

"I'LL FIX HIM."

Joseph Ward Charged With Murdering Alex. Warwick.

The Fatal Push That Resulted in Death.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) London, Ont., April 12.—Joseph Ward was given his preliminary hearing this morning before Magistrate Love on a charge of murdering Alexander Warwick, in the Morkin House, on Saturday, April 3rd, and the case was adjourned for a week. The evidence was to the effect that Ward was noticeably drunk and Warwick sober. Warwick met Ward at the hotel door and asked him if he wanted to fight, Ward said, "Yes, I'll fight you," and tripped him. This angered Warwick, and when Ward went into the hotel he followed him, saying, "I'll fix him." He stood in the doorway leading to the basement, and when Ward pushed him he fell down. The evidence showed that other persons have fallen down the stairway at different times and have been injured.

OSTEOPATHY CONVENTION.

Eighth Annual Meeting Opened in Royal This Morning.

The eighth semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Osteopathy convened this morning in one of the parlors of the Royal Hotel. About thirty doctors from different parts of Ontario were present. The President, Dr. E. B. Henderson, of Toronto, introduced Rev. Dr. Williamson, pastor of Emerald Street Methodist Church, who led the association in prayer. His Worship Mayor McLaren was then introduced and gave an address of welcome, assuring them that the city was at their disposal. He welcomed this phase of medical practice, which he felt sure would soon grow to large proportions in Canada. He recognized the practice of osteopathy as a natural treatment, and wondered that the world had been so long in discovering the benefits of it.

The address of the Mayor was received with much enthusiasm, and in his reply the President, Dr. Henderson, was very happy. He referred to the growth of osteopathy in Ontario. He said that there were only two doctors in the whole Province, now some forty are practising here. Then everybody looked on them with either suspicion or ridicule, often asking questions as to whether osteopathy was not a kind of Christian Science or divine healing or something of that kind. That has passed away and osteopathy is being understood, especially by the more intellectual and educated classes of the community. He predicted a very great degree of success for osteopathy in this land. A great and beautiful field of operation in this country was opening up before the profession.

The vice-president of the association is Dr. Jas. S. Bach, of Toronto, and the secretary is Dr. Edgar D. Heist, of Berlin.

The association will continue its sessions this afternoon, when a large number of subjects will be discussed by the doctors present.

Dr. Hugh L. Russell, of Buffalo, gave an address on "Nobility of the Profession of Osteopathy" this morning.

The addresses of this afternoon included: "Things That Help and Things That Hinder the Progress of Our Science," Dr. Asa Gordon Williams, of Toronto; "Clinics—Costal Lesions," by Dr. H. L. Russell, Buffalo, N. Y.; "Osteopathy in Diseases of the Heart," Dr. Geo. Wenig, Hamilton; "Appendicitis," Dr. J. T. Atkinson, Brantford; "Prophylaxis," Dr. W. O. Lewis, Hamilton; "Methods in Examination," Dr. F. White, London, and Dr. J. N. MacRae, Galt; "Causes in Diseases of Women," Dr. M. L. Heist, Berlin, Ont.

A SAD DEATH.

Well-Known Young Barrister Died in Toronto This Morning.

After a lengthy illness with pneumonia Mr. Hugh Harry Bicknell passed away this morning in Toronto at his home, Huron street. Deceased was well known in this city, having been prominently identified in law for a number of years. He was born in Hamilton on Dec. 14, 1873, and was the youngest son of James Bicknell, sen. Mr. Bicknell practised here about three years, and then joined Mr. W. M. McClelland, the firm being known as McClelland & Bicknell. On Nov. 1 of last year the partnership was dissolved and he joined the firm of Bicknell, Bain & Strathairn, in Toronto. About four years ago deceased married Miss Kappele, daughter of Mr. Daniel Kappele, Grant avenue. He is survived by a widow and two children, twin daughters, aged two years. He was prominent in Masonic circles, and had a large number of friends in this city, who will sincerely regret his untimely demise. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but it is likely the remains will be brought here for interment.

WON'T RESIGN.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley on Charges of Commission.

If Asked When Testifying Would He Have Explained All.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, Ont., April 12.—Hon. William Pugsley has returned to Ottawa from St. John. When his attention was called to the reports printed in the Conservative press that as the result of the findings of the commission which inquired into the affairs of the Central Railway he would tender his resignation from the Cabinet Mr. Pugsley replied that he sees no reason why he should resign. The finding of the commission was based on insufficient evidence and the points which they criticised could be explained.

There was no reason why the commission should not have had the evidence before them. Had he been given opportunity he could have explained fully the $134,000 which the commission reported to have been misappropriated when he was on the stand. The commission, at least Mr. H. A. Howell, who was the not appear to want any information that they could get when attempting to deal with what went to the making up of this $134,000.

Mr. Pugsley said that his evidence had been cut short by Mr. Howell, who had said on these points the commission had all of the things that they wanted, and started out on a search for the man. Without lanterns this was a hard job. The cricket fields were thoroughly covered, but without result, and when the patrol was going down Caroline street (Chickadee) street, a Fox, a man coming towards the wagon on Charlton avenue who looked like his acquaintance of the evening. The officers saw that he was minus his coat, and that his vest was badly torn, so they took after him and put the handcuffs on him after a short chase. The prisoner was identified by Fox as the burglar. He seemed to be completely disheartened, and practically admitted to the officers that he was the man wanted. His vest was torn in half and a piece of it was draped over his shoulder. The prisoner was slightly intoxicated. The police think he was hidden in the Cricket Grounds and, after watching their search, he got out of the bushes, and made a break to get away before the place was surrounded and a general alarm given. Later in the morning the prisoner denied that he had been on Locke street that night.

Hans as Alexander Findlay, said he lived in a boathouse and cottage combined on the old Guelph road below the high level bridge. The officers went out there and searched the place, and found nothing but ordinary tools for carpentering and digging. The car door of Mr. Fox's house was examined yesterday, and it was discovered that a catch to hold the door shut had been wrenched off and the man was ready to enter when he made the noise which aroused the tenants.

Robert Neville, 161 Gibson avenue, was charged by his wife with failing to support her. She said he would not live with her except one or two days, when she wrote to him telling him she was lonely and he went back, and lost his job through staying with her when he should have been working. That was his reason for not supporting her, and the Magistrate adjourned the case for a week to give the pair a chance to figure out better home hours and live together peaceably.

Margaret Pettie, 158 Canada street, was arrested by Constable Robson last night, and charged with vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty. The officer said he saw her in the company of some men Saturday evening and early Sunday morning, when he arrested her. She was with two other men who were drunk, and was trying to get into a hotel with them.

"That drunken man was my husband," she said indignantly.

"She's single, your Worship," said Robson. "And I know the man; he's single, too."

"You're fined $2 for being drunk, and if you are arrested again for being on the streets at night you'll be sent down," was his Worship's ultimatum.

Charles Jackson, 66 Cheever street, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly Saturday night. He was in for drunkenness Friday night. On Saturday he kicked over a peanut stand, and this morning was fined $3. John Daley, East avenue north, was arrested Saturday for being drunk, got out on bail Sunday, and didn't show up this morning. His $5 bail was collected by the city.

A charge of assault was laid against Findlay by Fox, but when the former pleaded guilty to the more serious charge the minor charge was dropped.

While unloading wire at the Canada Screw Company's works on Saturday afternoon a fall fell from A. Melvaodice, 6 Emily street, a teamster, and rendered him unconscious. He was taken to the City Hospital, where it was discovered that he had three broken ribs and an injury to his spine. The injuries were dressed and he was resting easily today. It is likely he will recover.
