INTER-PROVINCIAL SURVEY.

Work of Defining Boundary Between Ontario and Quebec Delayed.

TORONTO, Ont., July 8.—Some delay on the part of the province of Quebec has hindered the starting out of the inter-provincial survey parties for the completion of the work of defining the boundary line between Ontario and Quebec in the far north. The survey was commenced last season and considerable progress was made. The provincial survey department is ready to send out its party and several messages have been sent urging the Quebec authorities to take action. Part of the country south of James Bay is muskeg, and surveying over it will have to be carried on next winter. The boundary has been already delimited to a point just north of Lake Abitibi, and if an early start is made the country should be covered to the muskeg section before winter sets in.

EMPEROR WILLIAM VISITS KING HAAKON

TRONDHJEM, Norway, July 8.—Emperor William arrived here this morning on the Hamburg. King Haakon immediately went on board and the two monarchs embraced cordially.
They remained together in the state cabin for forty minutes. Afterwards they went ashore and drove to the palace amid the enthusiastic acclama-tions of the crowd. At the end of this visit Emperor William returned to the Hamburg.
His majesty came ashore later in the evening again and attended the gala dinner at the palace.

Losing Hair

That is too bad! Been coming out for a long time, has it? So much the worse! But it is not so bad as it might be, for you can stop this falling, and you can stop it quickly, too! There is one remedy, just one—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. We speak from long experience.

THE EXPLANATION.

The governor general and the Laurier ministry are at loggerheads over the question of selecting those Canadians who are to receive king's birthday honors. So this is the key to the joke?
When the last list of recruits was announced people generally sat back and laughed, and wondered who on earth had picked out the names. The men who had been honored by the king were, for the most part, unknown to Canada, and whatever they had done to deserve distinction was a mystery.
The arranging of such a list made a sort of farce out of the whole affair, and those who have, by their life work, deserved recognition, were no doubt pleased that their names were not on the list. This last distribution of honors was the limit, but it is explained by the announcement of friction existing between the representatives of the people.

Earl Grey has so far been acceptable to all, as governor general. He has opened horse shows, dog shows and other functions in a manner which satisfied every one; he has given his formal assent and his stereotyped signature to government documents as all good governors are supposed to do; but, under the present time, he has not taken into his head to openly disagree with the ministry on any question of administration. There can be only one settlement in this difference, and Earl Grey, will doubtless show his tact by gracefully yielding.

THE COUNCIL AND THE MAYOR.

What's the matter with Mayor Sears?
Certain members of the common council seem to have banded together to annoy him, to reprimand him in a somewhat reckless for things he has or has not done, and not content with giving their opinions once they must needs do so repeatedly. What has Mayor Sears done anyway? He has tried conscientiously to forward the interests of the city, to urge into action the heads of the fire department, at the council board who think that they know it all, because they have held office for a number of years and have become correspondingly useless. Mayor Sears may have exceeded his authority, may have gone beyond his own particular line of work, but if so he has done it with the best intentions and because in certain matters failed to do so.
When Mayor White was in office he carried through without consultation a great deal of business and afterwards sought the approval of the council. No doubt he was right with him, but it appears to be a determined effort on the part of some of the aldermen to make it impossible for him to carry out the efforts of the present mayor. It is a childish piece of business. If those who are simply passing through in performing their duty as in picking faults with what others do they would find their time well occupied. If it comes to a matter of criticism, is there any member in the council who has not much to answer for?

BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

Sir Edward Grey has warned his colleagues about too free criticism at the present time of the government's policy regarding Egypt. He urges that no obstacles be placed in the way of determined action just now, and promises later to make full explanations. His speech in parliament the other day, while brief, was one which the country cannot afford to disregard. The colleague secretary made no pretence at consolation of the fact that trouble with the native is feared, and offered this as an excuse for the strengthening of the British garrisons in that country.
Great Britain is just now having an experience with the natives of South Africa, and there is no question but that the rebellion in Natal was enabled to assume its present proportions through disputes between the home and colonial governments. The natives knew that their rulers were at variance, and were emboldened. The Zulu rising has not yet been crushed, though many of the natives have been killed, nor is it likely that the end of this trouble will be reached for some time.
In Northern Africa the natives are fanatics of the worst type. They are now experiencing a periodic wave of feeling against Europeans, and very little will be needed to make this excitement take the form of a rebellion.
They will gain confidence by the knowledge that the British administration is not strongly supported by the home government, and hence the foreign secretary's appeal. No fault is found with Lord Cromer's policy, no wrongs have been perpetrated on the natives, but they are simply passing through a critical time, and it is not improbable that Turkish spies are inciting them to rise against the British. Firmness is what is needed in dealing with them, and this is what Sir Edward Grey asks.

A SUNSET FROM THE BEACH.

The shield of gold is touched by shadowed waves
That the horizon rock with points of dun,
And, like a band of distant racers, run
Against the light; a flood of crimson laves
The rocking sea, a myriad courier slaves
In cloudland doff the liveries of the sun
And change to opal, for the day is done—
The rising moon a track with silver paves:

Beloved sea, great sister of the stars And handmaid of the moon, splendid thou art
In constant change, yet changeless; Rows of pearls Break in fierce billows; over shoals and bars Thy thunders roar—still, in thy deep, deep heart, Far down the peace, though mad the centric whirls.
—Maurice Francis Egan.

A POETICAL HORSE.

An English tourist engaged the jarvey who recommended his horse, "because it's a jewel on a political basis." Dublin was reached at last, after a long journey.
"Why," asked the delayed tourist, as he paid his fare, "why did you call your horse poetical?"
"Sure, yer honor, it's thrue," said Pat, with his best bluff, "for his good qualities are imaginary, not real."

