

cure some good Ayrshires. After harvest he goes to Scotland in search of Shorthorns. The report that the celebrated Shorthorn bull, Judge, was sold to Mr. Watt, of Salem, Ont., is erroneous. Judge still remains at the head of the herd at Prairie Home."

J. H. JULL & SON, Mount Vernon, Ont., whose advertisement appears in this issue writes us as follows: "Oxfords Downs are doing well although the long drought has shortened pasture, in fact, everything seems dried up until this week we had two fine showers so that you can see a greenness over the fields. We have a fine bunch of ram and ewe lambs from our two imported rams. We will attend the leading fall fairs and have sent a full set of fitted show lots to Ohio to be exhibited at all leading shows in that State and several single ones to other parties. Call at sheep pens Toronto or London Exhibition Grounds and inspect our stock."

JOHN CAMPBELL, Fairview Farm, Woodville, Ont., reports that his importation of Shropshires will arrive at his Canadian quarters about the 13th of August. The fifty coming, with the hundred on hand, make up the largest and best all round lot hitherto seen at Fairview. As he handles the surplus from several customers' flocks in his vicinity who have purchased their foundation ewes from him, and have used rams of his importing or breeding, parties wanting good, well-bred sheep at a medium price can be well suited. For breeders wanting specially good rams or ewes the Fairview flock, so carefully bred for nearly twenty years, reinforced by a very excellent lot of imported rams and ewes, furnish material to please the most critical breeders. An exhibit will be placed in the pens of the leading fairs. Till then customers are welcome to inspect for themselves at Fairview Farm, and at the fairs the owner will be pleased to give all possible attention to seekers of high-class Shropshires. The show lot of thirty will not disappoint any one wanting to see or purchase strictly choice Shropshires.
