London, January 25 .- Great Britain's naval airship No -1, which has been under construction more than twelve months at Barrow-in-Furness. is nearing completion. The building of the Dreadnought of the air has been marked by the greatest secrecy. None except the naval officers direct ing the work are allowed to approach the enormous shed in which it is being constructed.

The airship's length is 510 feet, diameter 48 feet, and gas capacity 700.-000 cubic feet. It is expected her eighty cylinder moters and three specially constructed propellers will drive her through the air at fifty miles an hour. In her work in conjunction with the fleet as a swift, farseeing scout she will carry a power ful wireless apparatus.
