SOMME PICTURES ARE NOT HORRIBLE

London Press Unanimous That They Should Be Presented Unchanged.

SENTIMENTALISTS AT WORK

"Don't Humiliate Germany" Movement Asks That They Be Pruned.

London newspapers were practically unanimous in declaring that "The Battle of the Somme" official motion pictures should not be tampered with when they were presented to English audiences. The chief question—aside from military considerations, however, was whether the actual portrayal of war was too grim for realism. All the journals asserted that nothing should be done to the pictures to destroy any part of their realistic presentation.

It has been decided by censorship boards in Ontario that the pictures, notwithstanding the scenes of bloodshed, are not too horrible to be witnessed by the people of this province. As a result the films will be shown at the Regent Theatre for one week beginning Monday, October 16, under the auspices of The Toronto Daily World.

When General Sherman said that war was hell, he spoke what was a truism to every soldier and a world which knew that side of war which is concerned with broken hearts and ruined homes, agreed with him.

But the world did not know war at first hand; the question was, should it be enlightened so far as the moving picture camera could accomplish that feat. Should those who worked or waited, or most of all, those who were not giving the maximum of effort in support of those actually fighting, be shown in a more intimate and nearer way than even before. Something—but not by all means all—of what these last were suffering in the cause of justice and of freedom.

The judgment of authority was given in favor of this revelation and the nation endorsed it. It was no question of making a show of death or suffering for the recreation of pleasure-seekers, nor have the pictures so widely shown ever been accepted in that spirit. They are to the vast mass of the nation a sacred thing for they show something of the greatest sacrifice that man can make—the giving up of life itself, and all that it holds dear in a noble cause.

But then came sinister rumors of an attempt by means of subtle influence, such as we have learned to know well in this war, to get certain scenes removed from the films that are being shown. The man who was understood, are not those which deal with the charges of our troops under fire and in which men are seen to fall, porcupine, to rise no more; there are the scenes which might be considered offensive to German or pro-German sentiment. It was asked whether an unseen hand was at work to remove the medium of our sentimentalists and whether this underground agitation was another phase of the "Don't Humiliate Germany" movement that was so sternly repressed by public opinion at the opening of the conflict.

The English public, however, would stand no tampering with the films which are now to be shown in Toronto. They have already been carefully edited so that they contain absolutely nothing which it is unfit that the nation should see and as they are now, so they must remain. The beginning of the terrible combat on the Somme, an actual battle in progress, artillery actions, mine explosions and charges into the enemy trenches is shown in the official pictures.

The films include five sections dealing with the preparatory action from June 25, to June 30, and at attack on the first, second and July 1, and every phase of the action is marvelously depicted. The Battle of the Somme in motion pictures is the greatest production of its kind the world has ever known and it rivets the attention of audiences wherever shown. The film will be presented to Toronto audiences for the first time on Monday, Oct. 16, when The Toronto World will display the film at the Regent Theatre.

RAILWAY BOARD AWARD LOOKS LIKE COMPROMISE

Splits Up Difference Between Suburban Railway and Toronto.

The Ontario Railway Board handed down judgment yesterday in the case between the Toronto Suburban Railway and the city, in which the board decided that the company, in extending its tracks along Davenport road from Bathurst street to the C.P.R. tracks, must lay the tracks according to the city's standard on that part of the road which has been asphalted, but might use lighter rail and ballast of broken stone for the part of the road still macadamized.

The company contended that under its old agreement it had the right to construct the whole of this extension with the lighter rail and broken stone ballast, while the city contended that in view of the possible extension of the asphalt paving the whole length of this part of the road the company should construct the whole of the
