

ST. AGATHA'S GUILD.

GIRLS' BRANCH OF W. A. ST. GEORGE'S.

In presenting the sixth annual report of the Girls' Auxiliary, and fourteenth annual report of St. Agatha's Guild, I beg to call attention to the progress made by the society during the year.

Twenty-eight meetings were held, with an average attendance of twenty-one out of a total membership of fifty.

On June 13th, 1898, the Guild closed for the summer with their annual tea.

On October 3rd the Guild held the first winter meeting, and a week later (October 10th) an opening service was held in the Church.

In the month of November a parlour concert was held at the home of Miss Williamson, one of our members. No admission fee was charged, a silver collection being taken up.

In Christmas week there was sent out the usual bale of goods to Mr. Hay at Murillo, Algoma. The Sunday School Christmas entertainment was also under the direction of the Guild, and the same society presented the Sunday School with the gas fixtures in the class room.

In February, the Girls' Auxiliaries of St. James' and St. Thomas' were invited to a supper in the school-house, when music and refreshments were provided.

During this month permission was asked of the Rector to have associated with the Guild a Mission band composed of the younger girls in the Parish who are attending school and unable to take up the work in the evenings; the result being a very satisfactory junior auxiliary.

On March 13th, Miss Alice Turner, matron of the Blackfoot Hospital, visited the Guild and gave an interesting account of the work among the Indians, showing some curiosities of Indian manufacture.

At the last meeting in March it was brought to the attention of the Guild that Miss Street was to be made a Life member of the Woman's Auxiliary, and the Guild, recognizing the work of Miss Street, and her interest in all the meetings, took the necessary steps to assist in bringing about this most desirable and well-merited recognition of past services.

On St. Agatha's Day, which fell on a Sunday this year, all the members of the Guild who were able to attend, received the Holy Communion.
