

---

the only way to go.

The majority attitude was summed up by one focus group participant who said "alternatives should be available in a paperless society. This means one should be able to publish this more often. If the format does not change, then (one) can just update the statistics."