

LIST OF CANADIAN GOVERNMENT OFFICES ABROAD

The following list identifies where to seek consular assistance in each country. The telephone numbers in this list indicate the country code first and then the city/area code. The city/area codes (in parentheses) are those you should use when calling within the country where the office is located. If you are calling from another country, you may have to use a different city/area code. Also, when calling from one country to another, you must use the local code for international calls before the country and city/area codes of the number you wish to reach. For example, if you are calling overseas from Canada, you must press 011 before the country code. Calls to Bermuda, the Caribbean, and the United States do not require a country code, but you must press 1 before the area code. If you are unable to contact an office overseas, please verify the codes with your telephone operator.

In some countries, you can use an international toll-free number to speak to a consular officer in Ottawa. This number may not work from all local telephone service providers, mobile phones, or pay phones. Also, a phone card, coins, tokens, or an international long-distance fee may be required to complete the call.

Hours and days of operation vary at Canadian government offices abroad. Call the office concerned to check its hours. If you are unable to reach the office in an emergency or after hours, call 613-996-8885 (collect calls accepted) or dial the country's toll-free number (if provided below) to reach the Emergency Operations Centre in Ottawa.

In the following list, the 🇨🇦 symbol indicates that a Canadian government office provides passport services.

Canada has agreements with several countries to provide consular services to each other's citizens at a number of locations around the world. The 🇺🇸 symbol indicates that an Australian government office delivers consular services to Canadians in that country.
