with the same courtesy and consideration that was accorded them before they entered public life. Smcking is not indulged in on the floor of the House, and no turbulent scenes have been recorded since the establishment of equal suffrages. If there is any lessen taught by the changed political conditions in Colorado, it is that mon always will pay to the true woman the deference and respect to which she is entitled. When the first fight for equal rights was made, it was the fashion for the well-meaning agitators to picture man as the enemy and oppressor of woman. Recent history in Colorado has proved that men are not only ready to give women the privileges they cover but that men are glad to show we-

men how to use those privileges. "From the point of view of the "practical politician," women are not altogether satisfactory as lowmakers, because they refuse to whipped into line for party measures unless the measure happens to appealtotheir sense of right. It is this indifference to the party lash that makes it difficult for a woman to be elected to a second term in the Legislature. So far, the members have been contented to retire after one term of service. Each has been determined to carn the verdict : "She mas done what she could." Unlike the majority of their colleagues, the women have an idea that some one else can carry out the work they have begun. As the women invariably are on the side of all measures of a philanthropic a or reform character, their party affiliations count for little if in conflict with their sympathy sense of justice.

"Among the fault-finders it has been hinted that women make laws with their hearts instead of their heads. The records of the last three general Assemblies of Colorado prove that, if this be true, heart-service as well as head-service is an admirable thing for the State. The nine womenoxislators, elected since the estab lishment of equal suffrage, have espoused reforms that their stronger colleagues have regarded as too altruistic for present-day conditions. The women have worked for laws enlarging the scope of free education, providing homes for girls, establishnurseries for dependchildren and shortenfor dependent children and shortening the laboring man's bours. They have accomplished great results and have demonstrated that they can thow loyal and unselfish devoition to the interest of the people who elected

Despite all this, these women lawmakers are out of their element, as they must feel. Their homes know them no more, and home life is the only realm in which woman reigns supreme by all the rights logal, social, moral, and even Divine.

EXAMINATION OF CHILDREN .--An article upon the scientific examination of children recently appeared in a New York contemporary. It thus opened:

"A mine of surprising facts will be presented to the scientific world in a forthcoming report by Professor Arthur MacDonald, of the Bureau of Education, giving results of a unique study of no less than fifteen millions of school children here and abroad. A study of fear in the youthful sublects was made by distributing hundreds of lists containing all manner of causes such as might excite that emotion. Parents, teachers and other persons -even the little ones themselves—marked off such items as the latter really foured. After reducing all of the replies to a table it was found that the highest number feared thunderstorms; the next highest reptiles. Then follow, in order, according to the number foaring them, strangers, darkness, fire death, demestic animals, disease, wild animals, water, insects and ghosts."

It may readily be seen how vast a field of enquiry has here been opened out. In fact the article above quoted could be developed —ad enfinitum."
The studt must be a deeply interesting one for all who have the leisure to devote to it. We must confess that we do not see how any practical results are to flow from a close investto have answered. Big people as wellas children have a wholesome droad of thunder; thousands of men and women have faith in ghosts and would

HUMILITY AND CHARITY appear to be the two great pillars upon dawn of Christianity down to our a Christian life practised and preachsome man offered the sarcastic toast ed by the hierarchy, clergy and the bonie man once our superiors, but faithful of the Church; This was the to women, our equals," women are treated subject of a most touching and eloquent sermon recently preached in St. Michael's Church, Belleville, by Rev. Mgr. Farrelly. The preacher said that : "Christ taught the world a noble lesson of humility when he appointed the disciples to go out into all the world and preach His Gospel, He did not select men of great learning to perform this mission, but they mon of humble stations in life. They were fishers of men, sent forth to proclaim the gospel of the Church. Humility is one of the duties required of us. We should not be exalted above our fellows, who, although they may not be learned, are sometimes able to give sound advice on matters of importance. The A; osiles of the Lord Jesus Christ were all men of humility, which is a mobile characteristic. Do not be exalted, but humble followers of the Saviour, who was a humble and meek follower of God, the Father. Another characteristic should be that of charity. This animal to average 100 tons, or 221,was a lesson taught by our Blessed 000 pounds. That is to say, a whale Saviour. There are tales Do not despise your neighbors hecause they may be power in the feet long, and weighing at least 150 world's possession than you are. Be tons. But such are not seen these charitably disposed towards them days. A 70-foot whale is a hig one and assist them to the best of your now. Still, it may give some idea of ability. How sweet and loving it is to be charitable, and what blessing we will receive by being so disposed. Another lesson the Blessed Lord taught his disciples and impresses on us is to live peaceably with all mankind in so far as it lieth in our power. This was our bounden duty and we should live up to that duty. Do not quarrel with your neighbors, but follow the teaching of the Saviour and live peaceably with all."

A CLEVER CANARY .- Romarkable cleverness is sometimes displayed by birds. "I had a canary," saysagemieman, "between the wires of whose cage I used to fix a piece of lump sugar. One day it dropped out, and Money to Lend on City Property and Improved when picked up was found to be quite wet on one side. This surprised me, and I replaced it in the cage, with the dry side inward, and determined to watch the bird's proceedings. After a few ineffectual attempts on the hard sugar the bird went to the water-glass, filled its bill, dropped the water on the sugar, and repeated it several times. When the sugar was thus softened it began to cat it. Apparently here was a thought -a calculation of means and a use of

In late years men have made for-tunes out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal tel escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutriment contained in the food. That loss when continuous means the loss of a man's greatest fortune -health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutriment contained in the food which is taken. In all cases of constipation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellots will speedily and permanently cure the diseage.
