THE LION FLAG OF ENGLAND.
 BY HENRY CARTER.
 The Lion-Flag of England,
 Say, Britain, shall it wave
 The scene of every-bone's heart
 And not of every day?
 A sign to tell them how they best
 The sword of the earth,
 And thus to give the English flag
 To signify their worth?
 "Forbid it Heaven!" the nation cry,
 In scornful greediness;
 "We'll send her and across the seas,
 And she shall conquer yet!"

THE GRAND ASSAULT.
 The following is from a graphic letter, describing the attack on the 24th, by Mr. Joseph Colburn, the correspondent of the Illustrated London News—