NOT FAT ENOUGH.

"She's worth her weight in gold!" the proud American mother asserted.
Assuming pure gold worth approximately twenty dollars per ounce, and knowing her weight to be one hundred and ten pounds, the Count by a rapid mental calculation arrived at the figure fifteen thousand four hundred dollars.
"Oh, ha, a most charming young lady, of course!" he said, hastily gathering up his hat and cane, "but I had been led to believe—aw, that is, I couldn't think of that price, you know!"

TIMES CHANGED.

"A few months ago," said the sufferer, "I had indigestion and rheumatism, but it is otherwise now."
"How's that?" queried the stranger.
"Since a rich uncle died, and left me a half million," explained the other, "the doctors call it appendicitis and locomotor ataxia."

NOT AT ALL LIKE HOME.

"You advertise a homelike air about your place, do you not?" asked the guest.
"I do," replied the hotel man.
"You advertise that special effort is made to give a home atmosphere to the dining-room, don't you?"
"Yes, sir."
"Then how is it that I have eaten four meals here and at none of them has anyone told me that the cook is going to quit, that the milkman is cheating me, that the Browns just must keep their dog out of our flower beds, and that I can't expect my dinner to be satisfactory if I do not get home in time for it?"—Judge.

ONLY PATIE LEFT.

A Doniphan County woman who was ill and found herself in a trying position explained her woe to a friend.
"You see, my daughter, Harriet, married one of those homeopath doctors, and my daughter, Kate, an alchemist.
If I call the homeopath, my alchemist wife will get mad, and if I go ahead and call my alchemist son-in-law, then my homeopath son-in-law will get mad, and they'll both be out of 'em, then they'll both be out of 'em, so I don't see but I've got to die outright."

TOOK HIM IN TRADE.

"That senator belongs to you?"
"Yes."
"How did you come to buy him?"
"I didn't buy him. Swapped a fellow a coal mine for a railroad, and took him in trade."

ONE IN A THOUSAND.

First Neighbor.—The Snobsons over there on the corner are losing their money.
Second Neighbor.—How do you know?
First Neighbor.—Why, because they've begun to bow to all the neighbors and they never noticed anyone around here before.

SHORT NOTICE.

"I have served Satan as my master for twenty-nine years, but I will serve him no longer—not another half-hour." Thomas Paxton said, when he was charged at the Marlborough, England, police court, with stabbing another man. He was committed for trial.

SKIDDOO.

He—"I asked her to tell me her age, and she said 'twenty-three'." She—"Well—did you?"—Brooklyn Life.

CAN'T TAKE THEM AWAY.

"Do you leave your valuables in the hotel safe when you go to a summer resort?" "Only when I leave."
DEAR AT ANY PRICE.

Saphedde.—"A penny for your thoughts, Miss Pert." Miss Pert—"They are not worth it. I was merely thinking of you."
JUSHI.

Mrs. Talkumch (at Niagara Falls)— Isn't it grand? I love to hear its roar.
Mr. Talkumch.—So do I. Just keep quite for a while and we'll hear it.

THAT'S A GOOD THING TOO.

Mother.—Do you think it is a good thing to spank a child?
Doctor.—Well, it often relieves the parent of a bad fit of temper.

REORGANIZATION PLANS OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Brigade Posts to be Established and Enlarged—Other Small Stations Will be Done Away With.

OYSTER BAY, N.Y., June 8.—Important steps calculated to materially develop the efficiency of the army were taken today by President Roosevelt and Sec. Taft at Sagamore Hill. In his last annual message to Congress the President said:

"The number of posts in which the army is kept in time of peace should be materially diminished and the posts that are left made correspondingly larger."
This recommendation is to be carried out at once. Seven brigade posts, to be commanded by Brigadier General and one hundred and twenty-four brigade posts are those at Fort Riley, Kansas; Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Fort Rubson, Neb.; Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming; Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. It is desired to have one in Pennsylvania and one on the Pacific Coast, but these will have to be taken care of later.

Final action regarding these posts will be taken a week from next Monday when Secretary Taft will make a second visit to Oyster Bay. The necessary for the formulation of a complete plan at this time in the development of the new scheme is occasioned by the requirement in the urgent deficiency appropriation act of the last session that all appropriations shall be expended so as to last throughout the year for the purposes for which they were made without causing a deficiency.

GREAT IRRIGATION SCHEME.

New South Wales Government Enters on a Public Spirited Undertaking.

SYDNEY, July 8.—The New South Wales government has entered upon a spirited policy of water conservation and irrigation. It has been decided to construct a large dam on the Murrumbidgee river at a place called Barren Jack and from here water will be carried in irrigation canals over an area of 85,000 acres. The work will involve the expenditure of about $7,500,000, and represent the first part of a great national scheme.
The dam is to be built three miles below the confluence dredges and flood-prone rivers, and when completed will be 200 feet in height and 900 feet in length.

THE LONGWORTHS SPENT SATURDAY AT VERSAILLES

PARIS, July 7.—Congressman Nicholas Longworth and Mrs. Longworth, accompanied by Ambassador McCormick, spent the day at Versailles. They inspected the palace and were greatly interested in the romantic surroundings of Marie Antoinette at the Little Trianon. This evening the Longworths were present at a dinner followed by a caillion at the American embassy. The embassy was beautifully decorated with flowers and illuminated by electricity. The music was furnished by a gypsy orchestra.
On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Longworth will be the guests of Madame Forgas, at the historic Chateau de Rochefort, in the forest of Rambouillet.
