

Trips to be Made from Vancouver.

The following trips may be made from Vancouver :—

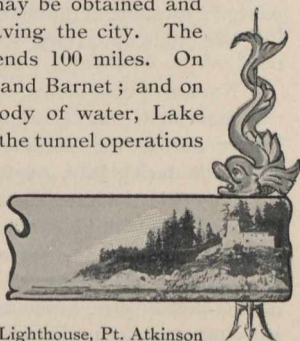

North Vancouver, where a good hotel is situated, by ferry from the city every hour. From there is reached the quaint old Indian Mission, immediately to the west ; Capilano river canyon, the city waterworks construction,

Source of Vancouver's
Water
Supply.

Lynn creek, Seymour river canyon. These are all pleasant trips of two, six, eight or ten hours, as one may wish—wooded mountains, dashing waterfalls, primeval forest.

Through North Vancouver is the route taken by parties who climb the mountains across the inlet, delightful excursions of a day. Guides may be obtained and all arrangements made ere leaving the city. The view from Mount Crown extends 100 miles. On Burrard inlet are Port Moody and Barnet ; and on the north arm of the same body of water, Lake Beautiful landing, the scene of the tunnel operations of the Vancouver Power Company ; Granite Falls, and logging camps. Steamers call at these points every day. Fare, 50c. round trip. All easily reached by launch. A day's pleasant trip. Mountains rise abruptly all round.

Lighthouse, Pt. Atkinson