Side trips from Ogden, Utah or Pocatello, Idaho, via Monticello and Monida and Yellowstone Stage Company, in both directions, will be furnished holders of all tickets (one way first and second class, regular tourist or special round trip excursion tickets), sold at Denver, Cheyenne and points east, passing through Ogden or Pocatello, in the States of California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, and that part of British Columbia lying north of the State of Washington, upon application to O. John Torrance, manager of the Dominion Line at Montreal, says he knows nothing whatever about the talk of absorption of that line into the Morgan combine of steamships.

"BED-RIDDEN FOR YEARS"
Such cases are not hopeless when the right treatment is resorted to. The American Rheumatic Cure has cured hundreds of so-called "incurable" cases in six hours.

The marvelous curative power and effectiveness of South American Rheumatic Cure is in the quickness with which it acts and the almost "lightning change" for the better in the Rheumatic Victim after taking a few doses. It seems next to incredible—but there is no deception—its work is apparent, and every step toward recovery is a permanent one. History repeats itself daily in this wonderful treatment—it never fails.

MR. STRATTON AT PETERBORO

Provincial Secretary Replies to Mr. Whitney.

Many Conservative Inconsistencies Plainly Pointed Out.

The Appeal to Put Down Corruption Dealt With—Attitude Towards New Ontario—Mr. Marter's Bolt.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, provincial secretary, visited Peterboro Saturday evening. At his large committee rooms he met a gathering of between four and five hundred of his working supporters, and received exceedingly encouraging reports of the work done during his week of absence.

Mr. Stratton addressed the meeting at some length. Among other things he dealt with some of the recent utterances of Mr. Whitney, the leader of the opposition. Dealing with Mr. Whitney's remarks at Brampton to the effect that persons who said that the opposition had no policy "did not know what the word policy meant," Mr. Whitney said that he had consulted a dictionary, and had found that the word had several meanings, such as "finesse," "artifice," "cunning," and in this sense it must be admitted that the Conservatives have a policy. "Free as air."

CONSERVATIVE LACK OF POLICY.
As a sample of the lack of policy in the general acceptance of the term, Mr. Whitney's proposition in regard to the development of power at Niagara Falls might instructively be contrasted with the proposition that all the waterpower of Niagara Falls and other places should be developed by the government and supplied to the municipalities and individuals at a slight advance on cost. That was what he wished his Brampton auditors to believe was the policy which his party had advocated, but speaking at Niagara Falls during the bye-election of 1900, Mr. Whitney, seeing apparently the party capital he could make out of such a statement, advocated that the town of Niagara Falls should have the power "free as air." His words were: "It should be free, and anything that was ever in his power to make it free should be done."

This position had been taken in a constituency which would at once be benefited by the proposal, and at a time when Mr. Whitney and his party would be benefited in a party sense. The people interested only as citizens, Mr. Whitney proposed to make the consumers contribute to the public treasury. If such utterances could be taken as indicating a policy of any kind it is in the worst sense of the word, artifice and cunning. (Hear, hear.)

INCONSISTENT CONSERVATIVES.
After referring to Mr. Whitney's remarks respecting New Ontario, and criticizing his extraordinary position in regard to the report of the financial commission, Mr. Stratton referred to the question of prohibition and the referendum. He pointed out the inconsistent position some Conservatives were taking—Dr. Ford, for the opposition, candidate in East Peterboro, a professed temperance man of 30 years' standing, speaking in favor of prohibition and temperance on the one hand, and on the other hand, a pronounced opponent of prohibition in any form; and Mr. Miller, in West Peterboro, speaking upon the same platform with Mr. Ford, who was also a professed temperance man, and who was also a pronounced opponent of prohibition in any form. These gentlemen would support Mr. Whitney on everything but temperance, but in that they would only answer to their own consciences.

It was further pointed out that the only reason for the referendum was to have one policy and their leaders another. (Hear, hear.) But perhaps these gentlemen thought that that was a policy. These gentlemen have overreached themselves. They are trying to play on the voters, and it will fail. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

WHEN MR. WHITNEY SNEERED.
Referring to Mr. Whitney's Port Hope speech, Mr. Stratton dealt with the opposition leaders' attitude towards the referendum. He pointed out that Mr. Whitney's proposal respecting remount stations, Canadian nickel for the British navy, etc. These were merely advisory efforts to induce the mother country to make use of our resources and thus benefit this province. If Mr. Whitney had loyally joined the premier in urging these things upon the home government the results might have been more favorable—at any rate the opposition leader would have shown that he was patriotic enough to do something to help his province, which would have been a much more creditable position than sneering at the effort, and gloating over what he calls the failure of the premier to advance the interests of Ontario.

DEVELOPMENT OF NEW ONTARIO.
In his sneering way Mr. Whitney had said at Port Hope that there would be much beating of drums over New Ontario, but Mr. Stratton said, he would find that there would be much beating of his chest over New Ontario; the people would not sympathize with an attitude of antagonism and obstruction to the measures of development to which the Ross Government was committed. On the contrary, the people would not sympathize with the opposition that 25 years ago Mr. Ross had not a very high opinion of New Ontario. Mr. Ross did not know very much about it then, but he never said so far as to sneer at it as "land of the educated popular" (Hear, hear.) When Premier Ross came into power he explored the new territory, and he found it marvelously rich in soil, timber and minerals, and had put into motion a vigorous policy of development. (Hear, hear.) In respect of New Ontario Mr. Ross and his colleagues had faith in their power to have its resources developed for the sake of the millions of revenue that it would yield and the millions of dollars of trade which it would attract. On the contrary, Mr. Whitney had no faith in the country and could not be expected to do more than be consistent with the record of the opposition, which had sympathized with the Dominion Government's attempt to rob us of this territory. (Hear, hear.)

MR. WHITNEY'S INNOCENCE.
On another occasion Mr. Whitney, in company with his rival for the opposition leadership, Mr. Carscallen, of the Ontario Conservative Party, met at Stony Creek on the 16th. Mr. Whitney then repeated his appeal to the clergy, to the religious press, to the moral and right-thinking element of the community, not to vote for the party in power in order to suppress corruption. In view of the admitted facts of history and in view of the record of the party of which he is leader in this province, Mr. Whitney's appeal was a ludicrous one. Did he suppose that the class to whom he so specially appealed took so little interest in public affairs that they had never heard of the scandal of the Ontario Conservative Party? Did he imagine that they were ignorant as to the carnival of corruption which prevailed at Ottawa during the latter part of the Conservative rule—that they knew nothing of the scandal of the Ontario Conservative Party?
