Don't place the address so there will be no room for the postmark.

Don't fail in the hurry of business, to write the name of the Province or State you intend and not your own—a very common error.

Only Two.

As the season for athletic sports advances, and as we know the crop of accidents will be large, what is said by Mr. Louis Rush, 49 Preston street, Detroit, Mich., U. S. A., ought to have due weight. "While pitching ball, he says, "I strained my arm. Two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me."

Nothing is more indicative of the selfish greed of man than the numerous pockets in his clothes.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellegg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Arrested for Shooting.

On Saturday Detective Allen arrested John Medge, of this city, on a charge of shooting and wounding William Lamberton. Medge was also charged with "shooting with intent" at George DesWarwick. It appears the two boys, Lamberton and DesWarwick, went about five miles out of town to the Gore of London, where they entered an orchard belonging to Medge's father-in-law. Medge, it is alleged, was concealed in a barn near the orchard and opened fire on the lads with a revolver, wounding Lamberton in the foot. Detective Allen secured Medge and his pistol and brought his prisoner before Squire Smyth, who remanded him for a week.

A Great Attraction at the Grand.

Theater goers will have a rare attraction at the Grand Opera House the first three nights of this week. The clever and effervescent Vernona Jarbeau assisted by her talented company, will present that bright and sparkling musical farce comedy, "Starlight." Speaking of her recent appearance in New York the Herald says: "Miss Jarbeau was on the stage nearly all the time, singing, dancing, working hard and working well, and earning the applause she received. The company is one of the best of its kind. There were thirteen young women in the cast, pretty and well dressed. There were three comedians who were the cause of unceasing merriment. Altogether the performance was excellent, and we hope that Miss Jarbeau, if she must leave us, will not stay away long." The New York Clipper says: "The farce serves Miss Jarbeau's purpose admirably. It gives plenty of scope for the display of her versatility and general brightness. The pretty little comedienne skips and warbles through the three acts with merry abandon and delicious abandon. Miss Jarbeau is wonderfully active and volatile, and she possesses a remarkably rich soprano voice. A veritable rose garden was passed over the footlights to her, and marks of approval were frequent and hearty. Unlike most farcical stars, Miss Jarbeau does not usurp her vehicle. She has an excellent company and she gives each member a good chance to display whatever talents they may possess."

Woman's Good Work

Mrs. Boomer and Mrs. Finkle represented the diocese of Huron at the second triennial meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Domestic and Foreign Mission Board of the Church of England in Canada held in Montreal last week. The treasurer's report showed a marked increase in funds since the last triennial meeting in 1889. Then the receipts amounted to $27,812; this year they were $44,480. The secretary, Mrs. Leach, reported a corresponding increase in membership. Three years ago there were only 194 auxiliaries; now there were 564. The total membership then was 2,927; now it was 9,129. The auxiliary was addressed by Dr. Mockridge, secretary of the Board of Domestic and Foreign Missions, on behalf of the Church Magazine and Mission News. He sketched the financial struggle it had gone through, and urged the ladies to interest themselves in its circulation. Mrs. Boomer in a strongly worded paper pleaded the claims of the missionary diocese of Algoma. The field was an especially hard one. So great were the distances and so few were the people to do the needed work that every little while one of their few workers broke down. And now their loved bishop was prostrated, and nothing but a long period of absolute rest would restore him to even a measure of his usual health again. Mrs. Tilton read a petition from British Columbia appealing for the work among the Chinese in Victoria, of whom there were between 3,000 and 4,000. Harrowing details of the iniquitous traffic in Chinese girls were constantly being brought under their notice. The great need just now was for a building where the rescued ones could be sheltered.

DOWN AT WONDERLAND.

Annual Regatta of the London Rowing Club.

Pleasant Afternoon Sport Enjoyed by a Big Crowd—Various Races and the Winning Oarsmen—A Successful Affair.

The London Rowing Club held their second annual regatta down the river Saturday afternoon. Last year this event was looked forward to with a good deal of pleasure, and nobody was disappointed. The same thing happened on Saturday. Although the club was somewhat handicapped by the illness or absence from the city of a number of members who were to have participated in the races, some excellent sport was provided. There was a large crowd of Londoners at Wonderland and a pleasant afternoon was spent. The river was dotted with craft of every description, from canoes and row boats to Captain Foster's steamer. The boathouse proprietors did a rushing business and so did Captain Foster, whose steamer was crowded on both trips. The excellent band of No. 1 Company, C. R. I., provided music on the grounds during the afternoon.

