Mr. Holton said before the adjournment was moved be thought an enquiry should be made as to the intention of the Government respecting the vacancies in the Government.

Sir John Macdonald said they intended to fill the vacancies. They did not intend to diminish the number of the Administrative Officers, and he thought they were not too many for the requirements of this extended country. It was the intention of the responsible Advisors of the Crown to recommend the filling up of these vacancies before the House met again.

chiling up of these vacancies before the Hone met again.

Mr. Mackenzie asked the intention of the Government as to filling of the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Burnham.

Sir John Macdonald said he had rigidly carried out the arrangement made previous to Confederation, every vacancy that had occurred having been filled by Legislative Councillors. With regard to the consideration of locality, he protested againt the principle, as being opposed to the system established at the time of the Lucin. By arrangement it was understood that as vacancies took place in the Senate they should be filled by members of the Legislative Council who had not gollaces in the original organization of the Senate, and there were only three of these gentlemen who were yet unprovided for, and he might say at once that it was the intention of the Government to appoint Hon. Geo. Alexander, the oldest of the three referred to, and the one who held his seat the longest as a representive of the people.

The Government had advised, and would act in this sense in the future, that whatever Bills roceived that were within the competence of the Local Legislature would not be disallowed, but would be sent back.

The Governor-General came down to the House about three o'clock, and gave his assent to Bills passed during the session. The following are amongst the most important:

To amend the Civil Service Superannuation Act.

To amend the Patent Act of 1872.

To restend the powers of the Montreal Telegraph Company.
