Sanitaris
Is Bottled at the Springs
Mineral water shipped in carboys and barrels and bottled at distant points—is like champagne kept over night uncorked. It's dull and flat. "SANITARIS" is bottled at the springs at Arnprior, Ontario—just as it comes from virgin rock—with all its natural snap and sparkle retained. When you drink "SANITARIS" you know you are getting water that is just as pure—just as delightful to eye and palate—as though you drank it at the springs at Arnprior. The ideal table water. INTERNATIONAL BIBLE LESSON FOR TO-MORROW.

False Excuses—Luke 14, 15-24.
Read Matt. 22, 1-14.

Golden Text—And they all with one consent began to make excuses.

This lesson is a continuation of last Sunday's. We find the Lord making the most of this table talk with these Jewish leaders and teachers of religion. As they recline—not sit—at table, one of the guests on hearing him speak of the resurrection of the just, interjected, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the Kingdom of God"—likely some catch phrase. The remark drew from our Lord the story contained in this lesson. It is a very interesting and instructive one and teachers should make the most of it in presenting it to their scholars to-morrow.

MRS. LUKE MORRIS, GIVEN UP TO DIE. HAD SEVEN DOCTORS. PE-RU-NA SAVED HER.

Mrs. Luke A. Morris, Jacksonville, Fla., writes:

"Peruna has done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken, and that is saying a good deal, as I have had seven doctors treating me in the past two years."

"I only wish I had begun taking your wonderful medicine some time ago, and I would have saved so many doctor bills."

"I was completely run down, and given up to die, but Peruna braced me up and gave me a good appetite."

"I have taken not quite six bottles of Peruna and would not give it up for all the other medicines in the world."

"I thank you for all the good you have done me. I hope every sick woman who reads my name will give the medicine a trial."

CHILDHOOD DANGERS

Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles are alarmingly frequent during the hot weather months. Too often these troubles become acute and a precious little life is lost after only a few hours' illness. During the hot weather season every wise mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house to check these ills if they come suddenly. Better still, an occasional dose of this medicine will keep the stomach and bowels clean and prevent these dangerous ailments coming. Mrs. John Lancaster, North Portal, Sask., says: "My baby was attacked with diarrhoea and severe vomiting. I at once gave Baby's Own Tablets and next day she was as well as ever. I find the Tablets are the only medicine a little one needs." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

2,000 YEARS IN TABLEUX.

More Than One Thousand Players Take Part In Great Historical Pageant at Warwick Castle.

A pageant which can only be compared in point of magnificence and historical interest to the "Pavilion Play" at Oberammergau has just been enacted in England. There, on the green of Warwick Castle, whose like is not to be found in the Midlands, the story of 2,000 years was told in tableaux. More than a thousand players, many of them great nobles, took part in the dramatic story, and from all parts of the world came visitors to witness the unparalleled scenes. From Australia and the United States 14 of the younger members of the great Warwick family were present and were a feature of the final spectacle, when the pageant was brought up to date and blended in the everyday life about the players.

Historical Moving Pictures.

The central figures in the pageant were the town and Castle of Warwick, and the idea was to re-enact scenes in which they had appeared, the presenting what might be called historical moving pictures. One can well imagine how impressive must have been the scene, since the mere reading of an account of the pageant is like taking a special course in English history. Into 11 episodes have the designers of the fete divided the story of Warwick for the purposes of dramatic entertainment. The first three deal with the semi-historical phases, dating back to the Roman invasion, B. C. 55. At this early date Warwick ("the fortified town") was in existence, Kymbeline, a King of the Britons (Shakespeare's "Cymbeline"), and his son Caractacus figured prominently in the first episode, and the dawn of Christianity was represented.

The Bear and the Staff.

The second was devoted to the legendary wars of the first Earls of Warwick—Gwar, Arthal and Marvid. Arth, or Arthal, was the first Earl of the line, and from him and Marvid are derived the bear and the ragged staff, that are to be seen on the Warwick coat-of-arms to-day. The bear is derived from Arth, meaning bear, and the ragged staff is the result of a terrific encounter Marvid had with a giant, armed with an uprooted tree. The third scene was dedicated to a display of the deeds of Ethelfleda, daughter of Alfred the Great and wife of one of the Earls of Mercia, who won back the Midlands from the pagans. To her memory now stands a mound, or keep, erected 1,500 years ago in Warwick Castle.

Famous Earls of Warwick.

