

ASSASSIN WAS REAL PATRIOT?

Would Be Here at End Of The War

Martyr Not Murderer

Acted From Patriotic Motives and Not Mere Impulse—A Socialist and Advocate of Peace

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

If Fritz Adler's trial for the assassination of Premier Sturgess could be deferred until the end of the war he would be triumphantly acquitted, and his act would be regarded as comparable to that of Charlotte Corday. Whatever may be his immediate fate, it is certain that he will be remembered as a martyr rather than as a murderer. Adler acted from patriotic impulses, and not only from a mere impulse, but after long consideration and continued effort to remedy the condition which he considered monstrous. As a Socialist leader he wanted peace; he believed that if Austria summoned her parliament the end of the war would be brought appreciably nearer, for he insisted that the Austrian people wanted to make peace. The premier, however, refused to call parliament, because he feared to meet such diverse elements as the radicals, the Socialists, the Slav, the Bohemians, and Little Russians, the Italians and other groups which might have overthrown the government. It is to be noted that of all the great countries at war, Austria is the only one that has refused to hold a session of parliament since the beginning of the struggle.

A Brilliant Man.

Inspired despatches from Berlin and Vienna suggest that Adler was insane, and it is said that a brother or a sister died in an asylum. Those who accept Lombroso's argument that the man of genius is closely akin to the man who is mentally deranged will not be disturbed at this exposure of Adler's family history. He himself is an extremely brilliant man, a writer, an organizer, a debater. He fills in Austria and has filled for some years the position that Debel used to occupy in Germany. He was the acknowledged leader of the Austrian Socialist party, and ever since the beginning of the war has not ceased to criticize the government and to demand that parliament be called to consider the position. Being fearless himself and the leader of a group equally fearless, Adler has caused the Austrian government unusual annoyance. While his paper has been censored and at times suppressed, he has been able to give expression to his views through pamphlets which have been widely circulated, and which have

Keep Your Skin Soft and Clear

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify,
and Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal, clear the skin of pimples, blackheads, itching and irritations and the scalp of dandruff.

Sample Each
Free by Mail

Address post-card,
"Cuticura," Dept.
S.M. Horton, U.S.A.,
Sold everywhere.

With Hot Baths
Cuticura Soap

had a powerful effect upon large numbers of Austrians.

The Austrian Socialists.

Austrian Socialists may be no better than German Socialists, but at least there is not against their record the great betrayal of which the Germans with the exception of Liebknecht and one or two others were guilty. One may judge them charitably and assume that they were deceived at the beginning of the war and believed that Germany really was fighting in defence for her very existence. But this belief does not excuse them for sitting silent or applauding when Bethmann-Hollweg announced that Germany would not surrender the territory she had gained, that there would be a "new Belgium" after the war. The Imperial Chancellor probably knew the German Socialists, and calculated that as long as the German armies were victorious it would be safe enough to proclaim his purpose of territorial aggression. Adler and his followers, however, have never subscribed to this doctrine, probably because Austria has made few territorial gains even temporarily.

Defeat Better Than Victory?

Adler believed that Debel's victory in war was not a good thing for the working classes. He contended that defeat was better, and quoted some memorable words of Debel to this effect. It is worth noting that the German Socialists' paper Vorwarts, reproduced them with approval. In 1910 Debel said: "My view is that defeat in war is rather advantageous than disadvantageous to a people in our unfree condition. Victories make a government more confident, and to a people arrogant and exalting. Defeat compels them to approach the people and to win their sympathy. This is taught in the case of Prussia by the war of 1866-7, in the case of Austria, by the war of 1866, in the case of France by the war of 1870, and by the defeat of Russia in the war with Japan in 1904. History shows that when the Prussian people, with great sacrifice of life and property, overthrew the despotic rule of the emperor and the emperor's rule, the former forgot all its beautiful promises which in its hour of danger gave to the people. Only after a long period of reaction did the year 1906 arrive, when the people were able to conquer what had been withheld from them by generations. Again, if Prussia had been defeated in 1866, Bismarck's ministry and the rule of the aristocracy, which weighs like a nightmare upon Germany to this day, would have been swept away."

