If the herrings are cured with British salt, it will stand as follows, viz.

Bounty on each barrel brought in by the busses as above - - - - - £. 0 12 3 $\frac{1}{4}$

From which deduct the 1s. a barrel paid at the time they are entered for home consumption - - - - - 0 1 0

£. 0 11 3 $\frac{1}{4}$

But if to the bounty the duty on two bushels of Scots salt at 1s. 6d.
per bushel, supposed to be the quantity at a medium used in curing each barrel, is added, to wit, 0 3 0

The premium for each barrel entered for home consumption will be £. 0 14 3 $\frac{1}{4}$

THOUGH the loss of duties upon herrings exported, cannot, perhaps, properly be considered as bounty; that upon herrings entered for home consumption certainly may.