The centre of the fourth tableau was Guy, an Earl of Warwick, who helped redeem England from the Danes, slew a gigantic bear at Windsor, the deer-cow of Dunsmore, and a Northumberland dragon, crowning all these exploits by restoring to a cave, where he lived the life of a hermit and at last died. This cave may still be seen, about a mile distant from the castle at Guy's Cliffe, the seat of the Percys. Episodes five and six concerned the pious and heroic deeds of Roger, the second Norman Earl of Warwick and Eliza Gaveston, the friend of Edward II. The seventh scene introduces the greatest of the Warwicks, the Kingmaker. In the famous Wars of the Roses this earl dominated the situation, making first Lancaster King and then York, as best suited his pleasure. He was depicted as a man of remarkable craft, but of great courage and perseverance.

In Tudor Times.

Henry VIII was introduced in the eighth episode, for he granted a charter to the town and school at Warwick. The latter had been established at an earlier period, but Henry VIII freed it from clerical control and ordered that thereafter it should provide education free of charge to the Warwick children. Lady Jane Grey, the victim of the plot of John Dudley, Earl of Warwick and Duke of Northumberland, was the heroine of the ninth episode, and this we can imagine to have been one of the most moving spectacles in the pageant. It was followed by the Elizabethan episode, in which Robert Leicester figured as the Queen's favorite. Robert was a Dudley, a younger brother of Lady Grey's husband, and a son of John Dudley, Earl of Warwick and Duke of Northumberland. Elizabeth, as a sign of her favor to Leicester, created his brother, Ambrose, Earl of Warwick. After his death most of the property reverted to the Crown, and rested there until bestowed again by James I.

The Fatal Celebration.

The present earl derives his connection with the house back to the time when Sir Poulet Greville obtained the castle in fee and made of it the place of strength and beauty it is to-day. The final spectacle portrayed the ill-omened entertainment given to William III by Lord Brooke, at Warwick. On this occasion there was a gigantic bonfire made in the court and 120 gallons of punch were consumed by hosts and guests. A combination of intoxicated revelers and unheeded fire resulted in the burning down of most of the town and the destruction of priceless specimens of architecture. The castle itself luckily escaped with small injury, but was severely scorched in 1871. To-day it stands completely restored, and the background of the noble walls make a fitting frame for the most remarkable pageant of modern times.

Scotland's National Drink.

One of the grossest misconceptions from which Scotland suffers in the south is that her national drink is, and always has been, whisky. But it is just as untrue—neither more or less—as that the national garb of Scotland is the kilt. Whisky, like the kilt, is a purely Celtic or Highland product, and up to the middle of the eighteenth century it was just as familiar in the Lowlands as the clan tartan. It was only after the '45 that the Highlanders began to settle in the Lowlands, and bring their whisky with them, but before that the national drink of the Lowlands, who constitute the bulk and backbone of the nation, had been ale. Tam o' Shanter and Souter Johnny got "roarin' fou"—not on whisky, but on strong beer.

The night drave on w' sangs and clatter, And ay the ale was growing better.

—London Chronicle.

When the Liver is out of Order

calomel, cascara, salts, strong liver pills and purging mineral waters won't do any permanent good.

When a person is bilious, the liver is not giving up enough bile to move the bowels regularly—and some of the bile is being absorbed by the blood. In other words, the liver is in a weakened, unhealthy condition.

Now, purgatives don't act on the liver at all. They merely irritate the bowels, and afford only temporary relief. But FRUIT-A-TIVES are the one true LIVER TONIC. They act directly on the liver—strengthen and invigorate this vital organ—and put it in a normal, healthy condition.

FRUIT-A-TIVES also stimulate the glands of the skin—and regulate the kidneys and sweeten the stomach. When skin, liver and kidneys are normally healthy, there can be no biliousness, no constipation, no kidney trouble, no impure blood, no headaches.

No other medicine known to science is so reliable and so effective in curing Biliousness as these fruit liver tablets.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are fruit juices with tonics added—and are free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. 50c. a box or 6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price, if your druggist does not handle them.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIMITED, OTTAWA.

Expert Advice.

Nervous Passenger—And what should we do if the bottom of the elevator fell out?

Stolid Elevator Man—Keep your seats, please.

Durable. Mother—Why are you crying, dear?

Daughter—Boohoo! I made Henry some crullers, and he was tickled to death.

Mother—Why, my child, then you should be laughing instead of weeping.

Daughter—No, he said he was tickled because they would make such beautiful brown rings for the curtain poles.—Chicago News.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce's is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic cough, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above natural roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles, and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession.
