The new chairman was warmly ap-plauded as he ascended the throne. He thanked the trustees for the honor and expressed the hope that he would do nothing during his term of office that that would reflect discredit upon him-

It was a harmonious meeting. Less than three-quarters of an hour was re-quired to elect the chairman, appoint standing committee and select their convenors. Job Nobody Wants.

Job Nobody Wants. Job Nobody Wants. The only difficulty encountered was in the appointment of the chairman of the committee of the whole. There have in past years been some pertinent jibes aimed at this office, purporting that it was a good place to stick a man who was inclined to talk too much. Trustee Davis was finally prevailed upon by Dr. Bryans to accept the po-sition. He was the first nominee and refused flatly, with some show of re-sentment, he having failed to get the chairmanship of the management com-mittee, to which he aspired. Trustee Levee, who a moment before trift mittee, to which he aspired. Trustee Levee, who a moment before had failed to score for the chairman-ship of the board, was the second sug-gestion, but he refused absolutely, say-ing he felt he could do better work "sitting right where I am." Mr. Kent protested that he wasn't in gert fighting trim. fighting trim. James Simpson declined because he "" remembered how kindly the board had """ once been in placing him in that office thin in order to "spike his guns" and he wanted to be in a position this year to have something to say

Brantford 9, Berlin 4. BRANTFORD, Jan.' 7.-(Special.)-The high salacious Dutch Companee of Berlin' went down to defeat before Brown's Braves here to-night by the decisive score of 9 to 4 in a game marked with score of 9 to 4 in a game marked with hard checking and sensational rushes on both sides. The Brantfords fairly played rings around Berlin in spots, and arter the first 10 minutes were never headed. Play was remarkably fast, the ice being very keen, and the spectators were kept on their toes all the way thru. The checking of the local team broke up re-peated attempts at combination by the visitors, and sensational rushes by Capt, MacDonald and Povey in the early stages put the score in the velvet. Brantford led at half-time by 5 to 2. The game was free from rough-house play, Marks and Taylor being the only
