"HYMNS AND HYMNISTS."

An Instructive and Very Interesting Lecture by Rev. J. F. Vichert Wednesday Evening.

Rev. J. F. Vichert gave his lecture on 'Hymns and Hymnists" in Calvary church Wednesday, assisted by a large choir and several soloists. The lecturer first referred to the potent influence which song exerts upon character and conduct, and the place which it has al-ways held in connection with religion. Attention was called to the great hymns of the Bible, and the 97th psalm was rendered by the choir, with a tenor solo by G. F. Watson. The characteristics of a true hypon were pointed out, and Dr. Holmes's "Lord of All Being Throned Afar," named as a perfect exemplification of these. Rev. Mr. Vichert next proceeded fo give some account of the history of hymnology, and in this connection two compositions that have come down from the early church. The Te Deum and 'Jerusalem the Golden'' were admirably rendered, R. Grant's baritone voice being neard to splendid advantage in a solo in the latter. Some quaint and grotesque selections from some of the early hymns, read by the lecturer, greatly amused his audience. "Rock of Ages" was named by Rev. Mr. Vichert as the most popular hymn in the English language, and it was very sweetly rendered by Mrs A. Clyde. Some of the hymns by Ray Palmer and Miss Elliott's "Just as I am without one plea" were next considered. Then Luther's great reformation hymn, "Ein Feste Burg," which Frederick the Great called "God Almighty's Grenadier March," was taken up, and after some account of its history was sung by the

The concluding part of the lecture was hymnology, and has given in all some a crusade week, which means special 600 hymns.