The Status Quo Ante.

Adler knew, of course, that while Socialists might believe that defeat is better for the people than victory, they would not consent to their defeat, and war once being declared would strive to win victory. His plan for bringing about peace was to agree to the restoration of the status quo ante, that the boundaries should be what they were before August 1914. Although this would have French people under German rule in Alsace, Italian under Austrian rule in the Trentino and Poland and Armenia under hated masters, he felt that this was the only practicable method of bringing about a speedy peace. Whether the Entente powers would agree to any such arrangement is a question that he did not consider. His object was to call the parliament together, so Adler killed him, as the only thing he could do in his agitation was not to be wholly futile.

Sprinkle your shoes inside with a generous amount of talcum powder. The burning and smarting caused by new leather.

A Frightful Death! Suffocated with Asthma Attack

Every sufferer from Asthma knows the terror, the abject fear that overcomes them when struggling for breath. The old fashioned remedies may relieve, but never cure. Best results come from Catarrhose, which cures Asthma after hope is abandoned. It's because Catarrhose kills the asthma germ that it cures. Choking spells, labored breathing are relieved, suffocating sensations and loss of breath are cured. Every trace of asthma is driven from the system, and even old chronic cases experience immediate relief and lasting cure. Equally good for bronchitis, throat trouble and catarrh. The large one dollar bottle includes an inhaler and lasts two months, sold by all dealers or from The Catarrhose Co. Kingston, Canada.

VIOLINS

Free
Catalogue
Write
Today Say whether interested in Band Instruments,
Violins or Bagpipes.

C.W. LINDSAY LIMITED
189 SPARKS ST.
OTTAWA, CANADA

WINNERS OF THE VICTORIA CROSS

Not Unusual in Their Ordinary Life Work

Some Incurable as Boys

Little Stories of Big Deeds Which Have Won Fame For British Heroes

The story of the only man who ever won the Victoria Cross twice has been told recently, and a wonderful story it is.

Yet there are many men in the army and navy who have dared as much as Lieut. Jacks, and have been given the trophy that British subjects value more highly than any other. Some of them died in the discharge of the duty that won them the V.C., others survive, but no longer able to fight, while many more are pegging away in the army, hoping, maybe, that another opportunity will come to them, and that Lieut. Jacks' honor will not remain unique in the history of that specific bit of gunmetal awarded "For Valor." Not since Michael O'Leary in the early days of the war won his medal or perhaps since Warfield destroyed the Zeppelin has any deed of heroism so moved England as that which was reported in Jellicoe's dispatch of the naval battle off Jutland. John Travers Cornwall, a 16-year-old boy on H. M. S. Chester, was mortally wounded, but he stood by a gun, surrounded by dead and dying mates, hour after hour. When asked why he did not go below he answered that he was standing there "in case he might be needed."

"Faithful Unto Death."

His body was brought home and buried in London before Jellicoe's report was made public. Then a wave of emotion swept over the land. The coffin was disinterred and buried with honors in a new grave. Lord Charles Berkeford and other leaders in a movement which will wear a monument over his grave, establish naval scholarships in his name, endow cells in various hospitals and put his picture upon the walls of every school in England. "Faithful Unto Death" are the words engraved upon the lid of his coffin. A writer in the New York Times who has been looking over the official reports of some deeds that won the Victoria Cross is struck by the fact that so many of the heroes had a spirit of that English love of games in their character; and also that most of them were ordinary workmen or laborers before the war broke out.

Playing the Game

For instance, there was Pte. James Miller, of the Royal Lancashire Regiment. In time of peace he was a good football player, but in the war he was what we call fighting spirit, was a drawback. He was a paper mill laborer, quiet, hard-working. Ordered to take an important message to the front under heavy fire and bring back a reply at all costs, he succeeded, in spite of a gasp, in getting to the front, where he delivered the message. When he dropped dead, Pte. James Turnbull of the Worcester Regiment, a painter and paperhanger, and an enthusiastic cyclist, was called out of the trenches on the occasion of the latest visit of King George to the front in order that the king might speak to him. Writing home about the experience, he said: "Every day I am reminded of an early understanding of the factors involved so that the period of reconnoitering and not coming to close and confusion. We were inclined to pay too much attention to external change. Most writers who give us pictures of the distant future tell us of the decay of and of those technical conditions which come. They overlook that great change mankind are above mere material changes in things mechanical."

