PACIFIC COAST VIEW

OF LUMBER TARIFF
(Portland Oregonian)

Lumber ought to be free of duty. Question is, why there should be any duty on lumber. Who are to be protected by it?
Only our owners of lumber. The duty on lumber has been paid just price for their holdings, now insist on a duty up on foreign lumber, so they may be able to put up the price of stumpage to loggers, who are to pass it on to consumers. It is a typical tariff of the kind.

The idea that the United States of America, wherein is the source of the world's supply of protection for timber or lumber, should pretend to be a protection for the timber baron to advance the charge for stumpage and give him an excuse for doing it.
The game is wholly in the hands of the owners of large timber tracts.

Our Pacific States do not need protection from a quarter. Foreign lumber will not be shipped in here - except in very small quantities, of kinds which our states do not produce.

TWENTY-FOUR PAIRS - NO FIT

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 6 - A tall, heavily bearded man was seen limping along Beach street at three o'clock this morning moaning to himself - "Twenty-four pairs! Twenty-four, and not one of 'em fits!" Under his arm the stranger carried a bundle large enough to arouse the curiosity of a belated resident, who ceased crossing the city lampost and hunted up the police department.

The department was awakened from his early morning nap, and after some securing around, found a broken window in the clothing store of Jacob Finkelshtein in Beach street. In the trousers department was great confusion and but little else.
The proprietor was notified and after a hurried inventory announced that twenty-four pairs of trousers were missing.

The police force is working on the theory that the burglar has gone in search of a custom order.

WOULD THE LAWYER GET IT ALL
"If a man is going to make a will, should not let a lawyer make it for him."
"It would be the safer plan."
"Then there wouldn't be anything left for the heirs to fight over."

LIBERAL AFRICAN

POLICY GOOD

Member of Cape Parliament
in Toronto, Speaks Hopefully of Future of British Africa.

Toronto, Aug. 6 - Charles J. Levey, M.L.A. for Cape Colony, who is traveling in the United States and Canada making a short study of the negro question and agricultural subjects, sees a good prospect for the future of South Africa. The policy of the Liberal government has, he states, been the salvation of the African colonies.

"There is not the slightest danger of any war between the white races of South Africa in the future. And Britain will not have a more loyal colony than the South Africa. The union parliament will shortly come into operation, when such questions as defensive measures, native administration and the development of the country will be taken up. The colonies are making great strides in agriculture and pastoral farming, and will soon be able to produce sufficient for their own consumption."

"General Botha, who was the chief leader for the present a special system of administration will be the best, placing no barrier on the gradual evolution of the nation."

In his journeyings Mr. Levey has visited Virginia, Hampton Institute, Booker T. Washington, President Taft and several United States congressmen and has obtained much valuable information. He has a good opinion of the negro in America, and considers him to be a great economic factor in the United States.

"The negro seems to be as loyal to America as any white American," he observed.

WIDOW TRACES FORTUNE
Old Newspaper Reveals Death of Husband's Uncle, Worth $18,000.

Mrs. Joseph Randall, of Yonkers, is about to bring suit to recover a small fortune in Metropolitan Street Railway bonds that have been unclaimed since 1899. She has been able to trace the fortune to a newspaper, containing an account of the death of her husband's uncle, Joseph Randall, at the Hotel Home for the aged in New York. Mrs. Randall believes that her husband, left an orphan, had been taken by the uncle when the nephew was about eighteen. The uncle decided to give her a home, and the boy left the house in a rage. In the latter part of 1885 the old man inserted in the Yonkers Herald an advertisement, forgoing the home for his nephew, and requesting him to visit the uncle.

On Monday the Yonkers Herald published an advertisement, forgoing the home for his nephew, and requesting him to visit the uncle.
