FOR THE TRUE WITNESS. THE EVENING STAR.

- A war knight mailed in gleaming gold, Stands nightly heaven's bright sentinel. A soldier vigilant and bold, Whom fire-clad foes can not excel.
- A palace for some bero soul Whom earthly sorrows ne'er appalled; A shrine of glory flames that goal, Pearl-portailed, sapphire-walled.
- A lamp to illumine the dusk
 Of tender memory's far off years:
 And once again we breathe the musk
 Of youth, while thought now wounds, now cheers.

A blessed tayer held aloft
To light some 'franchised soul to heaven:
peath's darkness passed, earth's garments

doffed,
She mounts above the star of even. An image faint, and dim, and pale, Of our Marie Immaculée. New Star of Jacob, thee we hall, Lead us to immortality.

FARMERS' COLUMN.

ALL ABOUT SHEEP

How to Have the Beautiful and the Useful Go Together

Below will be found the substance of a paper written by Casins M. Clay, of Kentucky, for the meeting of the American Southdown association, lately held in Chicago.

They require high, well-drained soils and always green food. In cold weather, and stways green 1000. In cold weather, when snow and storm prevail, one-half pint of corn a day is proper. Frozen vegetation is very unwholesome to sheep. Cattle and sheep do best together. The cattle preceding the sheep bit the grass short enough for the sheep, which eat none but fine succulent grass.

Prime, first-rate sheep cannot be made without variety of berbs. Thesmall and numerous weeds left by cattle are eagerly sought for by sheep.

A two or three year old ram is the best, and no ewe should be bred under yearings past.

Wool growing on valuable land is a poor business. After increasing my wool from two and a half to six and a half pounds, I found that as a factor of price it was a mistuke to regard weight of fleece in selecting my rams. What we want on Southdowns is mutton. What we want is short, fine, close wool to protect the sheep against rains and cold-nothing more. The finer the wool the finer the mutton.

When not interrupted by flies, sheep feed in lines like an army ready for ac-tion. The leaders move off, and the re-mainder fall into line right and left. When the leader changes front or direction the wings follow up over eaten surfaces or hasten to form the new linelosing grass and time. So the smaller the flock the better are the sheep for these reasons. In very large flock the extremes of the wings are inevitably mean sheep. This is too plain for argumest. I raise these fine sheep only for breeders; and getters of mutton sheep by crossing on scrubs or mongrels are left to men of less experience or taste for the beautiful. But here the beautiful and the useful march together.

WONDER IN WELLAND!

A Representative Farmer

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully d to as being undeniably correct every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as fellows:

DEAR SIRS,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing corse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs periously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

Gentlemen,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him. and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.
