

GOLD HAIR

I HAVE seen swallows drifting o'er the seas,
And moonlight silvering a cloister wall,
Wide orchards blossomed white with happy trees,
And forests where the leaves bright crimson fall,
But never seen such beauty anywhere
As the warm flaming wonder of thy hair.