Growth of Great Ideas

The speaker reviewed the growth and development of the power of great world ideas, citing those which came from Greece and which sprang from the French Revolution and from the civil war. Then he told of individualism. "Individualism is nothing but sentimentalism," he declared. "It is the way for graft, waste. It will give way to nationalism. Whatever the great diplomats may say, the people will follow the lead of the masses. The German will conquer the globe; that German Kultur will spread to all the countries of the world. German Kultur will be the distinctive stamp of the next century, and that will be the one conquest of which Germany will be proud. The German will be in its deepest soul, for superior, far more valuable than the fantastic conquests which Germany has made. German Kultur will spread its ideas as the ideas of the French Revolution spread all over the world. In the sense the term that Americanism is applied to those who come to the country, there will be a Germanization of the world."

Killed Twenty Germans

He and Hill were alone, stealing out in No Man's Land. Suddenly two strapping Germans appeared. They were looking at each other as if they were looking at a cooly as when Hill advanced as cooly as a boxer and ran them both through with his bayonet. Hill is five feet tall, weighs 160 lbs. Looking about, they found themselves surrounded by 20 or 25 Germans. "Sergeant," says Hill, "we look like being taken prisoners," and the other replied: "They will not take us alive." Then Hill threw two bombs with astonishing accuracy at the advancing group, killing 18 and wounding many scattering the rest. Still, said the sergeant, he did not think he had done anything big, and went off to make a report. He heard that Captain Scales and a scout were lying wounded some distance beyond the lines. He at once volunteered to fetch them in, and succeeded in dragging back the captain, who, however, died. Then he started to return to his friend the sergeant, but on his way found two Germans whom he took prisoners. This was the only time he felt that he really had done

Advice to Dyspeptics

WELL WORTH FOLLOWING

In the case of dyspepsia, the appetite is variable. Sometimes it is ravenous, again it is often very poor. For this condition there is but one sure remedy—Dr. Hamilton's Pills—which cure quickly and thoroughly. Sufferers should marked benefit in a day, and as time goes on improvement continues. No other medicine will strengthen the stomach and digestive organs like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They supply the materials and assistance necessary to convert everything eaten into nourishment, into muscle, fibre, and energy with which to build up the run-down system. Why not cure your dyspepsia now? Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today, 25c. per box of all dealers.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act On Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious Sick, Headachy and Constipated

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels a regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The bowels are perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but even more so in old age.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a last can't be used every day. The bowels of the old need a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

anything meritorious. Hill performed all these feats in less than half an hour.

MUNSTERBERG SEES KULTUR WORLD-WIDE

Tells Audience no Nation Can Succeed Under Individualism

Earth To Be Germanized—Expects No Nation to Be Shattered by War—Teutonic Ideals to Win on Their Merit

Professor Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard told the Public Forum at St. Paul's church, Hoboken, the other night that the one great result of the European war would be the German Kultur world would conquer the world. He saw in the great conflict the doom of individualism and a new regime of worldwide nationalism which he called the essence of German Kultur. "For," said he, "without German Kultur no nation will be able to play the role in the great drama that is to take place after the war."

Professor Munsterberg said almost every one had got the wrong idea of German Kultur. He said that some Germans didn't understand it. He pictured it as the consciousness of nationalism, the subordination of the individual to the national ideal. He said he had been asked before to speak on German Kultur, but that he had declined, for he believed the time had now come for the world to understand it.

"Peace will be with us very soon," he said. "Every day I am reminded of an early understanding of the factors involved so that the period of reconnoitering and not coming to close and confusion. We were inclined to pay too much attention to external change. Most writers who give us pictures of the distant future tell us of the decay of and of those technical conditions which come. They overlook that great change mankind are above mere material changes in things mechanical."

