IT'S FLATTERING TO BE IMITATED

WEDNESDAY MORNING

INEEN'S Annual January Reduction Sale of Furs has been a fixed feature of the company's enterprise for the past forty years. The sale now in progress was begun on January second. It has not been SUCCESSFULLY IMITATED for a variety of good and sufficient reasons.

The advantage of price attractiveness, coupled with assured quality in furs, is NOT TO BE HAD OUTSIDE DINEEN'S.

Any customer who is dissatisfied with a Dineen fur may return the article in good order and condition and make an exchange, or accept a return of the purchase price in full. THAT IS DINEEN'S GUARANTEE FOR QUALITY.

Scan the advertisements in to-day's papers-look through the fur stores—and see whether these fur bargains can be duplicated:

David Purdle, who for the past ten years has conducted a first-class and up-to-date general store in this village, has sold his business and property to Mr. Gray of Don Mills. By honest dealing and thoro integerity Mr. Purdle has increased his trade and secured a reputation for honor thruout this county. His numerous patrons and friends (and they are legion) in this hamlet are reluctant to part with so gental a megation. The best wishes of this community go with him to his new sphere of life, and may he long be spared to occupy a warm place in the hearts of the people of good old Scarboro.