The course ended at Wonderland and started about half a mile east of there, where Mr. Geo. A. Macbeth was stationed as starter. J. Kilgour was captain of the fours, George D. Sutherland judge, and M. J. Kent referee.

The first event was for the four-oared crews. H. J. Sherriff (stroke), William Eardley, W. F. Cooper and Harry Brunton and Alex. Furness (coxswain), succeeded in easily defeating Geo. Gillespie (stroke), J. H. Brown, W. Smith, and John Glass and Chas. E. Hutchinson (coxwain). The winners were three lengths ahead at the finish and were pulling easily.

The next race was for single outriggers. F. Ball and Chas. Blynn were the only competitors. The latter's arm went wrong—so he says—and he was not in the race at all. He came in second, however, amidst great applause.

Then came the doubles. "Biily" Holman and Geo. Gillespie occupied one outrigger and H. J. Sherriff and Wm. Eardley the other. "Billy's" ability as an oarsman is well known, and of course a good race was looked for. He, however, was not in his usual health, and in fact had been ordered by his physician not to race This was an interesting event. Sherriff and Eardley kept the lead from the start and finished a length ahead.

The second race for four-oared crews followed and was the event of the day, The crews were: Chas. Blynn, W. F. Holman, J. Kilgour, and C. E. Hutchinson and Alex. Furness (stroke), H. J. Sherriff, Wm. Eardley, W. F. Cooper and Harry Brunton and Ed. Barker (coxswain). From beginning to end it was a keenly contested race. Fifty yards from the finish the former crew were about three yards behind, but they were gaining rapidly and pulling perfectly. When the shot was fired at the finish they were less than a foot behind Sherriff's crew, who won the race. The applause was deafening as the two crews ceased pulling.

The last of the programme was a race between F. Ball and Harry Brunton and W. Eardley and H. J. Sherriff in double outriggers. The former won handily.

The day's sport was over and soon Wonderland was deserted. The river was dotted with boats on the way up and everybody was in good spirits after a pleasant afternoon's sport. Considering the many difficulties attendant on getting up the regatta the London Rowing Club have reason to congratulate themselves on its success.

Rev. William Hollinshed, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Sparta, N. J., voluntarily writes strongly in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. He says: "Nothing I know of will cleanse the blood, stimulate the liver or clean the stomach like this remedy. I know of scores and scores who have been helped or cured by it."

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient, action. d

Wanted to be Quiet.

"What is that strange panting sound that comes from the room next to me?" asked the boarder, who had advertised for a quiet room.

"Oh, that is Mr. Slim taking his breathing lessons," answered the landlady.

"But the thumps and noises at night overhead?"

"Two of my Y. M. C. A. boarders have that room, and they practice gymnastics."

"And the man that runs up and down the hall?"

"Mr. De Garry, the sprinter, practicing his gait."

"Well, well, I can get along with them. But there's a baby yells somewhere for hours at a time, and it's simply maddening."

"There isn't a baby in the house, sir."

"Not in the room across the hall?"

"Oh, that is little Miss Loo Loo, the actress. That's only the stage baby. She has to see that it's perfect in its parts, and winds it up for rehearsal."

"Thanks. I guess I'll move to some private asylum. There are too many lunatics in this one for my comfort," and he paid his reckoning and renewed his search for a quiet room.

Misplaced Bragging.

He was a very tired looking man. Dejection was written on every line of his face, and as I was a stranger in the village with nothing to do and no one to talk to I relieved my own pentup spirits by expressing my sympathy with him in his troubles, whatever they were.

"Thanks," he said. "My chief trouble seems to be that I am an idiot from Idiotville, and that is incurable. I just got into a braggin' match with a stranger up in the postoffice. He bet he was richer'n I was, and I took him up, just for a bluff. I told him everything I had, an' more, too; and after awhile he gave in, sayin' as how he wouldn't have thought it. Then I said I'd swear to it, 'n' he said all right, an' I did, and by thunder who do you suppose he was?"

"I don't know," I answered. "Who?"

"The tax assessor!" he moaned.

It was certainly a case of hard luck.

More care should be used in the purchase of flavoring extracts, and consumers should demand good quality rather than quantity. If this were done, fewer complaints about the nasty taste of cakes, puddings and sauce would be heard of at home. Many of the low-grade compounds sold are little less than poisonous. You are sure to get pure flavoring extracts by using "Pure Gold" extracts—warranted pure. f
