

The Markets.

Barley.

There have been some inquiries here from United States malsters, but no bids have been made. Samples of new grain are coming in; some is stained, some light and not a few samples of very good heavy grain have been received. Cars of feed wheat are quoted at 28c.

The stocks in store at Toronto on Aug. 21st were 45,106 bush against 30,010 bush last year.

The visible supply in Canada and the United States is 93,000 bush., against 422,000 bush. in 1893 and 336,000 bush. in 1892.

Hops.

No inquiries of importance have been reported, but in a week or two new some movement may be expected. Meantime prices remain practically unaltered from last week.

The 1893 season, now drawing to a close, has been full of disappointments. The new crop last year was fully 10 per cent. less than that of 1892, and yet, with comparatively no surplus carried over, the market has throughout the year been a falling one. A cause can be found only in a decreased consumption of beer, due to the general depression and a plethora of industrial disturbances. The prospects for the growing crop are, from a buyer's standpoint, very favorable. Reports from the Pacific coast, including British Columbia, where the acreage is being rapidly increased, indicate a crop fully 15 per cent. in advance of last year. The New York State hop yards are, as a rule, in excellent condition. From England reports are not so favorable, vermin having made their appearance, while recent unfavorable weather has caused much in some districts. With the one exception of Belgium, where vermin are doing much damage, the continent promises a large yield, and the quality of German hops will in all probability be excellent. The question of future prices is full of uncertainty, but with an improved industrial situation large crops may not mean low prices.—Montreal Times.
