Here is a problem for your grave logician. The child couldn't solve it. Who can? Mary, the dear little pet, put on her best fandango shoes, but they pinched her foot, and she limped. Now shoes, by-the-way, are one of the greatest trials of life. They have caused many a man to temporarily fall from grace. Saints always wear old and easy-fitting shoes, because, perhaps, it is dangerous to have too great pressure on the weak spot of one's understanding. Her mother saw Mary's predicament at once, and said, "Child, you've got them shoes on the wrong foot, that's the trouble." Tears came into the thoughtful cherub's eyes as she turned to her maternal ancestor and said, "On the wrong foot, mamma? What shall I do? They's all the foot I have." GOAD'S CIRCUS.—W. W. Cole's big show was the large attraction in this city on Friday, the 16th inst. It is advertised as being the "best show in the universe," and the large audience present expressed their pleasure by applauding to the echo. The entire exhibition has been remodelled since it was here last, as many additions have been made to its attractions. Among the principal of these are the giants—the largest man and lady in the world, which can be seen without extra charge. Cole's show has always had a good reputation, and it is safe to say that the present exhibition is the best he every had on the road. The Detroit Free Press says:—"The programme embraced many novelties; innumerable new feats of acrobatic and gymnastic skill; marvelous exhibitions of horsemanship, groups of trained horses, monkeys, elephants, and other animals and exhibitions of wonders almost incomprehensible. Everything is fresh, and with the well-selected music of an excellent orchestra, and prompt handling of every act, the audience constantly feasted their eyes and ears, and were not tired. The leading riders were Rosalie Stickney, Romeo Sebastian and Wm. O'Dale; the Ronos appeared in double horizontal bar exercises, and were good, while the Herbert Brothers introduced many new and startling feats in their tumbling act. Wm. H. Batchelder, the man who has had a standing challenge to any man in the world since the opening of the season, made his terrific leap and double somersault over seventeen horses; the Claire sisters, residents of this city, and great local favorites, won much applause in their graceful trapeze and flying rings performances. With refreshing variety they were sandwiched between the above named acts, the introduction of Captain Bates and wife, the gigantic couple, the performances of Henry Cook's trained ponies; the antics and comicalities of Pico, the clown; the enjoyable achievements of Wm. GALA DAY AT WOODSTOCK.

Grand Festa! Assemblage of Firemen.

A MAGNIFICENT PROCESSION.

Visitors Pleasantly Entertained by Their Local Brethren.

Special from Our Own Reporter.

The Firemen's Demonstration, held in Woodstock yesterday, under the auspices of the Fire Department of that town, was a grand success, and, despite the fitful weather, was highly enjoyed by the thousands present, many of whom came long distances to witness the parade. The arrangements for the demonstration were in the hands of gentlemen who had the welfare of the town at heart, and the consequently nothing had been left undone on their part to make their guests comfortable and good-natured. The citizens also ably seconded the efforts of the Committee, and decorated each one of their premises to that end. From the profuseness of the decorations, both public and private, a stranger would have been inclined to doubt the statement that the town had been scourged within the past day or two. But we are assured that such is the fact. No fewer than six fastly conflagrations were spanned Dur-ham street, whilst two others, equally neat and unique, were observable on Dundas street and Vansittart Avenue, near the Gore. These arches were covered with evergreens, the sentiment of each being appropriate to the occasion for which they did duty. A few will suffice.—"Welcome to the Boys in Red." "When the Righteous are in Power, the People Rejoice." "We welcome our firemen." "Confederation is Strength." "The Fame Fighters of Ontario." "All Work and No Play makes a Jack a Dull Boy." "Cenal Mills Faithful," and many others. The public offices and buildings were also liberally decorated, and the merchants had evidently incurred considerable expense in beautifying their places of business, and, with few exceptions, they presented an inviting appearance. Messrs. John Wilkie & Co., Mackay & Mackay, Karns' organ establishment, Jones' establishment, Wright Gordon and many others, whose names have escaped our memory, were especially attractive, many of the features in the decorative art being decidedly new and pleasing to the eye. In this condition did the day of march-arrival found the town. From ten o'clock until half-past eleven the members of the Fire Department were kept busy receiving their brethren from various points, delegations after delegations arriving on the 9:30 train, and at the different railway stations. By the last-mentioned hour the town was not only well filled with firemen, but large numbers of visitors also took advantage of the cheap fares to spend the day in Oxford. About noon the Marshals of the day—Messrs. Warren Hall, of Tilsonburg, and J. J. Millman, Fred. C. Martin, Fred. McQueen, and John M. Whittaker—formed the line of procession on the open space in front of the Town Hall, and the line of march having been formed, the procession moved in the following order a few minutes after twelve o'clock:—

