I would take the opportunity of calling your attention, and, through you, that of parties interested in an extension of Canadian trade, to the opening that exists in South Africa for nearly all varieties of Canadian products and manufactures. The South African colonics are not manufactures, and nearly all of their manufacturers, and nearly all of their manufacturers goods are imported, and Canada can share in the trade if our producers and exporters will make a little exertion with that end in view.

A few figures are appended showing the rapid increase in the value of the imports into the country during the past five years, as well as a short list of articles, with values of imports during the year 1897 into Natal, the Cape, and the year 1897 into Natal, broke st. will remain open ALL SUM as well as a short list of articles, with values of imports during the year 1895 into the Cape, and the year 1897 into Natal, of such articles as might be supplied in considerable quantities from Canada.

It is hoped the opportunity offered for the introduction and exhibit of Canadian products and manufactures will be taken advantage of and result in the opening up of an important trade. Should it be found practicable to despatch a vessel direct from a Canadian port, due notice thereof will be given in ample time.

This department has made arrangements for space for permanent exhibit and storage accommodation of Canadian products at Cape Town through Mr. Thomas Moffat, 16 Church-street, Cape Town, South Africa, with whom parties can correspond in reference thereto.

Oshawa Postoffice Removal.

Editor World: In yours of the 23rd appeared a communication headed "A Much Disgusted Town," stating that the people of Oshawa were sore on the Dominion Government for changing the postoffice from Simcoe to King-street. Well, sir, I have read many communications on different subjects, but this one beats all I ever saw in the number of misstatements made.

In regard to the statement that a petition against the removal was circulated, and, within twenty-four hours had the names of 500 prominent property-owners, I may say there are not 500 property owners in the town. A petition was got up and somewhat over 800 signatures obtained of men and women and children, not a 2brailable document, considering that Oshawa has over four thousand inhabitants. Then the idea of calling King-street a side street, when it is the principal street in Oshawa! Most of the large stores are built on it, and it is the same width as Simcoe-street. As to long leases being made near the old office, I cannot learn of any, or that Mayor Fowke is dissatisfied with the location or office.

Oshawa is divided into four sub-divisions.