The speaker reviewed the growth and development of the power of great world ideas, citing those which came from Greece and which sprang from the French Revolution and from the civil war. Then he told of individualism. "Individualism is nothing but sentimentalism," he declared. "It is the way for graft, waste. It will give way to nationalism. Whatever the great diplomats may say, the people will follow the lead of the masses. The German will conquer the globe; that German Kultur will spread to all the countries of the world. German Kultur will be the distinctive stamp of the next century, and that will be the one conquest of which Germany will be proud. The German will be in its deepest soul, for superior, far more valuable than the fantastic conquests which Germany has made. German Kultur will spread its ideas as the ideas of the French Revolution spread all over the world. In the sense the term that Americanism is applied to those who come to the country, there will be a Germanization of the world."

Professor Munsterberg said that the decline of the Progressive party was not due to the mistakes of Theodore Roosevelt or because it had too many ideals, but because the other two parties possessed less of the spirit of individualism and more of the spirit of nationalism. He said that there was a great difference between Kultur and civilization; that the countries of South America had civilization, but not Kultur.

He said that German Kultur would spread for the reason that nationalism was the belief that one nation is better than others, but the faithful belief that the nation had a unique mission, which cannot be replaced. Each nation has its mission and its message. Germany's role has nothing to do with any desire to feel ourselves superior to other nations, but only to do a service to mankind in the unique task that belongs to the nation's dearest soul and heart. It involves the desire to protect the nation. Every nation must use its own independent of other nations."

Professor Munsterberg then said he

WORRIED AND SLEEPLESS?

Nerves Are Racked
Vitality Is Lowered
Brain Is Congested
Health Undermined

Worry, overwork, over-study and indigestion cause insomnia.

Healthy, natural sleep can't be produced by drugs.

First, the blood circulation must be improved.

Congestion of blood in the head must be removed.

Irritation in the brain must be removed.

It's because Ferrosone equalizes circulation, because it soothes the irritation, because it removes congestion that it is the surest remedy for insomnia.

For building blood and nerve, for instilling force and life into over-worked organs, for establishing strength and vitality, where can you find anything so sure as Ferrosone.

Remember, sleep is just as important as food.

You must sleep, or break down.

You can if you'll use Ferrosone and thereby remove the conditions which now keep you from sleep.

Ferrosone is not a narcotic, not a dope; it is a health-giving tonic that any child or delicate woman can use.

Take it for a month, take it for a year—no harm, but immeasurable good will result.

To sleep well, look well, feel well, to be free from depression, nervousness or blue—use Ferrosone. It's a food tonic that builds up the system, and a boon to the sleepless—sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

did not believe that any nation would be shattered as a result of "this war into which Germany has been forced."

"That well-meaning of the German life," he went on, "lies in the subordination of the individual into the mould of national consciousness. In discipline, the individual gives faithful service for the soul of the nation. That spirit must be cultivated in Germany for half a century. It is the spirit that has made Germany strong on a small land area, the subordination of the individual to the devotion to ideals of the national soul."

"The German ideal is not individual, but works in the service for the ideals of the whole state. The individual subordinates himself to the works of the whole state, and that is what is exactly what the Germans mean today by the term 'German Kultur.'"

GOLD STRIPES FOR WOUNDS

Britain Gives Discharged Soldiers Official Badge of Honor.

Under the caption "Little Gold Stripes for British Soldiers as a Defense Against Silly Women," the London Standard Bureau in London has issued a statement showing how men have been disgraced from the service as a result of wounds are often mistaken by young women for "slackers," and before they can explain are decorated with a white stripe.

"Silly women at some of the British seaside resorts," the statement says, are still presenting white feathers to young men wearing civilian clothes who look as though they ought to be wearing khaki. There are hundreds of young Englishmen in England of military age who have very good reasons indeed for not being in khaki, and now that men disabled in the war are being returned to civilian life, the number is growing rapidly.

To protect these heroes, the British government has devised a scheme by which a piece of gold stripe is awarded to every man who has been disabled in the war, and who is entitled to wear a thin gold stripe on his coat sleeve. One stripe is permitted for each action in which a wound was sustained, and a further one for each action in which a man has been disabled.

