, Dry Goods Merchants, North Dumfries Street, were broken open, and a quantity of a sum amounting to £200, in silver, or thereabout, was stolen.

The thieves gained access to the premises from the rear, by means of keys, and took the entrance by the door fronting on State Dune St., which is fastened from the inside; they then merely sat over them.

On Sunday morning, one of the Messrs. Smith, in passing the store, observed the door open, and on entering, he discovered that it was secure, when it immediately opened, which was the first indication of what had taken place.

By comparing the manner in which the cash box from which the money had been abstracted, with the same from the other store, the information that the two robberies must have been committed by the same party or parties, would seem to be unavoidable.

The thieves, beyond a doubt, must have been not only well acquainted with the premises, but also with the movements therein; we trust they will be arrested.—Pilot.

POUNCE.—Yesterday, Bartholomew Lee and Henry Daley were brought up before the Police Magistrate, charged by the Chief of Police with disorderly conduct, and with being in possession of a quantity of spirits, which were found in their possession, and which were taken from them.

The consequence was that they were committed to the House of Correction, for a period of one month, and a fine of $100 each, for the same offence.

STRAIN BETWEEN GLASGOW AND NEW YORK.—We find that the experiment, recently made with the City of Glasgow, of direct steam communication between Glasgow and New York, is to be repeated, and on the 1st of May, the vessel just mentioned to the trade with Philadelphia. A new Joint Stock Company has been formed, of which Mr. Wm. McLaughlin is to be the manager at Glasgow, and Mr. J. M. Stewart, at New York. The business will, therefore, be in very efficient hands. The first vessel launched is to be called the Adrian, and will be commanded by Capt. N. Stewart.

A QUEEN'S EXERCISES FAVORITED.—On Tuesday morning last, Mr. Tallmadge, the United States Marshal, received intelligence that the Steamer Comet, which was on her way to New York, and which was under the command of the Commodore, was on her way to New York, and which was under the command of the Commodore.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Some of the Georgian adventures in the Cuban enterprise arrived here yesterday on their way to the North. It is said the expedition was on foot, and was not easily frustrated.
