New Brunswick Figures Announced by Federal Inspector McLeod

TOTAL FOR MONTH IS ABOUT $370,000

Increase in Prosecutions of Delinquents This Year Is Reported

A decrease of $93,155.46 in federal income tax returns in New Brunswick for April of this year, as compared with the return for the same month in 1925, was reported this morning at the office of Norman P. MacLeod, federal inspector of taxation. Returns for last April amounted to $370,167.18, while the taxes for the corresponding month of 1925 totalled $463,322.64.

REGARDING REFUNDS
The inspector said this morning that it was unnecessary for people, who have already made their returns, to apply continually to his office for refunds. If increased redemption bills are approved by parliament, refunds will be made by the local office to those who have already paid.

EFFECT OF CHANGES
It was further reported by the inspector that the increase of $909 of $1,000 in the case of married men, as proposed in the new tax law, will also involve a number of residents in the province from paying any federal income tax at all.

The colonel said that prosecutions of delinquent tax payers had been more numerous this year so far than in any previous year. Several writs have been issued against tax payers of this province by the department at Ottawa.

Magistrate Henderson Discharges Girl Arrested At Instance of Man

One of the finer points of the law in regard to making an arrest was brought out in the Police Court this morning when Josephine Doran, 21, arrested last night at 12:50 o'clock by Sergeant McLeese and Policeman Corvee on a charge of being a vagrant and having no visible means of support, appeared before Magistrate Henderson.

It appeared from evidence given by Policeman Corvee that a man named Irvine, whose full name was not announced, had made complaint to him about 11:30 last night that the girl had taken $10 from him which she would not return. The girl had told the police that she had been operated on in the hospital about three weeks ago, was not working and was living with another girl in Dorchester street. In reply to the magistrate, the witness said that the accused had been taken from a building in Charlotte street and arrested in the street.

The magistrate said that the girl had practically been arrested in the building and had not been made out. He therefore would discharge her. He said the policeman had been called in on the spur of the moment and very seldom made an error and no doubt thought they were justified in making the arrest. He said that Irvine could lay a charge against the girl of stealing the $10. He then discharged her on the vagrancy charge.

William M. Ryan appeared for the accused.
