CANADA'S CATTLE SCHEDULE

A QUARANTINE OF 90 DAYS ON ALL NEAR STOCK

This Applies to Every Port in the Dominion and Includes Settlers Effects—McCarthy's Northwest Bill to Get a Six Months' Hold—Meredith May Become a Cabinet Minister.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—An order-in-council was passed yesterday taking from the Minister of Agriculture the power conferred on him by the cattle quarantine regulations of 1884 and 1887, allowing certain cattle under certain conditions, to take their stock into Manitoba and the Northwest without undergoing the 90-day quarantine.

It will be remembered that one of the excesses made by Mr. Herbert Gardiner, President of the Imperial Board of Agriculture, for continuing the embargo against Canadian cattle was that settlers from the United States were allowed to bring cattle into the Northwest without embargoing, and this action has no doubt been taken by the Minister of Agriculture to disannul this objection. The cattle quarantine regulations in power in Canada are now, therefore, also subject to the same quarantine of 90 days on all next cattle entering the Dominion along the whole frontier from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

FIGHTERS FOR HOME RULE IN IRELAND WANT FUNDS

A Long and Desperate Campaign Anticipated—Aid Asked From the United States, Canada and Australia—It is Probable That These Three Countries Will Now be Visited by Cassaveres.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The following address has been issued by Justin McCarthy and other Irish Nationalist leaders: To our Kinsmen and to all Friends of Ireland in the United States, Canada and Australia:

We have reached the most crucial moment in the history of Ireland's long struggle for her rights. The Premier of England, the leader of the Government and the party ruling the British Empire, has brought in a Home Rule bill which forms the basis of a new constitution for Ireland. This bill is a gross insult to the Irish people and to the British Empire.

In this, as in many other respects, the settlement of 1833 placed Ireland on a higher national plane than that of 1858. It increases her place in the Governments of the world and offers more solid guarantees of the fulfillment of the great contract between her and Great Britain. The representatives of Ireland have accepted without hesitation the constitution proposed in the bill as a fitting consummation of the sacrifices and labors of the Irish race for so many centuries. They believe they could regard the enactment of the measure as a final and triumphant close to a long, bloody and sorrowful struggle.

Certain To Pass. The enemies of Ireland do not yet, however, acknowledge that the end has come, and assured, although they know that the bill is certain to pass the House of Commons by an unbroken majority, and that a majority of the popular chamber is always ultimately enacted into law. They have not yet learned the lesson that a majority of the popular chamber is always ultimately enacted into law.

We cannot, therefore, disregard the possibility of a long and desperate struggle. The friends and friends in all parts of the world. It is only from people of our own blood and from American sympathizers with our principles that we have secured or accepted assistance.

We make an appeal to the same tried friends—more confidently on the morrow of the day when by a vote unanimous and unchallenged the House of Commons has stamped upon the United States, the independence of the Irish Nationalist movement and the independence of the British administration.

The Dominant Factor. In the struggle of 14 years ago the dominant factor next to the courage and tenacity of our people at home has been financial assistance from our kindred and friends beyond the seas. Our nations, reduced to poverty by long centuries of misgovernment under a tyrannical and despotic rule, were unable to carry on the struggle. It was only by the aid of our friends in America that we were able to continue our fight.

For all these years I have patiently and in exile striven to fit myself for my return to my native country. SMALLEY BOBS UP

And Cables That England Is Indifferent to Any Attempt to Annex Canada to the United States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A London cable finds now and then to cast a glance at the big colony across the Atlantic and to note the progress of Canadian opinion towards union with the United States. It is commonly held in some circles that Professor Goldwin Smith will fix England's gaze.

Surprisingly it is not to the native-born citizen of the Dominion, Professor Goldwin Smith, who is after all but an immigrant, in their most attractive figure. He is also in the opinion of a London paper, which, unlike many of its contemporary, really has opinions, a surprising figure.

He surprises The Chronicle because, while a professor friend of England, he is at the same time a friend of the United States. That fact has made its way over here. The Chronicle, which is in favor of the annexation of Canada to the United States, is opposed to disunion as between England and Canada.

He has grown bald and round-shouldered, his face has lost all color and his eyes are weary. During the last half hour he was touching his lips almost constantly to a water glass. His voice trembled and several times he almost inhaled.

