

BORSALINO HATS

"Made in Italy"—and Made to Last.

BUY A BETTER HAT
THIS TIME.Expert Italian hat-craftsmen, with wonderful deftness, work in Borsalino Hats style that is different, yet not noticeably so.But only the fine felt that goes into Borsalino Hats can render such long service. Borsalino Hats truly never wear out—discarded for a newer style, perhaps, but never on account of wear.

HIS DIARY.

May 11th.—The house in confusion from the Spring cleaning and my wife in a great way, being that her painting did dry in spots and will have to be done another time by painters. I do the office but little there to be done. Sp. to the Common Court where I did put in some time.
The House sits for but a short time in the afternoon and adjourns until Monday, when, I think, the railway policy will be announced. Dr. Jones and Mr. Woodford make enquiries of my wife and hope she is well. I did discuss with Mr. Bennett of the Hawkes Bay project, which he thinks is good.

Bell Island Steamer

RECEIVES THOROUGH OVER-HAULING.The s.s. Mary, which met with an accident whilst on a seal-hunting expedition some two weeks ago, is now on dock receiving a thorough overhauling. A new propeller and tail shaft have been placed in position.
The ship has also undergone boiler inspection and when she comes off dock the Mary will be in first class condition to resume the service between here and Bell Island.

C. L. B. Notes.

PING PONG TOURNAMENT.
There was a very large attendance of all ranks at last night's parade of the C.L.B. Cadets. The Companies did counter marching under their C.S.
M's, and are progressing wonderfu-ly in this difficult exercise.The Athletic Association held a meeting in connection with the Annual Indoor Sports which take place on Thursday next. The necessary committees were appointed and several other matters were dealt with.The Officers' Mess again met today in a ping pong tournament, this time at the hands of the Dunfield Boys' Club. The margin of points was 32. The Mess has not been getting much practice lately, and have been unsuccessful in all their recent tournaments. The scores last night

A robin underneath the eaves A nest of wondrous pattern weaves.
The cat who watches from below, Exclaims: "That's much too high to go.""I'll show you Mistress Robin now, A most unusual apple bough.""A little nook where you may be The leading couple of the tree.""There you may learn your babes to fly
And keep on them a watchful eye.""Better up here," the robin said, "Than have to fear your stealthy tread.""Better the high long flight each day Than have you steal my babes away."So high beneath the sheltering eaves Her nest the careful robin weaves.But men and women, not so wise, Still rear their young where danger lies.They heed the blandishment of cheats And chance the hazard of the streets.For pleasure's whim they build their homes
Where the sly cat forever roams.ALLURIA
