INFLUENZA HAS LATER DANGERS

Particular Care Needed When Patient is Convalescent, Says Expert

The influenza convalescent who has apparently recovered from the disease and is yet in a strangely weak and depressed condition should be the object of particular care, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the New York Health Department. In the opinion of Dr. Harris the after care of the influenza patient is most important. The co-operation of the patient, coupled with the willingness to see that the weakness and depression are a part of the illness, though coming after the disease itself has spent its force, is a big factor in effecting a complete return to full health. On the other hand the determination to ignore this debilitated condition and to fight against it, will Dr. Harris says, frequently bring serious consequences upon the patient.

AFTER EFFECTS BAD "The subject of the after effects of influenza," said Dr. Harris, "is one of particular interest to the scientist at the present time."

"First, and perhaps the most momentous condition to be considered is the striking depression, mental, nervous, and physical, complained of by most patients. Those attacked by the disease with moderate severity are almost always afflicted with this depression which should be recognized and dealt with. Those who have had mild cases of the epidemic are little affected by depression, and their quick return to health and strength gives rise to the belief that influenza is trivial. On the contrary, influenza in its after effects is anything but trivial, and calls for the application of rules of common sense and sanitation which are the fruit of years of experience.

"Tonic treatment, well chosen diet, and great care in not becoming over-tired or allowing the body to be chilled are necessary. Eggs may be eaten, but not more than two a day, for the average adult. Of course, it must be remembered that in many cases this disease tends to direct its force against the kidneys, and therefore we instruct patients to avoid eating a great amount of meat, eggs, or beef extracts. Eggs, soft boiled, poached, or beaten, raw, are advisable in limited number. The raw eggs should always be well agitated before taking.

WHEN GOOD FOOD IS BAD.

"With milk and eggs as a foundation the patient should eat good nourishing food, including meat, fish, and vegetables, simply prepared. Frying, for instance, is out of the question. Good food prepared in an unassimilable manner becomes bad food; especially is this to be noted in cases of convalescence from influenza for the disease often manifests itself in vomiting, and in intestinal and gastric disturbances, and it is important not to weaken the digestive function by the eating of poorly prepared food, or even the best of food in ill-advised quantities. The quantitative distribution of foodstuffs should be so adjusted as not to overtax the stomach, but the patient should eat generously and frequently." As a tonic to build up the blood and stimulate the shattered nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. These pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, improves the appetite, strengthens digestion, and drives away the feeling of weariness and depression always following an attack of influenza. Those who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial will be amply repaid by the new health and strength this tonic medicine always gives.

THE UNITED FARMERS

"The establishment of the United Farmers Co-operative Company of New Brunswick, the greatest crack the mail order houses have received in this province," said Samuel Hagerman, manager of the company, when the Press man called at the "grange" last week. "When a man's money is there is where his interest is," said Mr. Hagerman, "and the farmers are all interested in this company as they are stockholders."

The head office of the United Farmers Co-operative company of New Brunswick is in Woodstock, with Mr. Hagerman manager and Miss King stenographer. It has branches all over the province, under the central office; this central office looks up the markets, and buys produce for all the branches; it reports to the branches once a week, and has a uniform system all over the province. It is conducted along the lines of the United Fruit Company of the Annapolis Valley. The Farmers Co-operative company has strong branches at Sackville, with a capital of $10,000, and at St. Stephen, with 160 shareholders, the head office furnishes a balance sheet every month. The intentions to build branch warehouses at every railway station, where there is business to warrant it doing so. The head office at present, and warehouse, is at the Woodstock Foundry Co., plant on Main street. The warehouse is full of goods. Three big hay presses are busy at work now and many more will be put to work immediately. This has been the means of advancing the prices of hay to the farmers.

A large meeting of the directors was held on Friday afternoon and they were well satisfied with the good work done by the head office. C. L. Smith, Esq., the president of the United Farmers of New Brunswick, instructs the Press to say that now that the ban has been lifted, meetings will be held throughout the province and it is hoped to organize many branches of the United Farmers Association. — Press.

Flue at Upper Kent.

The influenza came down upon us "like a wolf in the fold." For a time there seemed to settle down upon the village and surrounding country a great pall of darkness. There was so much of suffering and death no one felt like attending business. Grown people and children alike were victims.

Inside of a week John Pickard lost two dear little children. A little girl four years, and a darling baby boy, the only son, one year old. Mr. Packard has only one child left. To Mr. and Mrs. Pickard, who are heartbroken because of their loss, the community extends heartfelt sympathy.

At an early hour on Oct. 30 of pneumonia, following influenza, Maude B. Canam entered into rest. Mrs. Canam was thirty years of age and was the beloved wife of Thomas Canam, an employee of the C.P.R.

Mrs. Canam was a daughter of the late John E. Smith of Linville. Besides her husband she is survived by five small children, a widowed mother, two brothers, several sisters, many relatives and numerous friends. She was a devoted wife, and an unselfish self-sacrificing mother. She was the president of the Institute for Upper Kent and Maplehurst and in the organization she was greatly interested. Notwithstanding the many duties that devolved upon her, she found time to knit many pairs of socks for the boys at the front. She will be greatly missed in her home and in the community. May the God of all grace sustain all who are left to mourn.

G. W. Perry, our councillor, and his family were down at one time. Mr. Perry has suffered from a very severe run of pneumonia and is not yet able to be out. His many friends will be glad to see him on the street once more. Mrs. Perry and children are quite restored.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Squires and daughter, Mrs. Paul Oldham were also all ill at the same time, but are now better.

Mrs. Samuel Ritchie was another victim of the dread disease but is able to be up again.

Mrs. Nicholas Crain and son Philip have been very ill but are improving.

Mr. John Broad is another one who has suffered. She is still confined to the house but is in hopes soon to be out.

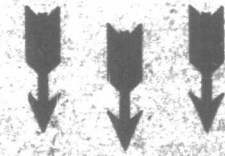

Winnie DeMerchant, son of Norman DeMerchant, has been very sick for several days is improving at this writing.

Every part of this country is being hard hit with this terrible disease—no one knows who will be the next stricken. Some people are so frightened that they will not go by a house where there is a person sick of the disease; others go right in and assist all they can. One woman was heard to remark that she would go in and help all she could if she took the disease and died the next hour. She would rather die of that than die a coward.—Sentinel correspondence.

The Cause of Heart Trouble

Faulty digestion causes the generation of gases in the stomach which inflate and press down on the heart and interfere with its regular action, causing faintness and pain. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Selge's Curative Syrup after meals sets digestion right, which allows the heart to beat full and regular.

Concerning Motor Car Shortage for the Season of 1918

Although we had anticipated a heavy curtailment in the 1919 production of passenger Motor Cars for the past six months, until recently we entertained some hope of being able to obtain at least twenty five per cent of our normal turnover. We have been advised by the McLaughlin Motor Car Co., under date of October 30th, last, that our allotment of their 1919 production will amount to one-seventh of our past season's supply. As the McLaughlin Motor Car Co., is one of the oldest and strongest corporations in Canada manufacturing automobiles, it can be accepted as very good indication of conditions generally. The entire production of the McLaughlin Motor Car Co., for the season of 1919, is already sold to dealers and will be finished up and distributed within the next few months.

Our object in making this announcement is in order to give everybody an equal chance to secure a McLaughlin Car.

We will book orders for the various Models until our allotment is disposed of, at prices prevailing date goods are shipped. Prices will no doubt keep advancing until the last of the stock is disposed of.

We will keep as full a stock as possible to secure on hand at our showroom, until the supply is exhausted. Kindly call, inspect them and have a demonstration.
