"I had two operations performed by one of the most skilled surgeons of the West, but did not get relief. Then, against my doctor's strict orders, I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and also followed the advice given in the Common Sense Medical Adviser. R "I continued this treatment for three months, and to-day am as healthy and well as a woman can be. I cannot thank Doctor Pierce enough for his kind letters to me."

Womanly diseases, as a rule, spoil the "disposi-tion," because of the extreme nervousness and suffering they cause. Happiness as well as health is restored the woman whose diseased condition is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite

SHE HAD HER WAY.

The Story of a Tennis Racket and Sarcastic Maiden. She was a demure looking girl, young and slight, and her hair clung to her forehead in babyish little rings. In her hand she held a tennis racket. Three of the strings were "sprung." She explained to the salesman in the big sporting goods house that the racket was an expensive one; that it had broken at the first trial; that the fact of its having done so had caused her

much annoyance, as she had bought it for a birthday present. In conclusion she was here to return it. The salesman noted the babyish curls, and, adopting the manner of a bored but rather good natured cat to an irresponsible kitten, he promised to have the racket restrung.

"But I don't want it restrung," said the girl. "I want a new one." "Oh, but I can't give you a new one," said the clerk reprovingly. "This one has been used." "Yes," said the girl meekly; "it has been used, and therein was my mistake. You see, I fancied I had bought a tennis racket and so described it to the recipient. He foolishly believed me and used it. Had we both known that your firm was charging $7 for papier mache souvenirs fashioned after the form of a racket, why, he would have put it upon his wall as a decoration. Yes," she continued admit we erred in using it." And she smiled prettily.

Then she gave her address and walked out. The next day the firm sent a new racket

The Rainbow. When a ray of sunlight falls on a raindrop, it is refracted; then part of the light is reflected from the internal surface and again refracted on leaving the drop. The white sunlight is not only refracted when it enters and leaves the drop, but dispersion also takes place. The eye sees bright circles of light for each kind of light, and since sunlight is made up of different kinds of homogeneous light we get a series of circular arcs, showing the spectrum colors, the red being outside and the other colors following in the order of descending wave length. The whole constitutes a primary rainbow. A secondary bow is sometimes seen outside the first. This is formed by the light being twice reflected inside the raindrops. The less refrangible rays are on the inner side. Rainbows due to still more internal reflections are too feeble to be observed. It is possible to get a white rainbow if the sun is clouded or if there is a mixture of raindrops of very different sizes.

Lightning Precaution. An electrical engineer declares that the center of the room is the safest place from lightning. "There is a constant tendency on the part of the electricity in the sky to reach the ground," he says. "To do this it must have a conductor. Atmospheric electricity always follows the outside of the conductor or agency that leads it to the ground. That's why the middle of the room is safest during an electrical storm.

"I know of a number of instances where a bolt of lightning followed the walls of a room, burning it on all four sides, while the people in it, being away from the walls, were only slightly shocked. That is the only safe precaution known to science."

A State Dinner In Venice. In 1552 the patriarch of Aquilela feted Ranuccio Farnese, the pope's nephew, in the palace on the Gludecca. The rooms were decked with extraordinary sumptuousness, cloth of gold, paintings and illuminations adding to the effect produced by the patriarch's cooks. Among the guests were twelve gentlemen in fancy marine costumes of green satin with red lining, wearing caps of the same colors and each accompanied by a lady dressed in white. This repast lasted four hours, varied by music and the professional entertainers of the day. It ended with the cutting up of certain large pies from which live birds flew out into the room. The guests strove with each other to catch these birds.
