Richeson, who is awaiting trial charged with the poisoning of his former sweetheart, Avis Linnel, somewhat recovered from the effects of his self-inflicted wound and the subsequent surgical operation last Wednesday. His physicians said, following their daily call, that the prisoner is now out of all danger, that he is still confined to the cot in his cell. Several bouquets of flowers, one of them the holiday gift of his fiancée, Miss Violet Edmands, were placed beside the minister's cot as reminders of the Christmas season.

FATHER VAUGHAN ASKS AID FOR MISSION OF REV. ELMORE HARRIS

Appeal Given Generous Response—Toronto at Christmas Good Enough For Him.

All the legal standing room was occupied, in addition to many camp stools at Father Vaughan's sermon last night at Our Lady of Lourdes. The famous Jesuit Father made a notable address in behalf of the Roman Catholic Mission in Rhodesia. When the time for taking up the collection was reached the outpouring of free-will Christmas offerings, largely of bills, was in full accord with the outpourings of eloquent appeal by the reverend pulpiteer.

Attired in plain black priestly gown and wearing the black hat of his order, Father Vaughan made a heart to heart plea, while standing on the steps of the chancel. After a magnetic exhortation he accentuated the thrill of the address by passing down the aisles with the ushers and passed the plates as frequently as he possibly could himself, bowing and thanking the donors for their response. The contributions were so spontaneous that the plates had to be reached Father Vaughan, the bills forming a pyramid of money each day.

Father Vaughan said that he desired to make a statement. It was to express his thanks to the people of all creeds and every shade of politics for making him feel he was in his own country. He did not want to be in England this Christmas, Toronto was good enough for him. He was trying to do some good service while a visitor here, so that some would be glad that he had passed this way. He wished to express his indebtedness for the many acts of kindness and goodness which he had received in this city.

In making an appeal for the Catholic mission in Rhodesia he said the value of the work for humanity it was performing. The missionaries instilled the truths of religion, and the industrial arts, and sought to humanize, civilize and Christianize. Four of the missionaries had given their lives to this great work. It was the cause of the people, and he was concentrating his efforts in England, and a generous contribution now from Toronto would in a measure make up for his temporary absence of that effort while visiting Canada.

WHERE CANADA HEADS THE LIST

Some Canadians are unfortunately inclined to favor imported articles, fancying that such may be of better quality than Canadian production, but while this may apply to the foreign wines, it certainly does not apply to foreign mineral waters, and Radnor is unquestionably a far better mixer than any other mineral water known.

MUST BE REMARRIED BY ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST

Father Coméau Explains Rigid Attitude of Church Towards Divorced Persons.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 24.—(Can. Press.)—Gov. Father Coméau, resident priest of St. Mary's Church here, has made the following statement to an evening paper in regard to the recent temerarious case of St. Boniface, when he refused to marry a Catholic woman to her Protestant husband unless they were remarried by the church.

"Suppose a Roman Catholic and a Protestant wish to get married—we will imagine the husband to be a Catholic. The parties are married by a Protestant minister. The moment the marriage is contracted, the husband forsaken the Catholic doctrine and can be no longer recognized as a true Catholic. The only way he can come back into the church is by being remarried by a Catholic priest, according to the conditions of the Catholic church, that is that she will not interfere with the practice of his doctrine and the children be brought up in the Catholic faith.

If the wife refuses and he insists on going back to the church, the husband must take a vow never to live with her again."

"If, when reinstated as a Catholic, the man wishes to marry another woman, the ceremony to be performed by a Catholic priest, may he do so?" he was asked.

"Secret Marriage Way Out. "Well," was the reply, "we try and get the man to see a divorce from the state officers, because in the eye of the law he is still married, and while the church does not recognize it, we do not want to lay ourselves open to persecution. There is a way out and that is by having a secret marriage."

"Take this as an instance. I am sent away to the country on a long way up in the country. When I arrive, a man comes to me and says: 'Father, I have committed a sin for which I am truly repentant. Three years ago I was married to a Protestant woman by a Protestant minister. Later we separated. We did not get a divorce, and now I am living with another woman. Will you marry me?' I might say I will run the risk and marry you in the eyes of God. I then get two witnesses whom I can trust never to reveal what has taken place, and I marry the parties in secret. After this they can never part, as there is no such thing as divorce in the Roman Catholic Church. Then they are married in the eyes of God and the church, the perhaps not according to the law of the state. If the former wife should desire to know of the second marriage, I might be prosecuted. One never knows."

Girl Suffers Fate Meant for "Double"

Hyde Park, Mass., Dec. 22.—After working diligently since 7:20 o'clock last night in an effort to solve the mystery of the murder of Bridget Fritchard, a pretty eighteen year old Irish girl, Police Captain Franklin Grant has decided that the girl suffered the fate intended for another.

Miss Fritchard had no enemy so far as is known and at no time has she been in the company of a man or boy since she arrived in this country from her father's home in Ballypau, County Monaghan, Ireland, on June 1, except when she was accompanied by one of her relatives.

Her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Pritchard upon whom rests the case, has declared that she had a double in an Italian girl, who resides in the neighborhood. The police suspect that the young woman was selected as the victim for they were informed that a short time ago this young woman had quarrel with her sweetheart and cast him off. Both girls resemble each other. The murderer is still at large.
