"They will laugh and think you are silly if you brag about your ancient family."

But one day, when the youngsters were at their play, a wonderful visitor came into the Woodlands. They had never seen such a big and beautiful creature before. It took wonderful leaps, about twenty times as long as Peter Rabbit's. And when it sat down it was taller than Mr. Bear. It was yellowish brown in color, and when it sat down it seemed like a three-legged stool; and its tail was so big and strong that it helped the creature sit very erect on its big and powerful hind legs.

But they all noticed that its hands were very small and pretty. It was so big, and took such mighty leaps into the air, when it ran, that all the Little People were almost scared out of their skins; and they all ran, yelling and screaming. No such big and wonderful creature had ever been seen before around Mirror Pond.

And the big stranger, with powerful and wonderful bounds went learning to the style magazines one may come across directives at their power sweaters.

Conquering evil. (May be used with temperance applications.)—I. Kings xxi: 1-29: Eph. v: 6-21.
Questions For Today.

14. Verses 8-10: When not specifically forbidden in scripture, how do we know whether a deed is good or bed?

15. What is God's attitude to a good man, who, having proved from experience that a certain course of action was strong, promptly gave it up?

16. Verses 11, 12: If a Christian does a thing which he believed to be right, but afterwards finds to be wrong, what effect will it have upon him? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Golden Text—Have no fellowship with the untruthful works of darkness, but rather even reprove them. Eph.

She Loves To Sing.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a line or two to ask you and all the pagattes how do you do this weather? Well, friends, how do all your war gardens look? Mine is so nice I hope everybody else's is as goods. For, really a good garden is a godsend these hard times. If "Roseleaf" will take common dust and powder her cabbage with it, she won't be bothered long. I always keep my cabbage nice every year that way. If she lives where there is clay around, she can always find dust in the road, and that is the best. Dust them well in the morning when the dew is on and you will soon see a change for the better. If you notice your turnip leaves eaten up dust them, too, either with dust, coal dust or ashes that are not too strong, for if your ashes are strong A Dainty Dress for Mother's Girl. 2390-This model has full skirt portions, joined to a square yoke. Did any of you ever try to can milk? I was told yesterday that we could, but I don't believe it, but I will try it and let you know the result. Miss Grey, would you kindly print the recipe for orange marmalade? My daughter wants it and she can't get it, so we turn to you.

Here is a good recipe for war bread:
Two cups cornmeal, 2 cups war flour,
4 level teaspoonfuls of goods baking powder, I level teaspoonful salt, 1 tablespoonful sugar, mix with 1 cup of mik and 1 of water to a stiff batter with a spoon. Allow it to raise for 30 minutes, then bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Well, Miss Grey, I wonder if some of you could supply the words of a above illustration, and send size of pat-tern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure, you need only mark 33, 34 or whatever it may be. When in waist measure. Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from date of application.

It is an old song that I used to like, and I have forgotten it all. I love singing. No doubt you will think me heartless, but don't do it, Miss Grey, for by my song you can tell how I feel. I do a lot of thinking nowadays; it is going on three years since my boy has been gone from home, and he had never left home before. Well, good-bye all and let us all pray for the end of this terrible war. With best wishes I will close, hoping to come again when I am not so very busy, always

There's very few of us but go through trouble of some kind, but how fortunate it is we don't all go around wearing long faces. I do not know the song you ask for, but maybe some reader does. Your daughter is most welcome to the following, and she may also be interested in the rules for carrot marmalade:

2 grapefruit. 2 lemons and the juice of 2 more. Cut fruit fine and soak for 24 hours in water, using 3 cups of water to each cup of fruit. Boll hard for 15 minutes. Let stand another 24 hours. Measure again, use three-quarters cup sugar for each cup of fruit. Boll hard for an hour, then add sugar and boll till it jellies. Peel the grapefrut before slicing, as the peel seems to make it bitter. If the oranges are small, use more of them.

but rather even reprove them. Eph. v., 11.

PUBLIC EVIL SHOULD BE PUBLICLY REBUKED.

As we have before stated, it is our duty to rebuke public evils, publicly, and without reserve, but even then it should be done skillfully. Mere denunciation is not enough, and may do more harm than good. When the evil is a public scandal, it may be wise simply to denounce it, but when it is a popular sin, you should, by carefully constructed arguments, prove it to be wrong by the facts, by reason and from experience. Aim to make out a case which will carry convictions, whether you are speaking privately or publicly, and after you have made out a clear one it will be in order to denounce the evil without mincing of words. This is the only way to create a public sentiment, and, if necessary, to procure legislation that the evil may be ended. PICKLING GOODS. MAIN & COLLYER
