

Adjournment Debate

Parliament in 1972 is the right one and that we have achieved our objective which consisted in facilitating the introduction of technological advances while protecting employees against any infringement on their rights.

The Acting Speaker (Mr. Blaker): The motion to adjourn the House is now deemed to have been adopted. Accordingly, this House stands adjourned until tomorrow at eleven o'clock.

At 6.30 p.m. the House adjourned, without question put, pursuant to Standing Order.