"It happened to Gunner Francis William Sney, late of the Royal Field Artillery. He has an amazing record of war service. Three days after the war broke out, Sney offered himself, and within a short time he was in France.
Four times he came back wounded.

"Shot in the hand and knee at La Bassee; hit in the leg by a piece of shrapnel at Kemmel; gassed on the forehead with shrapnel and shot in the hip at Ypres; knocked over by a Jack Johnson's aeroplane later.

He has a silver plate where the skull was hit and lost the use of his hand.
He fought at La Bassee, Givenchy,
"Plug Street," Festubert, (three times), Neuve Chapelle, Diechburch, Kemmel and Hill 60.

"But when he was discharged from Brighton Hospital, put into civilian clothes, and given a walking stick, Sney was not outwardly a man broken in the war. He wore a white feather and everyone seemed to be looking at him.
Then from the group by the railings, came Miss Somebody, who handed him a white feather. 'You look rather nice,' she said, 'but you'd look better in khaki!'

"Sney has a keen sense of humor.
He took the feather. Then he slowly turned his arm and revealed four little gold stripes on his sleeve. His borrowed friend.

"He is a wonderful trophy of surgical patching up. He says he has been on the operating table twenty-two times, and has had 124 stitches in his body.
He cannot walk very well and his left hand is useless, but he declares himself happy and comfortable."

BREAK WHISKY'S GRIP ON YOUR LOVED ONES

Drunkards tell you with tears of sincerity that they do not want to drink.
The craving coming from the inflamed membranes of the stomach drives them to it.

Alcure will soothe the trembling nerves and remove the craving that is ruining your home and wrecking your otherwise kind husband or father from you. It costs only $1.00 per box and if it does not cure or benefit after a trial the money will be refunded.

Alcure No. 1 is tasteless and can be given secretly in tea, coffee or food.
Alcure No. 2 is taken voluntarily by those willing to help themselves.
Alcure can now be obtained at our store. Ask for free booklet telling all about it and give Alcure a trial. R.
Clinton Brown, 317 Union street, St.
John, N.B.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR BELGIUM

View of Belgian Premier and War Minister

Germany Must Pay

Would Like Return of Free Trade Between Belgium and Great Britain

The Belgian prime minister, Baron de Broqueville, who is also minister of war, is described by a correspondent of the London Chronicle as one of the ablest statesmen in Europe, and continues: I have just had an opportunity of discussing questions arising out of the war, and the future of Belgium, with M. de Bro-queville, who has taken his ministry to a small village near the frontier, so as to be in close touch with the headquarters of the army, the king, who is commander-in-chief, and the centres of military operations. The prime minister is a vigorous and forceful personality. He holds clear-cut and decided views about the conduct of the war and the future of his country.

It's because Ferrosone equalizes circulation, because it soothes the irritation, because it removes congestion that it is the surest remedy for insomnia. For building blood and nerve, for instilling force and life into over-worked organs, for establishing strength and vitality, where can you find anything so sure as Ferrosone. Remember, sleep is just as important as food. You must sleep, or break down.
You can if you'll use Ferrosone and
thereby remove the conditions which now keep you from sleep. Ferrosone is not a narcotic, not a dope; it is a health-giving tonic that
any child or delicate woman can use.

Take it for a month, take it for a
year—no harm, but immeasurable good
will result.

To sleep well, look well, feel well, to
be free from depression, nervousness or
blue—use Ferrosone. It's a food tonic
that builds up the system, and a boon
to the sleepless—sold everywhere
in 50c. boxes.

did not believe that any nation would
be shattered as a result of "this war
into which Germany has been forced."

"That well-meaning of the German
life," he went on, "lies in the subordi-
nation of the individual into the mould
of national consciousness. In discipline,
the individual gives faithful service for the soul of the nation. That spirit must
be cultivated in Germany for half a century. It is the spirit that has made Germany strong on a small land
area, the subordination of the individual
to the devotion to ideals of the national
soul."

