Table Italian Bonapartes are equally popular with the adherents of the Pontiff and the King. The Ruspolis were there in numbers, wearing badges of a nobility that dates back over 700 years. Then there was Duke Ugo of Boncompagnis, and Prince Paolo Borghez, and Princess Brancaccio, and Colonna and the representatives of other ancient houses. The presents were magnificent, and included gifts from King Humbert and Queen Marquerite. It is the purpose of the King to bestow upun Gotti a title of nobility, bringing him near in rank to his princess bride.

Valparatio, Nov. 26.—The Americans here are not satisfied with the result of the investigation by Judge Foster. The Chilian government appears willing to allow matters to take their course, just as if the killing of American seamen was an ordinary crime to be treated in the ordinary way. There is no appearance of any intention to comply with the request of the United States for satisfaction, and the indications are that this attitude will be persistently adhered to. While the Chilians have ceased to insult Americans, and are seemingly desirous of being friendly, there is an eye-