THE BOUNDARY ARBITRATION.

Brief Statement of the Points at Issue, &c.

OTTAWA, July 31.—The arbitration appointed to settle the boundary question between the Dominion and the Province of Ontario is assembled here to-day. The arbitrators are Sir Edward Thornton, Sir Francis Hincks and Chief Justice Harrison. The Hon. O. Mowat, Q. C., and Mr. Hodgins, Q. C., are the counsel for the Province; Mr. Hugh Macmahon, Q. C., and E. Monk, Q. C., for the Dominion. The claim of the Dominion is that the meridional line drawn due north from the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers forms the western boundary of Ontario, and that the land's height of the northern watershed of the St. Lawrence is the northern boundary. The Government of Ontario contend that the western limit of that Province is the Rocky Mountains; that the north-westerly limit line lies north of the Saskatchewan and the Northwest line lies in the vicinity of Hudson's Bay. The claim of Ontario rests upon the supposed title of France to that country as the first discoverers thereof. The case put forth by Mr. McMahon retraces the history of the discovery of Hudson's Bay and the adjacent country, as well as the various protections, commissions, laws and regulations relating to the northwest issued by both French and British authorities. The question is one of vast extent, and Mr. Macmahon has shown greatest research and labor in the clear and explicit care which he has prepared.

IN 1843 France had eleven million land owners, of whom half did not pay more than five francs a year in taxes.

How Many Flies Are There.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal of Friday says:—We all know what flies are, and we all know that they are a nuisance, But just how great nuisance, a little painstaking will serve to show. At the house of Rev. Mr. Haskell, on Bartlett street, a patient fly-trap has been in use a few weeks, and something like 10 days ago the owner of the trap began to make an actual count of the prisoners, the count being made at about 7 o'clock each morning. It is proper to say that there are screens in every window and a screen door to the kitchen. The trap was placed in the dining-room, with the result as follows:—Morning of July 15, 159 flies; 16th, 267; 17th, 95; 18th, 197; 19th, 512; 20th, 402; 21st, 673; 22nd, 866; 23rd, 689. The larger proportionate number from the 19th onward, is attributed to greater care in keeping the bait well supplied. On the morning of the 23rd the trap was removed from the dining-room to a shed having two doors, to which flies were not known. On the morning of the 24th, that is within 24 hours, there were found in the trap 3,231 flies. Total—10 days, 7,001 flies.

How Flies Are There.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal of Friday says:—We all know what flies are, and we all know that they are a nuisance, But just how great nuisance, a little painstaking will serve to show. At the house of Rev. Mr. Haskell, on Bartlett street, a patient fly-trap has been in use a few weeks, and something like 10 days ago the owner of the tray began to make an actual count of the prisoners, the count being made at about 7 o'clock each morning. It is proper to say that there are screens in every window and a screen door to the kitchen. The trap was placed in the dining-room, with the result as follows:—Morning of July 15, 159 flies; 16th, 267; 17th, 95; 18th, 197; 19th, 512; 20th, 402; 21st, 673; 22nd, 866; 23rd, 689. The larger proportionate number from the 19th onward, is attributed to greater care in keeping the bait well supplied. On the morning of the 23rd the trap was removed from the dining-room to a shed having two doors, to which flies were not known. On the morning of the 24th, that is within 24 hours, there were found in the trap 3,231 flies. Total—10 days, 7,001 flies.
