Regarding that famous resolution adop'ed by the Grand Orange Lodge of British North Amrica, in which Hou Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, tion that may follow. The Tory papers are saying a great many hard things of the Nova Scotians, and such epithets as "traitors" and "rebels" are freely used in characterising and the conduct of the overwhelming major-ity of the people of that province. The denunciations came with very bad grace from the defenders of High Taxation. We cannot forget that the Nova Scotians entered the Confederation very reluctant ly, and on the express understanding that their taxes would not be increased To meet their wishes the promoters of the Confederation actually reduced the then tariff from 20 to 15 per cent. Today ed to the extent of 30 per cent. on their imports. It is true that in 1882 they sent a majority to Ottawa to support the Macdonald Government, but that was on the assurance that a reciprocity treaty was about to be forced from the United States through the agency of the high taxation. Now the Nova Scotians have decided that it does not pay to submit to high taxation for the sake of pursuing a phantom, and they think it no disgrace to say so. Macdonald and Tupper and their crowd will not again be able to fool the hard-headed Nova Scotians into voting for the destruction of their best erests in order that money may be raised to enrich land and railway monopolists and provide jobs for the families of such hereditary office-holders as Langevin, Tupper and Tilley. In such a demand they will have the assistance of the ma numerous and prosperous Catholic conority of the people of Canada. -[Hamil-
