was the problem of the men who had enlisted in advanced age, and who had collapsed after their return home as a result of their experiences, but for whom no provision was made in the present pension law. Tuberculosis was among those who comprised the saddest cases, and Mr. MacNeil cited most pathetic instances. The responsibility now rested upon the men themselves to get their cases put before the Commission. Of course it could be realized, Mr. MacNeil said, that it would be physically impossible for the Commission to hear every individual case throughout Canada, so the scheme was to gather the most effective evidence of every phase and have it presented effectively by the ablest men who could be obtained.

appealing for unity Mr. MacNeil concluded with references to the great good which the Organization of the ex-service men could be to Canada in the maintenance of her national traditions and her constitutional rights, against any element which might seek to disintegrate. He referred to the wide interest and deep sympathy expressed by Lord Byng the Governor-General in all ex-service men, and told of how when His Excellency was in the west recently, he laid aside the formalities of the Governor-Generalship in order to get close and intimate knowledge of the men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

RECENT DEATHS

Harvey A. Craft.
The sudden death of Harvey A. Craft, aged twenty years, in the General Public Hospital on Saturday morning, Dec. 30, 1922, after an illness of less than five days, came as a great shock to his many friends. He was employed in the foreign office of Manchester Robertson Allison, Limited, as customs clerk.

He was a member of the Central Baptist Church, and took a deep interest in its various activities. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Sunday school. He was a young man of cheerful disposition and high principles, and his death is considered a great loss by all those who knew him.

A funeral service was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Craft, 88 High street, conducted by Rev. James Dunlop, acting pastor of Central Baptist Church, assisted by the choir of the church.

Many floral pieces expressed the sympathy and high esteem of a host of friends. Among those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Main, Rupert and Hatheway of Dipper Harbor, Roy of Mac's Bay and Dewey and Perry at home; also three sisters, Mrs. Eugene Wilkie of Brierley, Mrs. Percy Jones of Dipper Harbor, and Miss Blanch at home. The body was taken to Dipper Harbor for interment.

Mrs. Edward J. Delaney.
It was with keen regret that a large circle of friends learned of the death of Mrs. Edward J. Delaney, which occurred in Halifax on Sunday afternoon after a brief illness with heart trouble. She was formerly Miss Annie T. Power, of this city, and resided here until her marriage to Mr. Delaney last February when she removed to Halifax. Mrs. Delaney was well known here and her genial disposition made her a general favorite with all who knew her. Besides her husband she is survived by one brother, Frederick J. Power, of this city, who was with his sister at the time of her death. He left St. John on Saturday evening, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Thomas M. McGuire. Burial will take place in Halifax on Wednesday morning with requiem high mass.

DANISH PRINCE WORKING IN THE WEST AS A COWBOY
Copenhagen, Jan. 2.—Prince Eric, whose father and brothers were stripped of their money through the collapse of the Landmagnat Jutland decided to sell his magnificent Jutland estate at Krokedal.

Under an assumed name the prince has lived and worked as a cowboy on a big western ranch in the United States for the last eighteen months. He wrote to a friend here not long ago saying he was quite happy in his work, and that life in the open was the only one worth living.

WOMAN LOSES STEP IN ALIENATION SUIT

Justice Tompkins Vacates Attachment for Jewelry Belonging to Mrs. Minerva Hawkins.
White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Holding that the affidavit in which Mrs. Mac Hackett charges wealthy Mrs. Minerva T. Hawkins, whom she is suing for $800,000, with alienating the affection of her husband, Robert J. Hackett, a former state trooper, is wholly insufficient. Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins vacated the warrant of attachment upon the defendant's property. This order attaching Mrs. Hawkins' property was obtained recently by Mrs. Hackett from Justice Morschauer.

Sheriff Werner under the latest order will return several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry and silverware his deputies removed from the defendant's property at 41 Court street, White Plains.

In the affidavit Mrs. Hackett said she once had a telephone conversation at Bay Shore, L. I., that the ex-trooper was talking at that end and he told the other party, who was indicated in the affidavit to have been Mrs. Hawkins, to get her $100,000 and be ready to "jump" to the south with him on Dec. 15.

Since commencement of action Mr. Hackett resigned from the state constabulary.

Plaintiff's parents he leaves to himself, six brothers, who was a member of the Central Baptist Church, and took a deep interest in its various activities. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Sunday school. He was a young man of cheerful disposition and high principles, and his death is considered a great loss by all those who knew him.
