Angel's Food.

How nicely Hood's Sarsaparilla hits the needs of the people who feel all tired out or run down from any cause. It seems to oil up the whole mechanism of the body so that all moves smoothly and work becomes delight. Somewhat risky would be the undertaking to tell just what was the manna that fell to the Israelites in the wilderness; of what it was made, how it was made and who made it. The manna was called angels' food, but why so called? Was it because it came from Go to W. J. STRONG for house and the place where angels live, or because sign painting. 393 Simcoe street, Lonangels compounded it; or because angels did eat it; or because it was good enough for angels? It must have been verware and jewelry at J. E. ADKINS', East London. Special attention to nutritious, for a nation lived on it for 40 years. It must have been healthful, for it is so inspiringly applauded. It must have been abundant, because it dismissed the necessity of a sutler for a great army. Each person had a ration of three quarts a day allowed to him, and so fifteen million pounds were _ecessary every week. Those were the TENNENT-VETERINARY SURtimes of which my text speaks, when H. sociations; divine companionship; celebrative jubilance. There is one subject that excites the curiosity and inquisitiveness of all those angels. St. Peter says: "Which thing the angels desire to look into." That is, why did Shrist exchange a palace for a barn? Why did he drop a scepter from his right hand to take a spear into his left side? Why quit the anthem of the worshiping heavens to hear the crooning of a weary mother's voice? Was a straw better than a garland? "Could it not have been done in some other way?" says angel the first. "Was the human race worth such a sacrifice?" asks angel the sec-ond. "How could heaven get along without him for 33 years?" says angel the third. "Through that assassination may sinful man rise into eternal companionship?" says angel the fourth. And then they all bend toward each other and talk about it and guess about it, and try to fathom it, and prophesy concerning it. But the subject is too big, and they only nibble at it. They only break off a piece of it. They only taste it. They just dip into it. And then one angel cries: "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain!" And another says: "Unsearchable!" And another says: "Past finding out!" And another says: "Alleluia!" And they all fill their cups of gold with the "new wine of the kingdom." Oh, that rapturous, inspiring, transporting theme of the world's ransom! That makes angels' food. Some of the crumbs of that angels' food fall around our wilderness camp today, and we feel like crying like Paul. "Oh, the depth of the riches, God!" or with expiring Stephen, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit!" or with many Physicians wishing to serve on the active staff of the City an enraptured soul, "None but Christ! None but Christ!" Pass around this Hospital for the coming sumangels' food. Carry it through all these mer will please send in their aisles. And now bring on another course of angels' food, which is celestialized music. You and I have seen at some concert or oratorio a whole assemblage to whom the music was a feast. Never anything that they took in at the lips of the mouth was so delightful to their taste as that which they took in at the lips of the ear. From what I read in my Bible, I think celestialized music will make up a large part of angels' food. Why do I say "celestialized music?" Because though music may have been born in heaven, it had not all its charms until it came to earth and took a baptism of tears. Since then it has had a pathos and a tenderness that it could not otherwise have possessed. It had to pass under the shadows, and over the stormy seas, and weep at sep-ulchres, and to be hummed as lullaby over the cradle of sick children before it could mount to its present altitudes of heavenly powers. No organ on earth would be complete without the stop, "Tremolo," and the stop, "Vox Humana." And no music of heaven would be complete without the "Tremolo" of NOTICE TO CREDITORS—IN THE MATTER of Archie R. Rowat, of the township of North Dorchester, in county of Middlesex, farmer—Notice is hereby given that the above named Archie R. Masonic Temple London, Ont., on Friday, the 15th day of March next, at the hour of 2:30 p.m., for the appointment of inspectors and giving directions as to the disposal of the estate. After May 1 next, I will proceed to distribute earthly sorrow comforted, and the "Vox Humana" of earthly sympathies glorified. Just take up the New Testament and find it a note book of celestialized music. It says Jesus sang a hymn before he went to the Mount of Olives, and if he could sing on earth with Bethlehem humiliation close behind him, and sworn enemies close on both sides of him, and the torments of Golgtha just before him, do you not suppose that he sings in heaven? No. They have all the galaxies under their observation; mighty schemes of helpfulness to be laid out and executed; shipwrecked worlds to be towed in; planetary fires to be put out; demoniac hosts riding up to be hurled back and down. the culmination of the feast, which is, Celebrative Jubilance. You and I have known people who prided themselves on never getting excited. They have cultivated the phlegmatic. You never caw them cry; you never heard them in a burst of laughter. I am afraid of a man or a woman who cannot cry; I am afraid of a man or a woman who cannot laugh. Christ says in the book of Revelation that such people are to Him nauseating, and cause regurgitation. (Revelation, iii., 16.) "Because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot. I will spue thee out of my mouth." the angels in heaven have no stolidity or unresponsiveness. There is one thing that agitates them into holy mirth, and they run into their neighbors' on the same golden street and tell the good news. When is it? It is when a man or woman down in the world who was all wrong, by the grace of God is made all right (Luke, xv., 10.) "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Why are they so happily agitated? Because they know what a tremendous thing it is to turn clear around from the wrong road and take the right road. It is because they know the difference between swine's trough, with nothing but husks, and a king's banquet with angel's food. The fact is, my hearers, there are people in heaven who would like to hear from you. Your children there are wondering when father and mother will come into the kingdom, and with more glee than they ever danced in the hall-way at your coming home at eventide they will dance on the floor of the heavenly mansion at the tidings of father and mother saved. Why can not they see that Christ is the only one who can help, and comfort and save?" That is what they are saying about you. And if you will this hour in one prayer of surrender that will not take more than a second to make decide this. then, swifter than telegraphic dispatch the news would reach them, and angels of God who never fell would join your glorified kindred in celebration, and the caterers of heaven would do their best, and saints and seraphs side by side would take angel's food.
