SALE OF RESIDENTAL PROPERTY IN North Toronto.—In the Matter of the Mechanics' and Wage Earners' Lien Act.—Gibson-McCormack-Irvin Co., Ltd., vs. McKeown.

Koenis displaces 20,255 close, was put in commission in 1914, and carries a crew of 1150 men.

"The Germans were badly whipped; they we got all they want from our deet, and I don't think they'll come out again," said a high naval official who returned to London today from a visit to the British battle fleet, whither he went to get first-hand details of the battle of May 31. The official found officers and men all in high glee over the outcome of the battle, which they all insisted was a glorious triumph for the British navy.

Assistant-Master-in-Ordinary. all insisted was a glorious triumph for the British navy.

"I closely questioned the officers, from the highest down, who had any part in the battle, and talked with the men," he said. "Not one of them but told how the enemy had turned tail and run when the main part of the British fleet came up, and that the Germans were utterly demoralized.

New Losses Develop.

"Each day develops new losses of the Germans. The reason why it has been mpossible to ascertain with final accuracy exactly how many German ships were sunk is that a mist covered their retreat, together with the darkness, so that it was not known he darkness, so that it was not known at the time of the battle how many went down. Now fragments of news coming to the fleet that enable men up there to make a pretty calculation, althou it is not plete even yet. From their figures, as they gave them to me, it is certain the Germans lost at least three battle hips, two battle cruisers, five light ruisers, eight or nine destroyers, and as submarine, making 19 or 20 in all.

"Reports have been received that caps of German sailors of the dread-noight Hindenburg were found on the shores of Holland. That would make four battleships if we can verify later that the Hindenburg went down. On the Germans' own report of missing from the personnel of their ships our men galculate that many more ships turned home to find long faces and turned nome to find long faces and talk, as one paper had phrased it, of a "disaster." The first impressions created by the way in which the results of the battle were announced have not yet been eradicated even here. Naval men accurately judged the meaning of the two admiralty an-nouncements, but their opinions were carefully kept from the public till cers in command during the engagement. One torpedo boat, dashing into the thick of the fray, the fifth in line, saw four ahead of it go down harm had been done.

How keenly moved is public opinion over the matter is indicated by from German fire. The Germans were pouring a terrific hall into the approaching British. The commandant of the torpedo boat went straight ahead at the enemy under the mose of a German dreadnought. One German shell went straight over the torpedo boat's bow, taking off the funnels. The torpedo boat turned but not before it evokes the surmise that "military reasons" may be held to justify the torpedo boat turned, but not before it had fired a torpedo that sank the permanent concealment heavier German losses.

Another marvelous escape of one of the destroyers was discovered when a stoker reported himself wounded. But as no shell had struck the ship, the commander declined to believe the man. He however reported himself wounded.

commander declined to believe the man. He, however, reported himself again the next morning as a casualty, and showed the commander a 12-inch unexploded projectile, which had dropped thru the hatchway into the hold. A similar incident occurred hold. A similar incident occurred the battle cruiser Lion, where duct of War Are Under OFFICIAL STATEMENT "Our officers admit that the German gunnery was good, but not as destructive as ours," said the official. "At first the light was much in their favor, but, towards the end, our manoeuvring changed this. The result was, in the general opinion of the officers and men of our ships which war and men of our ships which increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition, which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood, as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals, they hix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into the, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood, and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. OBJECTS TO COUNTY PAYING FOR INQUESTS

Councillor Fox Says Wellington Should Not Shoulder All Obligations.

Special to The Toronto World.

GUELPH, June 9.—At today's session of the Wellington County Council objection was raised to the county being compelled to pay for inquests held on the remains of inmates of the Ontario Reformatory, a number of which have been held during the past year.

"I have felt very sorry to have been obliged to make these payments," said Mr. Fox. "The county has not been used rightly, as a matter of business between city, county or government. Prisoners Mr. Fox. The county has not been used rightly, as a matter of business between city, county or government. Prisoners brought to the prison farm frequently die and an inquest has to be held on their bodies and the bill is returned to the County of Wellington. The city is exonerated from payment by agreement. "I think it is the duty of the council to appoint a committee to go to Toronto and interview the attorney-general, Hon, I. B. Lucas. If the matter is properly taken up, the government will perhaps see its way clear to pay everything in connection with inquests on every poor fellow who dies at the prison farm."

Mr. Fox also complained that the county has to pay costs whenever prisoners, charged with escaping, are arraigned before the magistrate after being lodged in the county jail.
