

A picture of the same torrent twenty years after. The barrages by preventing the cutting down of the bed of the river have also prevented the erosion of the banks which are now covered with forest.