"The German ideal is not individual,
but works in the service for the ideals
of the whole state. The individual subordinates himself to the works of the
whole state, and that is what is exactly what the Germans mean today by the term 'German Kultur.'"

GOLD STRIPES FOR WOUNDS

Britain Gives Discharged Soldiers Official Badge of Honor.

Under the caption "Little Gold Stripes
for British Soldiers as a Defense Against Silly Women," the London Standard Bureau in London has issued a statement
showing how men have been dis-
graced from the service as a result of
wounds are often mistaken by young
women for "slackers," and before they can explain are decorated with a white stripe.

"Silly women at some of the British
seaside resorts," the statement says,
are still presenting white feathers to
young men wearing civilian clothes who
look as though they ought to be wearing khaki. There are hundreds of
young Englishmen in England of military age who have very good reasons
indeed for not being in khaki, and now
that men disabled in the war are being
returned to civilian life, the number is growing rapidly.

To protect these
heroes, the British government has devised a scheme by which a piece of
gold stripe is awarded to every man who has been disabled in the war, and who
is entitled to wear a thin gold stripe on
his coat sleeve. One stripe is permitted
for each action in which a wound was
sustained, and a further one for each
action in which a man has been disabled.

"It happened to Gunner Francis William Sney, late of the Royal Field Artillery. He has an amazing record of
war service. Three days after the war broke out, Sney offered himself, and
within a short time he was in France.
Four times he came back wounded.

"Shot in the hand and knee at La Bassee; hit in the leg by a piece of
shrapnel at Kemmel; gassed on the
forehead with shrapnel and shot in
the hip at Ypres; knocked over by a Jack Johnson's aeroplane later.

He has a silver plate where the skull
was hit and lost the use of his hand.
He fought at La Bassee, Givenchy,
"Plug Street," Festubert, (three
times), Neuve Chapelle, Diechburch, Kemmel and Hill 60.

"But when he was discharged from Brighton Hospital, put into civilian
clothes, and given a walking stick, Sney was not outwardly a man broken
in the war. He wore a white feather
and everyone seemed to be looking at him.
Then from the group by the railings,
came Miss Somebody, who handed him
a white feather. 'You look rather
nice,' she said, 'but you'd look better
in khaki!'

"Sney has a keen sense of humor.
He took the feather. Then he slowly turned his arm and revealed four little
gold stripes on his sleeve. His borrowed friend.

"He is a wonderful trophy of surgical patching up. He says he has been on
the operating table twenty-two times,
and has had 124 stitches in his body.
He cannot walk very well and his left
hand is useless, but he declares himself
happy and comfortable."

For A Long Life and a merry one—keep the liver active and the system clean

GENUINE
CARTER'S
LITTLE LIVER PILLS

The Non cathartic Nature cure for Constipation

Helps the System, to Cure Itself.

You cannot cure constipation by violent methods. Violence is never effective against nature. That is why the use of morning salts and purgative pills so easily become a habit. These things do not cure the trouble; they only force matters, and in so doing weaken the bowels till natural action becomes impossible, and you have to go on taking your pills or salts indefinitely.
Compare Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief. This great tonic laxative helps nature by strengthening the bowels, natural action is restored and a cure effected which is real and lasting.

Dr. CHAS. F. FORSHAW, D.Sc., F.R.M.S., a well-known British Scientist, writes:—"Never take Salines or Purgatives for Constipation—to force Bowel action is to aggravate the trouble and create the Constipation habit. I recommend as a superior and convenient treatment Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief."

Take Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief for constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, sick headache, dizziness, apathy before the eyes, flatulence, acid eructa, indigestion, acidity, nervousness, impure blood, and that dull, heavy feeling which is a sure indication of liver troubles.

Price 50 Cents from L.J. Druggists and Storekeepers, or direct from the sole agents for Canada, Harold F. Bittable and Co., Ltd., 18, McCas Street, Toronto, Ont. See why you feel Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief is the companion to Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Sole Proprietors: Dr. Cassell's Co., Ltd., Manchester, England.

Dr. Cassell's
Instant Relief

AUTO INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

The Dangerous Condition which Produces Many Well Known Diseases.