Representing Foresters.

Mr. W. E. Bradbury, of Heart's Content is at present in town, staying at the Laird House, 12 Victoria Street. He is representing the Independent Order of Foresters in Newfoundland, being a Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger. There is a very large and progressive Court of Foresters at Heart's Content, also at Bay Roberts, and two small Courts here in St. John's.
The Order is the greatest Fraternal Insurance Benefit Society in the world, with an excellent system of Insurance with fixed rates. It owns and supports two Sanatoria for the benefit of the membership, also a splendidly equipped Orphanage situated at Oakville, Ontario, and surrounded with twenty acres of beautiful orchard land. It is a very wealthy society, with assets amounting to near 50 million dollars.

Mr. Bradbury, for a day or two, will be receiving applications for membership, and if approved of, members will be attached to Court Cableville, 3328 Heart's Content, where all their rights and privileges will be protected and looked after until such a time as a large number desire a new Court in St. John's.

Wedding Bells.

FORAN-SUTTON.
Sunday, August 8th, there was solemnized at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, New York, the marriage of a couple very popular in their Parish. The groom, who is the son of the late Wm. and Mrs. Foran, of Grand Falls, Nfld., the bride is a daughter of the late Michael and Mrs. Sutton of Newfoundland, but for the past ten years has been making her home in New York. The groom was supported by Mr. John Dwyer, of Boston, cousin of the groom, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Sutton. The bride's dress consisted of a creation of white embroidered georgette and satin, and lace veil with orange blossoms, bouquet of roses and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette and pink satin hat, bouquet to match. After the ceremony the young couple motored to the bride's home where the entertainment took place, which was largely attended by friends of the bride and groom. A sumptuous supper was served, and in spite of the prohibition, there was quite a variety of drinks which made the guests quite happy. The McDonald Band furnished the music for the dancing, which was kept up until the early hours of the morning, after which the bride and groom left for Atlantic City, N.J., on their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home at 590 Amsterdam Avenue, New York. Few of the many presents the bride received, cheque from the groom, also one from her family. Present from the best man, set of Sterling Silver. The bridesmaid, set of Table Silver. The present from the bride to her bridesmaid was a platinum pin set with Amethyst stone. The remainder of the presents mostly consisted of Cut Glass and Silver. The groom holds a responsible position as Travelling Erector for the T. W. & C. B. Sheridan Machine Company, of 401 Broadway, New York.

Morning Kisses Dangerous.

At Saranac Lake, where they treat many consumptives, the physicians have been experimenting with kisses. The subject, naturally, was a pretty girl. But, as she was a bad case of tuberculosis, the doctors did not permit her to kiss a person, but selected as her partners on this occasion some unresponsive sterile dishes. She kissed the dishes morning, afternoon, and evening, and then the physicians put the kisses under a microscope. Dr. Lawson Brown told the State Medical Society recently what they had learned from the microscopic examination. And this should rejoice the hearts of lovers, for it proved that while morning kisses were polluted by germs of consumption, afternoon and evening kisses were harmless, the reason being that fresh air and sunshine kill the germs of disease that lurk upon the lips. Therefore, Dr. Lawson Brown expressed the opinion that it was a good thing for the human race that courting was usually done in the evening.

FIELD STREET MAN

GLAD HE FOUND TANLAC.

John Buchanan Suffered So Much From Indigestion He Feared He Had Heart Trouble—Can Work All Day Now.

Still another well known St. John's man comes forward and adds his voice to the thousands who have already endorsed the wonderful medicine, Tanlac. This time it is John Buchanan, who lives at 16 Field St. In a statement given recently he says:

"I shall always be glad that I got hold of Tanlac for it has relieved me of all my troubles and I am feeling like a brand new man. For four years I suffered with indigestion so bad I was in perfect misery most of the time. For hours after every meal I would blast up with gas until I felt as though I would smother and a bitter liquid would come up into my mouth. The pressure of the gas made my heart beat like a trip hammer and I often feared I had heart trouble. I also had fierce pains across the small of my back and headaches that almost drove me distracted. I got into such a weak and run-down condition I could hardly drag around and always felt tired and worn-out when I got up in the mornings.

"When I saw by the papers that so many St. John's people were being helped by Tanlac, I decided to give it a trial, and I am more than pleased with the result. I soon had an appetite like a wolf and could eat anything I wanted and never be troubled with any sort of indigestion. I no longer have headaches or pains in the back and in fact feel just fine all the time. I am so much stronger I can do a big day's work without even getting tired and I sleep like a log at night. I hope all who suffer as I did will take my advice and try Tanlac for I am sure it will do them good."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, and Be Harb-ur; W. J. Burdock, Belle-gram; John Morey, Fermeuse; Mrs. Jos. Quinn, Renewa—adv.

In Cricket Language.

A few days after the end of the honeymoon the loving young husband returned from the office to find his dear little wife with tears in her precious eyes.

"Tell me the trouble, darling," he asked anxiously.

"I simply can't help it!" she moaned. "How those poor men must have suffered! That man Hobbs must be a perfect brute!"

"Hobbs!" exclaimed the man. "Who is he, and what has he been doing?"
"It's all in the paper here," the young wife replied sadly. "It says that when he came in he started punishing the bowlers. He cut Tyldesley twice in his first over, and then knocked him all over the field. Dean interfered, but he did not do much good because Hobbs sent him flying to the boundary out of the way. Heap came up to see what he could do, but Hobbs ran straight out at him and hit him over the pavilion. Then Cook tried, and what do you think Hobbs did to him? Why, he asked him, and I expect the poor man would have been killed if some man with square legs hadn't run up and caught him."

GAME POSTPONED.—The League football match, which was to take place last evening between the Britons and Felidians, was postponed owing to the condition of the ground after the rain.

Flying Round the World.

Who is going to be the first aerial Drake? Or, to put it more plainly, who will be the first man to fly round the world?

Three or four Americans are known to be feverishly pushing forward their preparations for the super-flight, as are also at least two well-known British airmen.

One or the other of them will very probably be successful; the only question is which one? For the task is not really so difficult as might be supposed. The airmen essaying it will, of course, be free to choose their own route; and this means that they will be able to fly for the most part over tropic seas and warm lands where the air is of an even temperature.

There remains the question of expense, and this is a serious one; for to establish a complete chain of landing-places and petrol stores round the globe is going to cost a lot of money.

The recent flight of the two Italian airmen, Lieutenants Masero and Ferrarin, from Rome to Japan, cost £480,000. A flight round the world would probably cost double this at least—say one million sterling.