Once he had almost inhaled, he was quickly to his feet and his face showed signs of suffering, but he gradually regained his composure and continued to speak with his full, usual voice. Although his speech was somewhat hurried, it was full of vigor and his eye-brilliance of argument and invective.

A CASE FOR THE CORONER.

WHAT CAUSED THE DEATH OF MAURICE BLUMBY?

ADOLESCENT CIGAR MAKER SPIRES SODDENLY AND THE DOCTOR WHO IS SUMMONED REFUSES TO ISSUE A DEATH CERTIFICATE—RELATIVES OF THE DEAD DEMAND AN INQUEST.

MAURICE BLUMBY, aged 28, a cigarmaker residing at 414 Adelaide-street west with his wife and four children, died at his home yesterday morning a few minutes before 10 o'clock.

Dr. McMahon had been summoned, and arrived just after he had ceased breathing. The physician resorted to artificial respiration for 30 minutes, but was unsuccessful, and pronounced life extinct. He found the body of the deceased in a healthy and well-nourished condition, and was totally at a loss to explain the cause of death. There were no external marks of violence and no symptoms of disease.

The wife of the deceased told Dr. McMahon that her husband had not been ill at all, but had been badly intoxicated the day before.

Under these circumstances, especially as the parties were unknown to Dr. McMahon, he refused to give a certificate of death and notified Coroner Atkins, who will confer with Crown Attorney Deane this morning as to the advisability of holding an inquest.

A brother and the father-in-law of the deceased also called on Coroner Atkins and demanded an inquest, claiming that there were good grounds for suspecting foul play—that husband and wife had lived unhappily and that they had heard persons make use of the expression that they wished he was dead.

MRS. GORMLEY TOOK POISON.

She Then Sent a Telegram to Her Husband Saying That She Was Dying—Her Landlady Denies the Story.

Last May Alexander Gormley, the son of a well-known farmer residing near Pickering, married a woman in the city to whom his family strongly objected, because she had a past history. Gormley's father was so enraged when the news was conveyed to him that he resolved to cut the erring son off from his patrimony and had nothing further to do with him.

Alexander's brothers, however, sympathized with him in his trouble and finally prevailed upon him to leave his wife and return home, where he remained for some time, in fact up to within three weeks ago, when he left home and returned to Mrs. Gormley. On Saturday morning his brothers telegraphed him to meet them at the station and Mrs. Gormley has not seen her husband since.

Saturday evening, surmising that his brother-in-law had been shot, her husband to leave her, Mrs. Gormley, becoming desperate, resolved to resort to extreme measures, and it is alleged swallowed a dose of poison.

A telegram was sent from the house to Pickering Saturday night stating that the woman was dead. The telegram was signed by Mrs. Caldwell, author boarder at the house, No. 183 Richmond-street. Mrs. Caldwell is a well-known character in the city and is well known to the police and the other boarders that her life was saved.

A brother and the father-in-law of the deceased also called on Coroner Atkins and demanded an inquest, claiming that there were good grounds for suspecting foul play—that husband and wife had lived unhappily and that they had heard persons make use of the expression that they wished he was dead.

DR. ALLEN ON THE CARPET.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE WHICH INVESTIGATED THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT WILL MAKE A REPORT FAVORABLE TO THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

It is now a generally acknowledged fact that the special meeting of the council called for this evening is for the purpose of the investigation of the health department by its sub-committee into the manner in which the Health Department has been conducting its affairs.

The board itself is summoned to assemble this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the sub-committee's report will be presented and action taken thereon.

It is understood that the report of the sub-committee will be unfavorable to the officials. In Dr. Tweedie of the Isolation Hospital is raised over the costs for not remitting all moneys received to the Treasury Department at once.

The doctor appears, he had received some $600 from patients who were able to pay for their maintenance, and out of this he had expended about $100 for sundry small articles which were urgently needed at the time in the Isolation Hospital. Upon an audit taking possession of the books the balance of the moneys was promptly turned over. The point the investigating committee make here is that the moneys should have been turned over to the treasurer as soon as received, and all money needed for expenditures should have been secured through the usual routine channels.
