Thot on the attitude of the churches generally is the of indifference or how tility, more or less pronounced, to th Labor Reform movement in its broader aspects, it is gratifying to note an ineasing number of exceptions. 1n pleasing contrast to the truculent antagonism of the Christian towarden. to which reference was made in our last issue, is a paper which appears in the current number of the Canadian Methodist Quarterly, by Mr. Albert R Carman, on "The Gospel of Justice, which is a very radical deliverance on the social question. It boldly faces the issue as to the duty of the church to among the people, pointing out that theuted rader of Christianity did not hesitate to arraign in the most scathing and forcible language the scribes and Pharisees and those who oppressed the This boldness in neonie justice and denouncing robbery and workingmen are becoming alienated from an institution which they look upon as immical to their interes

The writer considers that Christi anity was not meant to be merely an alleriation of the ills of life, but a cure. "It is not," he says, "intended to merely patch the fabric here and oil grind and creak and blunder on without utter collapse; but it is capable of making out of present materials an ideal world in which every man, woman and child will be just where, in divine justice and infinite love, they ought to be. There is no wrong or injustice in the universe for which Christianity has not an abandant remedy. Christianity that has not these attributes" he goes on to say, "must be a failure and a Christianity that is a
