

APPENDIX.

(A)

REPORT ON HOME MISSIONS.

The Committee on Home Missions beg to state that as the annual meeting of the Home Missionary Society is to be held with this Association, it is unnecessary to adduce any facts or arguments bearing on the subject entrusted to them. They will only express their deep regret that the Home Missionary Society is so inadequately supported, and their hope that the denomination generally will be aroused to duty, and quickly occupy the waste places of the land.

They also suggest the desirableness of suspending the business of the Association for a short time, in order that the annual meeting of the Home Missionary Society may be held in accordance with its Constitution and Rules.

J. M. CRAMP, Chairman.

(B)

REPORT OF FRENCH MISSION.

The Committee on the French Mission report as follows:— That the French Mission is a mission of great importance and calculated by what has already been accomplished among the Acadian French to commend itself to the confidence and sympathy of all christians. Five have been baptized already and a number more have renounced the errors of the Church of Rome, several of whom have been hopefully converted to God, and over thirty are inquiring the way to Zion; also a